McAuliffe: Capital Bill Provides for Local Road Repair

In an effort to jump-start the state's economy, the Illinois House and Senate passed a mini-capital program Thursday evening, which includes money for local road projects, said State Representative Michael McAuliffe (R-Chicago).

"I am optimistic we will see potholes filled and roads resurfaced in our district and in neighboring communities. Unfortunately I know the kind of political games that are played, so none of the projects are set in stone. However, I will work directly with the Illinois Department of Transportation to ensure our projects are completed," said McAuliffe.

The $9 billion public works program will tackle projects already planned by the Illinois Department of Transportation. The money would also go to mass transit, repair potholes, open shuttered historic sites and speed up the payment for state services.

For the last two years, House Republicans have worked to pass an expanded capital program to take care of roads, bridges, schools and other infrastructure needs, while putting thousands of people back to work.

"This mini-capital bill does not include everything on our wish-list, but it is a good start. More importantly, it will create jobs and put people back to work," said McAuliffe.

McAuliffe will meet with Illinois Department of Transportation officials to get specific details of road work set for the 20th District.

For more information, please call Rep. McAuliffe's office at (773) 792-0749.

Wright College Celebrates Earth Day

Wilbur Wright College will be abuzz on Earth Day with the planting of a tree in honor of Abe Lincoln's 200th birthday and the chance to sit behind the wheel of a hybrid car.

When Wright College, 4300 N. Narragansett Ave., celebrates Earth Day on April 22, Wright President Charles Guengerich will dedicate the planting of a black walnut tree, which is the same tree that President Lincoln used to split. This year marks the 200th anniversary of Lincoln's birth. Planting an Earth Day tree at Wright has become a tradition of the annual ceremony.

The tree planting will take place at 10 a.m. on the east side of campus. Toyota hybrid cars will be part of the green celebration as well. Parked on campus for the day, the cars will be open for viewing.

Following the tree-planting ceremony, information tables organized by the Wright Environmental Club will educate students and the community on such topics as recycling, bird feeders and organic gardening. A reusable shopping bag provided by the Environmental Club, pizza and samples of fair trade coffee will be available for those who explore the information tables. There will also be a solar oven demonstration.

For more information, call Ed Bannon at (773) 481-8535.

Registration at Wright Starts April 15

Wright College's registration opens April 15 for the summer semester, which allows students to fill in the gaps on course requirements in just six weeks.

"The summer semester is a good opportunity for our regular students as well as university students home for the summer to fill in the gaps on some required courses," said Wright President Charles Guengerich.

The summer courses, which begin June 2, run six weeks or eight weeks long. More than 90 courses are available over the summer in 39 departments including biology, English and mathematics. Other departments offering courses over the summer are business, radiography, computer information systems and many others. Go to wright.ccc.edu for a complete listing.

For university students, many summer courses at Wright can transfer to their university and cost less than their university tuition. Wright courses are generally accepted at such schools as Northwestern University, University of Illinois at Urbana, University of Illinois at Chicago, University of Chicago and a host of other colleges.

Wright tuition is only $79 per credit hour for Chicago residents and $259 per hour for suburban residents. Financial aid is available.

New students interested in starting during the summer semester are encouraged to register early because they must complete one of the free placement tests offered on April 14 and 15, and on May 19, 20, 26 and 27. No student is ever turned away. The test merely determines placement in classes for new students.

Returning students can register anytime online at my.ccc.edu or by phone at (312) 553-3450. A full summer course schedule is available online at wright.ccc.edu.

For more information, call the admissions office at (773) 481-8200.

THEATER ON THE LAKE ANNOUNCES 2009 SEASON OF REVIVED PRODUCTIONS FROM LOCAL COMPANIES

The Chicago Park District's 57th annual Theater on the Lake season features reprisals of eight artistically diverse Chicago theater companies June 17 – Aug. 9, 2009. The season opens with Collaboraction Theater Company's production of Jon (June 17-21) and continues with popular productions by Redmoon Theater (June 24-28), Blindfaith Theatre Company (July 1-5), Theo Ubique Theater Company (July 8-12), Rivendell Theatre Ensemble (July 15-19), Barrel of Monkeys (July 22-26), The Artistic Home (July 29 – Aug. 2), and Eclipse Theatre Company (Aug. 5-9). Each production will be performed for five evenings only at the theater at Fullerton Avenue and Lake Michigan.

One of this year's new features includes three family friendly productions recommended for ages six and up: Once Upon a Time (or the Secret Language of Birds), Woody Guthrie's American Song and Fun O'Clock: A Very Special That's Weird Grandma.

Hallie Gordon, Artistic Director of Theater on the Lake, comments, "Theater on the Lake is a long-standing Chicago tradition, and we invite theater lovers to enjoy the best of the city's off-Loop theater ensembles along beautiful Lake Michigan."

The 2009 Theater on the Lake season is as follows:

Collaboraction Theater Company Jon by George Saunders, Directed by Seth Bockley, June 17 – 21

Jon is a futuristic allegory about teenage love and self-discovery in a corporate universe where television commercials replace life experiences. Collaboraction's Associate Artistic Director Seth Bockley adapts the story by MacArthur "Genius" Fellowship recipient George Saunders. The production explores the boundaries of video and theater in a surreal and strangely moving coming-of-age story. The Chicago Tribune highly recommended the world premiere production calling it "a sensorial spectacle."

Performance schedule and pricing

The Chicago Park District's Theater on the Lake is located at Fullerton Avenue and Lake Shore Drive in a historic building that offers breathtaking views of Lake Michigan.

The schedule for all performances June 17 – Aug. 9 is Wednesdays through Saturdays at 7:30 p.m. and Sundays at 6:30 p.m.

This sweeping legislation includes more than 160 separate public lands proposals that would secure wilderness designation for more than two million acres in nine states, protect over a thousand miles of rushing rivers and permanently establish a 26-million acre National Landscape Conservation System.

Urban Wildlife Coalition

Landscaping to Deter Wildlife

The rabbits are in the lettuce again! It's hard not to be bothered when wildlife comes nibbling in our backyards. But, it is important to remember that rabbits, deer, squirrels, and others truly are not trying to annoy us. As we humans destroy more and more of their natural habitats, they are simply doing their best to adapt, to feed themselves and their families. A bit of patience and good humor, along with some humane and natural deterrents, can go a long way toward a peaceful coexistence with our wildlife neighbors.

Incorporate undesirable plants around the perimeter or woven in between plants they want to eat. Rabbits are not fond of the smell or taste of pepper plants; most animals do not like strongly aromatic plants like peppermint or sage; many animals are deterred by fuzzy (lamb's ear) or thorny (rosebush) plants.

Install fences or barriers. For rabbits, chicken wire fencing, two feet high – be sure to sink posts half-foot or so into the ground.

Save a little something for them. Lure them away from your vegetables with a small garden all their own.

Remove cover. Most animals like to dine near an exit. They seek bushes and other hiding spots near their food source.

Some say soap (Dial seems to work especially well), hung around plants and moved periodically, will deter deer and other animals.

Consider motion-activated lights (for nocturnal animals) and sprinklers.

A word about capsaicin (a hot-pepper compound). Because we believe in finding humane deterrents, and since it is impossible to determine the level of discomfort caused to animals, we do not recommend capsaicin-based products. Same is true coyote (or other animals') urine as a deterrent. Any conscientious person must wonder under what circumstances the urine is collected from these animals.

We're happy to answer specific questions about attracting or deterring wildlife in your garden and we encourage you to share your tried-and-true suggestions with us! Please contact urbanwildlifecoalition@gmail.com or 773-545-8136. Urban Wildlife Coalition is a community-based organization founded to help preserve our treasured urban wildlife. Special thanks to Michael Repkin, co-founder of Urban Habitat Chicago for sharing his expertise on landscaping to attract or deter animals. # Caring for Your Spouse... Even After You're Gone

Chester M. Przybylo

Your spouse has been there with you through thick and thin. They have been your rock, the foundation upon which you've built your life. Your spouse has probably been your friend, confidant, and true partner.

If your spouse is ailing now, there are ways that you can protect them, even after you are gone. Let's say your spouse has a slowly degenerative disease, like Alzheimer's disease. Hopefully, their illness may be kept at bay. As long as you are there, you may intend to care for your spouse at home.

But, what if you die first? At least one study has shown that caregivers themselves often get sick or die early because of the stresses on them.

If you die first, your assets would pass to your spouse. Then, without your support, your spouse may need nursing care and would need to spend the resources you've built over a lifetime together to pay for that care. Eventually, they would have "spent down" those resources and would qualify for financial assistance. But, then they would have little money left for incidentals and luxuries, like birthday gifts for the grandchildren.

There is a better way. You could leave your assets to your spouse in a "Testamentary Special Needs Trust," which is a unique kind of Special Needs Trust. The assets in the Special Needs Trust may not be used for items covered by government assistance, such as medical care. However, the assets may be used for whatever costs government assistance does not cover, such as a special medical procedure, extra therapy, a private room in the hospital or nursing home, travel, an art class, birthday gifts for the grandchildren, and in some cases, even everyday living expenses.

A Special Needs Trust is a good strategy for any loved one needing substantial care. However, a Special Needs Trust for your spouse can only take effect upon your death. Further, it must be set up in a precise manner to qualify, so that the assets you leave to your spouse will not be deemed "available resources" when seeking government assistance and have to be "spent down" before the government will help with the bills.

You would do anything for your spouse. But, statistics show that you may go before your spouse. Plan now to protect and provide for your spouse, even after you are gone. A qualified estate planning and elder law attorney, one who focuses his or her practice in that area, can help you set up a plan that meets your concerns and your spouse's needs.

Chester M. Przybylo has been elected to the Board of Governors of the prestigious American Academy of Estate Planning Attorneys and has been engaged in the practice of law for the last 40 years.

DON'T BE AN APRIL FOOL WHEN IT COMES TO YOUR ECONOMIC RECOVERY PAYMENT

By Andrew Salata, Social Security Public Affairs Specialist in Chicago, IL

No one likes being the target of an April fool's prank. If you're receiving Social Security or Supplemental Security Income (SSI) benefits, don't let anyone fool you regarding your special one-time recovery payment of $250 from the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009.

To make sure no one does, we'll state this as clearly as possible:

- All Social Security and SSI beneficiaries who are eligible for the special one-time recovery payment will have their payment issued in May;
- The payment is automatic; no action is required on your part; and
- There are no requests to make, no applications and no fees to pay.

If you receive a visit, call or email from anyone claiming to want to help you obtain your payment, be skeptical. Do not pay anyone to help you receive your payment. And do not reveal any of your personal information to them, such as your full name, date of birth, or Social Security number. If someone requests this information for this purpose, it's more likely they're "out to get you" than out to get your payment for you.

In addition to people who receive Social Security and SSI benefits, people who receive benefits from Veterans Affairs and the Railroad Retirement Board will receive one-time payments of $250. Note, however, that only one payment of $250 will be made per person, regardless of any combination of benefits that may be received.

How will your recovery payment be made? They will be paid the same way that your regular monthly payments are made. People with direct deposit will receive their payments electronically. Those who receive paper checks will receive their payments in the mail. People who receive regular payments through the new Direct Express debit card will receive their one-time payments through the card. We will send your one-time payment separately from your Social Security or SSI benefit.

To assist in processing the payments as efficiently as possible, please do not contact Social Security — unless you have not received your payment by June 4. More information is available at www.socialsecurity.gov/payment and will be updated as needed.

Rest assured that your special one-time recovery payment will be sent to you automatically. And if it's not received by June 4, there's only one place you need to contact: Social Security, at your local office, or 1-800-772-1213.

We R What We Eat!?

By Bosley

Hello my furry friends, I hope that everyone is doing well! Any itching and scratching out there? Been licking those paws raw? How about ear infections? Raise your paw if it is happening to you right now! Unfortunately, many of you are suffering from the effects of allergies. I stress I am not a Veterinarian, but I have noticed a trend and have done some research that I think is important. So, I want to share my new knowledge with my friends.

Spending my days in my Human's Dog Spa, I see too many friends suffering from allergies. I believe allergies can be caused by 1) Genetics which we can't do much about 2) The Environment, well not much we can do there either unless we move to another state, which actually not a bad idea because I am sick of this cold. Opps got on the wrong subject, anyway 3) you're Dog Food, which we CAN do something about. Yes, your hearing is correct I said the Dog Food. We are what we eat, and when we don't eat healthy things in our body go weird, i.e. allergies or irritations on our skin, ears, and eyes occur.

Did you know that we dogs have wolves as ancestors? Our wolf cousins hunt and kill their food making them carnivorous. Therefore, we are too! Thankfully we don't have to kill our food because this Poodle thinks that is gross! The majority of our diet needs to be a meat protein. Many of the new dog food commercials are showing all the vegetables that are great for us, well really are they? If we our carnivores then we really don't need the veggies in large quantities. I know that I am just a Poodle, but that makes sense to me!

Here is the hard part; you have to educate your Human on dog food. Not all dog foods are created equally, and just because they advertise that it is great for us, doesn't mean that it is. I will help you in my next few articles educate ourselves. Our Humans want the best for us, but sometimes don't have the knowledge to do so. So, we are now taking matters into our own paws and educating them! Keep your ear pricked to hear what I have discovered. In the meantime, read the ingredients of your current bag of dog food, what are the first 5 ingredients? You may be surprised!

Stop licking those paws! Bosley

Submitted by Bosley's mom, Nicole Carfora, CMG, owner of Canine Corral.

Recognizing Illness in Pet Birds

Peter S. Sakas DVM, MS

Beak

The beak grows constantly and with normal activity should wear down, if this does not occur and the beak overgrows it must be trimmed. However, if the beak quality changes or if the beak suddenly grows rapidly and abnormally it could serve to indicate disease. For example, in fatty liver disease (mainly in budgies eating an all seed diet) the beak overgrows, deteriorates and black/brown spots of hemorrhage are noted on the beak and toenails. Therefore, do not be fooled into thinking that an overgrown beak is strictly due to "not using the cuttlebone". Always check for any unusual crustiness, scaling or enlargements around the beak and mouth.

Feet/Legs

Infections of the feet occur despite precautions. Pressure sores on the bottom of the feet may develop from improper perch sizes and could lead to ulcerations/bumblefoot. Keep the perches clean, vary the sizes, and provide a soft or non-rigid type perch. If you notice weight shifting, redness, swellings, sores on the feet/legs or lameness, veterinary care should be sought quickly.

The sole purpose of the leg band is for identification, it should be removed to prevent problems. We very often see irritation of the leg due to the band or injury (such as fracture or dislocation) if the band becomes caught on an object. If the leg band is necessary always check the leg for free movement of the band and any unusual irritation.

Unusual crustiness/flakiness on the legs may indicate a nutritional or parasitic condition and should be properly evaluated. One strong caution-care must be taken whenever cream or ointment are applied to a bird. Never apply it to the feathers as it will spread and destroy the insulative properties of the feathers. If it is to be used on the feet or legs, use it sparingly.

Respiratory Tract

When a bird breathes there should be very little effort. Breathing hard while at rest or heavy breathing for prolonged periods after exercise/exertion can indicate a problem. Any noises heard while breathing such as clicking, wheezing or frequent sneezing are signs of sickness; a bird should breathe with no noticeable respiratory sounds.

Upper respiratory tract infections are very frequently seen in birds. A nasal discharge may appear as fluid in the nostrils or staining of the feathers above the nostrils. Conjunctivitis (pink eye) may also be seen with swollen, reddened eyelids and discharge around the eyes. Frequent blinking or partial closing of the eyes for prolonged periods may indicate early signs of conjunctivitis. If the condition worsens into a sinusitis there can be swelling around the eyes. Early recognition of respiratory disease in birds is important because pus in birds is not liquid, rather it becomes "cheesy." Thus when the pus builds up in the sinuses and air sacs removal is very difficult.

A bird that is dyspneic (difficult breathing) with mouth open and gasping is extremely ill and must be handled with extreme caution, if at all. Not all dyspneic birds have a respiratory tract infection. One possibility is a space occupying mass in the abdomen that may prevent full expansion of the air sacs so that air flow through the lungs is greatly reduced. Tail bobbing is another sign of an impaired respiratory tract, whether it is a primary respiratory disease or abdominal enlargement. Heart disease can also cause labored breathing.

Extreme breathing difficulty can lead to the development of cyanosis, indicated by a bluish color of the skin, legs and beak. However, do not be fooled by the normal bluish color of the legs of some birds, particularly budgies.

The incessant, high-pitched squeaking sometimes heard in budgies may be due to goiter and pressure of the enlarged thyroid gland on the syrinx (voice box)/trachea (windpipe). The condition responds nicely to iodine therapy.

Digestive Tract

Food Consumption - A bird that is not eating well is at great risk due to its very rapid metabolic rate and its condition can deteriorate rapidly. It is important to check daily that your bird is eating, and if so, how much. A bird may be picking at the food cup and not actually eating. You must determine if the seeds are being hulled or if they are just being scooped out of the dish onto the floor of the cage. Sometimes a bird may hull the seed but not ingest it. Check the seed cup and bottom of the cage for seed hulls as well as making sure there is not an increased amount of hulled seed present.

If there is hulled seed on the bottom of the cage it must be determined if the bird is not ingesting the seed, regurgitating or vomiting. Regurgitation is a normal part of the courtship behavior. During courtship, regurgitated seeds may be seen on or near the mirror or toys. The bird may even begin to regurgitate to you in a courtship gesture. However, vomited seeds can be seen in sticky clusters throughout the cage - often adhering to the bars of the cage. Further evidence of vomiting is that the head feathers of a vomiting bird are pasted together with vomitus, and this can occasionally mixed with seed.

"A Theatre Review"

"Curtains"

Drury Lane Theatre
100 Drury Lane Rd.
Oakbrook Terrace, Illinois

Reviewed by Richard Allen Eisenhardt

"Curtains," the new musical murder mystery on view at the Drury Lane Theatre thanks to Kyle DeSantis, Drew De Santis and William Osetek and they have done it again as they have a new winner on their hands.

The musical played over 500 performances on Broadway and Drury Lane is the first regional theatre to get the rights before a road show tours the country.

The show has a book by Rupert Holmes with songs by Kander and Ebb based on a book and concept by Peter Stone.

William Brown is directing his first musical and is a Jeff Award winning actor who has assembled a dynamite cast of actors, singers and dancers. The show has fantastic choreography by Linda Fortunato and the show is under the musical direction of the amazing Doug Peck.

All I can say is Nancy Foigts as Carmen Bernstein the producer of the musical that is being staged when the leading lady gets murdered Jessica Cranshaw played by Paula Scrofano is a standout and Sean Fortunato as Detective Frank Cioffi all give an award winning portrayals. John Reeger as the British director Christopher Belling shows audiences why he is in demand whether it's a musical, comedy or a drama. Christine Sherill and James Rank as Georgia Hendricks and Aaron Fox as the estranged song writing partners have both beautifully trained voices and great acting skills. It's great to see Mark David Kaplan as one of the show's investors and Jim Corti as Sidney Bernstein, the husband of the producer and the second murder victim back on Chicago stages. Jessie Mueller as Niki Harris an actress in the show and is a performer audiences should watch as she is talented with a capital "T" who has a big singing voice and is a terrific actress.

Niclle hren as Bambi who is the daughter of the producer is fun to watch in her role. The ensemble of eleven others, some of whom are Matt Raftery, Joey Stone, Gary Carlson, Angie Schoofs and Cessa Lee Martinez sing and dance up a storm.

Other standouts are Michael Parker Ayers, Eric Parks and Jeff Cummings. I won't reveal who the murderer is – you have to see this entertainment to find out.

"Curtains" runs through May 17. For show dates, times and reservations call 630-530-0111. Tickets are $29 to $35.

The world famous nanny with her umbrella in hand has flown into town and it's a show one shouldn't miss. It might have its dark moments but it is an absolute delight and it brings with it two of its original stars. Chicagoans cannot only thank Disney but the London producer Cameron Mackintosh and Thomas Schumacher.

If audiences like "Wicked" and kept it here for three years, then this show should draw audiences for that long. And not just until July 12 as it is now scheduled. It's a show as much for adults as it is for the kids but then maybe I'm a kid at heart.

Ashley Brown as Mary Poppins won the Outer Critics, Drama League and Drama Desk nominations for the role. Gavin Lee as Bert the Chimney Sweep played the role in London and New York and received Tony and Oliver nominations. The show has a cast of 38 and features 16 songs. The show runs two hours and forty five minutes and I didn't want the evening to come to an end.

The musical is based on books by P.L. Travers and has been adapted by Julian Fellowes. The songs are by Richard M. and Robert B. Sherman whose songs you'll remember from the movie and there are new songs by George Stiles and Anthony Drewe.

The sets, costumes, special effects, choreography and direction are awesome and incredible.

I was very impressed with the charismatic performance of Ashley Brown as Mary Poppins as she can act, dance and sing like a Lark. As Bert her friend says when a day is gray and ordinary Mary "makes the sun shine bright" and it does just that.

The Banks family are well cast and Karl Kenzler the father George is much darker than portrayed in the movie and Megan Osterhaus is Mrs. Banks and the children are Abigail Droeger as Jane and Christopher Flaim as Michael are all a delight.

The special effects are amazing as you watch the multi-talented Gavin Lee limb the wall and ceiling of the theatre and once Poppins' job has been completed with her umbrella in hand ascends into the air and disappears into the balcony.

The supporting cast that includes Chicagoan Michael Gerhardt are all tops and also deserve a standing ovation.

It's a perfect show for our troubled times. Mary Poppins runs until July 12. For show times and reservations call 312-902-1400. Tickets are $25 to $90.

Has your bank been as honest as Abe? Liberty Bank has earned a rock-solid reputation for operating with Trust and Integrity. In fact, Bauer Financial just awarded Liberty Bank with a 5-Star Superior rating...for the 21st consecutive year! Fewer than 10% of banks are awarded this honor, which rates such factors as capital adequacy, asset quality and stability.

And since there's no point in changing a good thing, you can count on Liberty Bank to continue working with the same principles we have been—for more than 110 years.
