Celebrate Polish Heritage During The Month Of October

Columbus Day Observance, Oct. 13th

Columbus Day first became an official state holiday in Colorado in 1906, and became a federal holiday in 1937. However, people have celebrated Columbus's voyage since the colonial period. During the four hundredth anniversary, in 1892, teachers, preachers, poets and politicians used Columbus Day rituals to teach ideals of patriotism. The first official, regular Columbus Day holiday was proclaimed by Colorado governor Jesse F. McDonald in 1905 and made a statutory holiday in 1907. In April 1934, as a result of lobbying by the Knights of Columbus, Congress and President Franklin Delano Roosevelt made October 12 a federal holiday under the name Columbus Day.

"Joy Of A Healthy Mouth" Is Timely Talk On Oct. 21

Keeping your mouth and teeth healthy during the aging process requires regular attention. Learning the ways to do this will be offered in a Timely Talk on the "Joy of a Healthy Mouth." The event, sponsored by Norwood Crossing, is open to the public and will be held on Oct 21, at 2:00 p.m., at Norwood Crossing Assisted Living, 6016-20 N. Nina Ave. in Chicago.

Making the presentation will be Frances Turdot and Eileen Jasper, both registered dental hygienists, and Aldona Sparkus, DDS, all affiliated with Illumident, Inc., a not-for-profit organization specializing in health education. The focus of the program is preventive oral health, which encompasses rinses, gels and easy to use toothbrushes. They use a "show and tell" format during their presentation, making it easier for audience members to ask questions as the program moves forward.

Turdot says that the program is well received with many attendees afterward asking, "Why didn't we know this earlier?" According to the Center for Disease Control and Prevention, only 24 percent of older adults see a dentist regularly, and 65 percent of older adults have gum disease.

The event is free, and each attendee will participate in a raffle and receive a packet of dental items to take home. Refreshments will be available.

Timely Talks are part of a series of public information programs offered by Norwood Crossing to the community. For more information or to make a reservation to attend, please call (773) 577-5323 or email info@norwoodcrossing.org.

SEPTEMBER 25 WAS PEANUT DAY - MUST READ REPORT by Maria Bappert. - It was a beautiful day ... we couldn't have asked for a nicer one. I put on my apron, stuffed both pockets full of packages of peanuts, took my can and headed out about 8:45 am. As I was walking on Lawrence Avenue toward Western, I saw a young African-American man crossing Lawrence Avenue from the Ravenswood Post Office. I've seen him in the area before ... he is very thin, wears black clothes, walks slowly and looks destitute. When he was on the south side of the street, I walked toward him and showed him a bag of peanuts and asked, "Do you want some peanuts?" He looked me in the eyes and made a motion like he was taking out his wallet. I said, "no, no! I want to give them to you." He took the package and slowly walked away toward Western Avenue. Later on I observed him picking up cigarette butts from the sidewalk ... Oh my God!

*I had done really well at this location last year, so I walked back to the SW corner of Lawrence & Western. When the eastbound traffic stopped, I went inbetween the two rows of cars and raised my hands with the peanuts and my can. Had quite a number of donations where people did not want the peanuts.

Some drivers rolled down their windows and waved me to come over. When all my peanuts were gone, I went home, turned my money over to my husband Frank for sorting out and counting. I loaded up with peanuts again and went back and repeated my act until the peanuts were gone. Went back home, had lunch with my husband and our visiting son, then went back for the third time. After that, I called it quits, as I was all tuckered out and my hips were starting to bother me from stepping up and down the curb. Saw many drivers as well as pedestrians who were texting .. Frank and I counted the paper money, and on Saturday I took the coins to the bank and ran them through the coin counting machine. It only spat out one Canadian nickel, and my total was $171.72! Dr. Heiderman was also out just north of McDonald's, and I'm waiting to hear how much he collected. In the meantime, he and wife Barbara are off to a well-deserved vacation.

OCTOBER, 2015 DATES - PLEASE MARK YOUR CALENDAR!

October 8 - Due to our Treasurer Dr. Heiderman being on vacation, the meeting was CANCELLED. The Board Meeting will instead take place on October 22.

The Midwest Premiere Of The Whole Megillah: The History Of Yiddish Theatre

By Wayne Mell, Artistic Director

People have grown very fond of theatre historian Charles Troy and his monthly presentations at the Skokie Theatre. The retired graphic designer found a new use for his skills when he merged them with his love of musical theatre. He has created over fifty multimedia presentations that peek behind the velvet curtain and reveal the backstage stories of how our favorite Broadway one in Palm Harbor, Florida. In Palm Harbor, 500 people attended and the show got a unanimous standing ovation. Rabbi Gary Klein called it, "One of the best things that ever took place in our Temple."

The Midwest premiere of The Whole Megillah: The History of Yiddish Theatre will take place at Skokie Theatre on Saturday, October 24, at 8 pm. Tickets are $32 and can be purchased online at SkokieTheatre.org,

Time: A Rockin and Rocky Halloween. Music from everyone's favorite Halloween "camp classic," Rocky Horror is paired with rock songs from the 50's, 60's, 70's, and 80's and presented in a cabaret-concert style. Audience members are encouraged to dress-up and sing, play, and dance! There will be a prize offered for the best audience costume.

Don't miss the fun on Fridays.

Live theatre requires more collaboration between artists than any other form of art. This is why there is nothing more exciting than live entertainment. And when our favorite artists collaborate in new ways, the results are spectacular.

musicals were created. He delights audiences with a different presentation on the first Wednesday of every month.

One of his fans is Lori Lippitz, the founder and manager of The Maxwell Street Klezmer Band. She is also someone with a unique artistic vision. She founded the band in 1983 and it has become the Midwest's most popular klezmer band. Even though they have toured numerous times in Europe and have performed throughout the U.S., including at Carnegie Hall, they are also local favorites and perform often here in Skokie. Audiences of all backgrounds are delighted by Maxwell Street's high-energy performances that glow with warmth and humor.

Lippitz had an idea for a special program, and after seeing Troy's presentations, she approached him with her concept. These two very different artists joined forces to create The Whole Megillah: The History of Yiddish Theatre. Part concert, part presentation, Charles Troy brings the colorful story of Yiddish Theatre to life. From its beginnings in the late 1800's through its Golden Age and beyond, the adventure is punctuated by live music provided by the Maxwell Street Klezmer Band.

Troy spent over five months on research, writing and designing the multimedia presentation. Then, they took it on the road for previews. It was presented last winter to packed houses at different Jewish Reform temples: one in South Bend, Indiana and org, or by calling the box office at 847-677-7761. You won't want to miss this special evening.

Halloween Happenings - You also won't want to miss these special fall festivities.

Friday October 23rd at 8 pm, Megan Wells returns with her one-woman version of Dracula. The nationally renowned actress and story-teller delighted audiences last year with her tour-de-force performance. She brings the original text by Brahm Stoker's masterpiece to life, playing over ten different characters.

Estate Planning Is Simple... Right?

Chester M. Przybylo

Many people think that estate planning is simple: You just press a button on a word processor and out comes a Will or other document that does just what you want. However, it's just not that simple.

There are many reasons that it takes someone with years of education and practical experience to advise you and prepare documents to accomplish your wishes. Typically, you have not even thought of all the questions, much less the answers and why they are important.

For example, many people think in terms of giving specific assets to specific people. Sometimes this works. But, often-times people do not consider the possibility that their estate planning documents could become effective at their death decades in the future. Will you still have that IBM stock you had planned to leave to Johnny? Will you still have the lake house you had planned to leave to Betty? What should happen if you had sold one or both prior to your death? What if the IBM stock had gone the way of Enron and the lake house had skyrocketed in value? If there are expenses and taxes to pay, should the recipient of each gift pay his or her share of the expenses and taxes or should some recipients receive their gifts without the burden of expenses and taxes?

As you can see, there are many practical questions which a qualified estate planning attorney will know to consider. There are also many technical legal and tax issues which you might never spot, until your heirs end up in conflict or the IRS is knocking at their doors. For example, Powers of Attorney, which appoint an Agent to make financial decisions for you, are very common and useful documents. However, if the Power of Attorney is not carefully drafted, it can cause the value of all of your assets to be included in the estate of the agent. In addition to overlooked problems, without a qualified estate planning attorney you can miss opportunities to plan for Medicaid qualification, to avoid probate, to reduce income, estate, gift, and other taxes, and to provide for your family.

A qualified estate planning attorney examines your unique situation and goals, your family and financial circumstances, and tailors a plan to meet your needs. From a simple Will or Trust to a complex plan including multiple advanced planning strategies, not every tool is applicable in every situation. Whether you are just starting out in life, or are in your twilight years, a qualified estate planning attorney can listen to your goals and tailor a plan that is best able to achieve those goals.

Chester M. Przybylo is a founding member of the prestigious American Academy of Estate Planning Attorneys, a nationally acclaimed organization whose members are dedicated to the highest standards of estate planning and elder law. His Chicago-based firm, Chester M. Przybylo and Associates, has served its clients for over 45 years. Visit the firm website for helpful information on estate planning: www.PlanOurEstate.com, or call 773-631-7100 for an appointment.

Apples Or Oranges? Cubs Or Sox? City Or Suburbs?

Karen Feldman

Where is the best place to live? Have you ever read any publications that rank the "best" places to live in US and wonder why half the places are on it? I recently came across a website that will find the best place for you to live by using "matching" software. Really? Do you think there is a need for that? Reality check (or perhaps Realty check)! The best place to live is the place you choose by your priorities and not by rankings in national data. What would be on your checklist?

Recently, a young woman called me for Real Estate advice after she saw my post on Zillow in regards to a buyer's question of "which is better, City or suburbs?" She had just relocated here and had the same question. We spent an hour discussing it on the phone. Here are some issues we discussed about both. What do you think? I would be happy to hear your comments.

Chicago weather. What would us Midwesterners talk about if we couldn't complain about the weather? City or Suburbs? Thinking prompts: Street plowing and parking, bus service, and the coveted attached garage.

Know your neighbors. The days are long gone when you knew everyone on the block and having the same friends as an adult that you had in nursery school. Corporate transferees with a 3 year relocation package, people working from home, changes in political climate, and the miniaturizing of the world by technology often transforms homes into temporary housing with an expiration date. City or suburbs?

Best investment. Where is the appreciation? In Chicago, more people looking to buy, but also more competition to sell. Chicago market has faster turnover. Suburbs are similar but on a smaller scale. Look for the valuable amenities in the town, but always buy in a good school district in the suburbs. Some areas are selling purely because of school rankings and those areas demand higher prices. Recreation, access to the trains, and walkability to town are often essentials to factor in price for those markets.

Proximity to culture. A downtown, big city? Museums, the arts? Exposure to new ideas? Chicago and the suburbs both celebrate and welcome diversity. City or suburbs? Well, if you have a car or can take public transportation, guess what? You can dive into the city for a day at the Art Institute or venture out to the burbs for a fabulous small theatre play.

Recreation- what's your passion? Biking? Swimming? Professional sports? You can certainly ride your bike out to the suburbs and beyond if you wanted to. Take in a Northwestern football game in Evanston. Walk to a Cubs game from your home in Wrigleyville. City or Suburbs? Again, cars and public transportation can get to either.

Back yards. Ummm...definitely suburbs! If you don't want the maintenance, then either will work.

Meeting people. Opportunity exists in both. City or Suburbs? There are many channels to join clubs, volunteer at charities, take a class, and visit the single scene in both areas. If you don't venture out of your cocoon in either place, you probably wouldn't meet a lot of people.

Lastly, Restaurants. Chicago wins that point but the Suburbs are a new found source of swanky restaurant patrons and it's growing. Last I checked, there wasn't talk about a Chicagoan tax to come out to the burbs. No worries suburbanites, wonderful amenities such as Elawa Farms in Lake Forest and other places offer cooking classes by renown Chicago celebrity chefs.

I would love to hear your input.....City or Suburbs?

Ps- that client who started the conversation still hasn't decided either.

Cook County Treasurer's Office Accepts Partial Property Tax Payments on Website

Partial payments on unpaid property taxes can ease the financial strain of paying late.

"The easiest way to pay is online," Cook County Treasurer Maria Pappas said. "It's surgical."

After visiting the Treasurer's website at cookcountytreasurer.com, the only thing a taxpayer needs is the Property Index Number (PIN) of the house or other property being billed, the checking or savings account numbers and the bank routing numbers, all of which are found on checks, Pappas said.

The taxpayer can make full and partial payments any time until the bill is fully paid, up to when unpaid bills must be auctioned at the next year's Annual Tax Sale.

Pappas said about 264,000 property owners owe on bills for tax year 2014, mailed and payable this year, and may not know that they can make partial payments.

"While making a whole payment is preferable, it is not always possible," Pappas said. "When it's not possible to pay in full, making partial payments can help ease the strain for owners of homes, businesses and land who owe property taxes."

Interest is based on the total tax due. Unpaid tax balances accrue statutory interest at the rate of 1.5 percent per month. Thus, less tax due means less interest due until the taxpayer can pay the balance.

"If you owe taxes, you don't need to wait to pay in full," Pappas said. "Pay what you can now and ease your way to final payment. But finish paying before your unpaid bill has to be sent to possible auction at the Tax Sale."

Fire Prevention Week: Learn the Dos & Don'ts of House Fire Safety

October 4 – 10, 2015 marks Fire Prevention Week, a commemoration of the Great Chicago Fire in 1871 and an opportunity to emphasize fire safety and preparedness.

Remember these dos and don'ts to help you and your family protect against the dangers of a house fire:

- DO keep a smoke alarm on every level of your home. Half of home fire deaths happen between 11 p.m. and 7 a.m. Stay safe with smoke alarms outside of every bedroom and each separate sleeping area.
- DON'T forget to test your smoke alarm every month. The risk of dying in a home fire is cut in half in homes with working smoke alarms. If your alarm doesn't sound when tested, it's time to replace it.
- DO address your needs. If you require eyeglasses, hearing aid, cane or a wheelchair, ensure they are next to your bed to quickly grab if necessary. If there is a fire, you may have less than three minutes to get out of your home. Be ready to act immediately.
- DON'T assume you'll hear the fire alarm if it sounds. If you test the alarm and can't hear it, consider getting a strobe light that will flash or a bed shaker that will shake when the smoke alarm sounds.
- DO make a fire escape plan that shows at least two ways out of every room. Identify a meeting place in the front of your home, to verify that everyone is safe and help firefighters ensure everyone exited safely.
- DON'T stop to call 911 until you're safely outside and away from danger. Stay outside until the fire department says it's safe to go back inside.

For even more fire safety tips, visit the U.S. Fire Administration's webpage at www.usfa.fema.gov. You can also follow FEMA Region V at twitter.com/femaregion5 and www.facebook.com/fema. Individuals can always find valuable preparedness information at www.Ready.gov.

Long-Lasting Cut Flowers – A Useful Hint!!

Hydrangeas, poppies and dahlias have a gooey sap that skins over when their stems are cut, preventing the flowers from taking up water. To break that skin, hold a lighter or a candle flame on the cut for 30 seconds, then stick the stem right away into a vase of water.

Planning That Affordable Holiday Trip

By Nathaniel Sillin

Are you an advance planner or an improviser? Your travel planning style might save you money during the busy winter holiday travel season.

Generally, families with children and a need for specific seating and direct flights may need to plan earlier to secure such reservations. More flexible travelers can roll the dice on last-minute deals.

Here are some ideas to explore:

Be open-minded about scheduling. Most people know red-eye and dawn flights are typically cheaper. However, holiday travel presents its own set of opportunities for pricing and availability if you don't follow the crowd. For example, with Thanksgiving always on a Thursday, most travelers choose Tuesday or Wednesday for arrival and Sunday for departure. Choosing a different scheduling window, including travel on the actual holiday, may not only save money but considerable stress getting to and from clogged airport, train and bus stations.

Drive smart or leave the keys at home. If you're using your own automobile, make sure your collision and liability coverage are adequate to cover potential medical and repair costs for other motorists if you're in an accident out of town. If you're planning to rent a vehicle, speak with your auto insurance agent before you go. Many personal policies do extend domestic collision and liability coverage to rentals, but it's particularly important to confirm coverage if you're traveling outside the United States. Of course, if you're visiting a place with excellent public transportation or safe bike routes, check pricing. An affordable bike rental (pack a helmet) or multi-day city or regional bus-and-rail pass might eliminate the need for a car altogether.

Sleep cheap. Saving money on accommodations is another area where you can save significant dollars by either planning significantly ahead or trolling for last-minute bargains. Top family destinations generally require reservations months in advance, but see how full they are closest to the actual holiday dates. Many family members may travel a week before or a week after the actual holiday but won't stay over the holiday. That leaves more rooms and activities available. The same goes for stays in other popular tourist locations around the world. Check destination hotels closer to the date to see if they're offering special rates or packages.

Put your membership dollars to work. If you belong to an auto club or have credit cards with particular travel benefits, see whether any of those benefits – from actual mileage points to coupon discounts – can be used to save money.

Check your home, health and business insurance. If you are traveling domestically or globally, see if your personal health insurance extends to your destination. The same goes for home/rental and business insurance. Many people don't realize that some or all of their personal insurance coverage may cover medical, theft, liability, injury and other risks at their destination. Read your policy and confirm your assumptions with your agent.

Consider travel insurance to fill any gaps. Once you've confirmed the limits of your personal coverage, research travel insurance policy sites (<http://www.insuremytrip.com>) and recent articles on travel insurance so you can make sure common risks like trip cancellation and lost luggage are covered as well as specialized risks like advanced medical care and medical transportation at your destination.

Watch those bags. Many airlines charge ascending fees for every checked bag, so packing light has never made more sense. However, major air and ground shipping companies are now offering luggage-shipping services for domestic and overseas travelers with pickup options at their ground facilities. Make a call and see if this option makes sense, particularly if you take extra clothes or gifts with you at the holidays.

Bottom line: Holiday travel bargains can be found months in advance and sometimes at the last minute. Your flexibility will determine the deals you can get.

How To Be The Worst Marina Guest

It's nearing the end of summer cruising season for recreational boaters, who are looking to fit in one more trip away from home. If you're member of BoatUS, a marina may even give you a discount on fuel, transient dockage or repair work, but most importantly, transient boaters should recognize that they have responsibilities as marina guests. Ignore these duties and you risk earning the scorn of management and being asked to leave. What will get you in trouble? BoatUS worked with the Marina Recreation Association to find out some of the things that could make you a bad guest.

When strangers call: You're approaching the gate to your dock, and there they are. Workmen with toolboxes, families with ice chests and water toys, other seemingly nice people all waiting for someone with a key to let them in the marina. It's awkward, sometimes annoying, and always a pain. What do you do? A simple, "I am sorry, but I can't let you in," will suffice. If you think that's too harsh, you could also give the stranger neighborly advice on where to find the marina office, or tell them that the marina will shoot you at sunrise should you let unknown guests in, but either way, allowing strangers access is bad idea for a bunch of reasons.

You've got chocolate in my peanut butter: You like country music. The guy in the neighboring slip likes rock-n-roll. This won't turn out as wonderful as a 1980's Reese's "you've got chocolate in my peanut butter" TV commercial unless you're considerate of each other. If you want to jam to loud music, do it out on the water away from others. Back at the marina dock, keep it reasonable, honor the marina's posted quiet hours and you may find some invites to come aboard and make new friends.

The Fido Hypothesis: Dogs and boats go together, but did you know that a disease-causing bacteria in dog waste is an environmental pollutant? An early 1990's study of the "Fido Hypothesis" found that at some beaches, dogs helped to raise bacteria levels so high that swimming was prohibited. About the same time EPA placed dog poop in the same category as herbicides and insecticides. That's right – your dog's poop is bad stuff. Just like oil, grease and other toxic chemicals, you don't want bad bacteria leaching into the water we swim in. Don't be shunned as the "poopie" boater – clean up after Fido.

It goes without saying that being considerate of others, like not hogging dock carts, keeping docks clear, or following all safety rules makes you a welcome guest. If you are a good marina mate and also a Boat Owners Association of The United States (BoatUS) member, give yourself a break by taking advantage of the savings offered on marina fuel, transient slip or repair discounts at www.BoatUS.com/map. To join, go to BoatUS.com/membership.

Taking care of your dog's waste will keep you off the "Worst Marina Guest" list.

Sukkahs & Maccabi Tel Aviv Basketball

Hundreds of High-school students (including a large delegation from Shorashim) and fans that came to the United Center to see Maccabi Tel Aviv basketball game visited Chabad's sukkah outside the stadium. For many of them, it was their first time shaking a lulav or etrog, or in some cases even seeing a sukkah. This was one of many public Sukkahs organized by Lubavitch Chabad of Illinois and its 40 centers.

Former Maccabi Tel Aviv star player Tal Brody, 72, holds the lulav in the mobile sukkah. To his left is Rabbi Eliyahu Benhiyoun of Chabad of Lincoln Park and at right is Rabbi Avrohom Kagan, of Chabad of River North in Chicago. (Photo: Lubavitch Chabad of IL)
