Skokie Health Department Advises Residents How to Stay Healthy During Influenza Season

The Skokie Health Department has been alerted to increased influenza illness in the community and would like to advise residents on how to stay healthy during influenza season. Influenza, or 'the flu', typically spreads during this time of year and peaks in February.

Residents ages six months and older who have not received an influenza vaccination should do so now through a local pharmacy or their private health care provider. The Skokie Health Department administered all of its influenza vaccine during October 2010 immunization clinics available to all Skokie residents over six months of age and does not have any additional vaccine available.

To prevent the spread of influenza, the Skokie Health Department encourages all residents to practice the following:

Clean - wash your hands often with soap and water to prevent illness. Teach your children this, too. Alcohol-based hand sanitizers are also effective if hand washing is not possible.

Cover - if you have a respiratory illness, cough or sneeze into the inside of your elbow, or into a tissue and discard it promptly. Teach your children this, too.

Contain - anyone who is sick should stay home. Do not spread illness at work, at school, at a store, at your house of worship or anywhere.

If you or a loved one has a fever over 100 degrees, a cough or trouble breathing, call your doctor or other health care provider.

Obtaining an annual flu shot for you and your loved ones, and remembering to clean your hands, properly cover a cough and contain yourself if you are sick and avoid others who are ill can go a long way in preventing the spread of influenza. For more information visit www.cdc.gov/flu.

Edison Park Lighting Approved

Alderman Doherty announces approval of arterial street ornamental lighting in downtown Edison Park on Northwest Highway from Ottawa to Olympia. The $500,000.00 project is scheduled to begin in late Spring 2011.

The money was obtained from the 41st Ward Menu Program from the 2010 budget and residual funding from previous years. Alderman Doherty worked closely with the Edison Park Chamber of Commerce, business owners, and the community for many years in revitalizing downtown Edison Park. This should be one of the finishing touches to the triumphant story which is downtown Edison Park.

While many older commercial retail areas suffered throughout the years Edison Park has been one of the successes which has been noted throughout Chicago. Alderman Doherty stated he was pleased to be able to scrape and negotiate the funding for this project which would be one of his last major improvements before his term is ended as Alderman of the 41st Ward.

NILES NORTH INGRAHAM HAS CHAPTER PUBLISHED IN NAT'L COUNCIL OF TEACHERS OF ENGLISH BOOK

Niles North High School English teacher Heather Ingraham recently had a chapter published in the National Council of Teachers of English (NCTE) book Lesson Plans for Developing Digital Literacies. The book, compiled by Mary T. Christel and Scott Sullivan, is designed to assist teachers in integrating the latest technologies, such as Web 2.0 and beyond, into classroom instruction. Ingraham's chapter is titled "Keep Them Talking about The Fifth Child: Reclaiming Instructional Time with Discussion Boards." Ingraham's chapter, which was based on the work pioneered by her senior classes, details how online discussion boards enrich critical thinking and allow for collaboration in analyzing classroom texts.

Ingraham writes, "Egalitarian in form as well as spirit, a discussion board threads every student's voice equally, in contrast to a blog's dominant entry followed by subordinate comments. Because they work so well to foster meaningful exploration, I especially rely on discussion boards to bring closure to the open-ended questions that guide our curriculum's thematic units, and I offer the boards as a collaborative workspace for students to prepare for more traditional individual assessments."

Ingraham's class uses the online discussion boards to dissect several books, including Doris Lessing's The Fifth Child, a powerful work which challenges students to address ethical issues. Ingraham writes, "My students and I prize these conversations because they allow us to keep talking until we have asked questions and explored answers to a satisfying conclusion—not just to the end of the period."

Ingraham, who teaches Sophomore English and Advanced Placement English Literature and Composition at Niles North, said, "I am very fortunate to have outstanding students. Their work is worth showing to other people and through this publication I get a chance to share this lesson." Ingraham also acknowledged the important feedback she received from colleagues and the support of her administrators.

Recently, Ingraham presented this lesson while a panelist at "Classrooms Without Walls" during the 2010 NCTE Conference. Ingraham has taught at Niles North High School since 1992.

About Reinvention at City Colleges of Chicago

For nearly one hundred years, the City Colleges of Chicago (CCC) has improved the lives of one million alumni and their families through education. While we are extremely proud of this track record, the world is rapidly changing and we must change with it.

A bold plan. A collaborative process.

Reinvention is a bold plan to remake our institution to ensure students leave us college-ready, career-ready and prepared to pursue their life's goals, building the skilled workforce our economy demands.

Through a highly collaborative process, faculty, staff, and students are teaming with external advisory councils to explore eight key areas of CCC's educational and operational practices, to develop and then implement solutions.

Four student-centered goals.

Chancellor Cheryl Hyman says the heart of our Reinvention effort is ensuring student success and the Reinvention plan has four student-centered goals:

Increase the number of students earning college credentials of economic value

Increase the rate of transfer to Bachelor's degree programs following CCC graduation

Drastically improve outcomes for students needing remediation

Increase number and share of ABE/GED/ESL students who advance to and succeed in college-level courses

Change is already underway.

From the hiring of more advisors and tutors to technology upgrades to outreach to academically at-risk students, change is already underway. We invite you to learn more, weigh in with your ideas, and track the progress of Reinvention online at: <http://reinventingccc.org>.

CJE SENIORLIFE OFFERING FREE CONSULTATIONS TO ANSWER QUESTIONS ON HEALTHCARE REFORM

Sweeping legislation on healthcare reform has brought about a bevy of questions for Americans of all ages. CJE SeniorLife's Consumer Assistance Department is working closely with older adults and their families in Metropolitan Chicago to navigate the maze of healthcare reform as it relates to Medicare services.

"People worry there will be cuts to their benefits and that the quality of care they receive will be reduced – they will be paying more but getting less," says Monica Glaser, CJE's Manager of Consumer Assistance. "In reality, this is not the case."

The new legislation is intended to move national healthcare to a more community-based, coordinated care system, with an increase in outcome-based procedures, preventative care, and an overall reduction in the number of hospital re-admissions and return visits to the emergency room, explains Glaser. Another major element is to reduce fraud and hold insurers more accountable.

CJE's Consumer Assistance staff can answer questions about Medicare Part D prescription drug coverage, including the shrinking "donut hole" and other changes in Part D coverage for 2011 and beyond. Representatives can also explain the differences between Medicare and Medicare Advantage plans and how to choose a plan that best suits one's individual needs.

If you or your loved ones have questions regarding healthcare reform and how it affects you, call CJE's Consumer Assistance at 773/508-1000 for a free consultation. Russian-speaking staff is also available.

CJE SeniorLife is an innovative provider of community-based and residential programs, and services for older adults throughout the Chicago area. Over the past 38 years, CJE's wide range of services has grown to include assisted living, counseling and care management, long-term skilled nursing, Alzheimer's care, home health, wellness programs and much more. COMING TOGETHER IN SKOKIE HIGHLIGHTS FILIPINO CULTURE THIS YEAR; KICK-OFF EVENT IS JANUARY 28

Last year brought the debut of Coming Together in Skokie (CTIS), a community-wide program designed to promote literacy and to explore in depth a different culture each year, through reading and discussing a common book and enjoying a host of cultural activities. Founding organizations included: the Village of Skokie, Skokie Public Library, Niles Township High School District 219, the Indian Community of Niles Township, Oakton Community College, and Holiday Inn North Shore. Joining the effort this year are the Skokie Park District, the Niles Township Schools' ELL Parent Center, and Skokie's elementary and middle schools.

Although the initiative spotlights a different culture each year, the intended audience is people from all backgrounds, especially people who may not be as familiar with the featured culture. "We would like everyone who lives in Skokie and the neighboring communities to come and take part in these wonderful activities," said Susan Van Dusen, First Lady of Skokie and one of the initiative's founders.

Last year CTIS showcased the Asian-Indian community and featured the novel Motherland. Author Vineeta Vijayaraghavan came to Skokie to speak to residents and students. More than 3,000 people attended 32 events held over a period of six weeks. The celebration was a stunning success.

This year CTIS honors the people of the Philippines. Angeles "Jelly" Carandang, Chair of the Illinois Chapter of the National Federation of Filipino American Associations, and Jerry Clarito, Commissioner of the Skokie Park District, have called upon members of the Filipino community to share insight about their nation, which is composed of more than 7,000 islands, each with its own special culture.

The featured book is When the Rainbow Goddess Wept, by Cecilia Manguerra Brainard, a novel about a child forced to flee from her home when the Japanese invade the Philippines islands. An additional option, Growing up Filipino, is a compilation of stories collected by Cecilia Manguerra Brainard. The author will visit Skokie on March 7 & 8, 2011. Middle school students will read Tall Story, by Candy Gourlay, a novel about a "giant" from the Philippines who moves to London to live with his sister. Younger children will read Willie Wins by Almira Astudillo Gilles, and Lakas and the Manilatown Fish, by Anthony D. Robles. Ms. Gilles, who lives in Palatine, will also participate in events at Niles North High School, the Niles Township Schools' ELL Parent Center and East Prairie School.

The official kick-off event for Coming Together in Skokie will be on Saturday, January 28 at Niles West High School, 5701 W. Oakton St. The Filipino-American Community invites the community of Niles Township to join them for a special cultural program and fashion show featuring regional costumes and latest styles. Refreshments will be available for purchase from 5:45 to 6:45 p.m. and the program starts at 7:00 p.m.

For a full schedule of events, visit <http://ComingTogether.skokieliibrary.info>

The Village of Skokie is a community rich in diversity. Our residents hail from many different countries and speak more than 90 languages and dialects. We acknowledge this wonderful diversity as an opportunity to build knowledge, awareness, and appreciation for the many cultures around us. We hope that residents and students will read these books, take part in public discussion groups, and enjoy the many activities offered.

THE NEW YEAR IS HERE! PERFECT OPPORTUNITY TO 'RE-DESIGN YOUR FUTURE' WITH JANUARY WORKSHOPS IN EVANSTON FROM CLOI

Through their personal and professional lives, many Baby Boomers have built a lifetime of experience, knowledge and valuable skills. As the next stage of life looms, many of this generation are grappling with question of, "What will I do for an encore?"

Each participant will create a personal vision as well as action steps to achieve his or her goals.

The three-part workshop takes place on consecutive Saturdays, Jan. 15, 22 and 29, from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., at the Mather, 425 Davis St., in Evanston. The cost is $95. CHICAGO TAX ASSISTANCE CENTER HELPS RESIDENTS FILE PROPERTY TAX APPEALS AND PROVIDES TAX PREPARATION SERVICES

The Chicago Property Tax Assistance Center (CTAC) assisted more than 21,000 homeowners this year with property tax assessment appeals, exemptions, and applications for tax relief programs.

Since 2001, CTAC has assisted more than 130,000 Chicagoans with property tax issues.

"Through our property tax and Earned Income Tax Credit programs, we've been returning hard-earned tax dollars to those residents who need it most," said CTAC Executive Director Myer Blank. "During these tough economic times, we must do all we can to protect Chicago's working families."

Mayor Richard M. Daley established CTAC in 2001 which provides Chicago residents with assistance and advice on a number of tax related issues, including: help with filing federal and state income taxes; advice on appealing property tax assessments; applying for the Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC).

CTAC's EITC program provided free tax services to more than 20,000 residents in 2010 and returned to them more than $35 million this year through EITC.

In 2010, CTAC administered the property tax grant program that provided for more than $2 million in relief to more than 17,000 residents. This program provided a one-time property tax relief grant up to $200 per homeowner.

Autism Society and AMC Theatres® to Host Sensory Friendly Films® This January

AMC Theatres (AMC) and the Autism Society have teamed up to bring families affected by autism and other disabilities and sensory issues a special opportunity to enjoy their favorite films in a safe and accepting environment on a monthly basis. Sensory Friendly Films® will continue with a showing of Yogi Bear on January 8.

Autism is a complex neurodevelopmental disability that affects a person's ability to communicate and interact with others. It often comes with sensory challenges, such as hypersensitivity to light or sound, and children or adults affected by autism may not understand the social boundaries of movie theatre etiquette, such as not talking during the film or sitting still through most of the show.

In order to provide a more accepting and comfortable setting for children with autism or other special needs, AMC movie auditoriums will have their lights brought up and the sound turned down, families will be able to bring in their own gluten-free, casein-free snacks, and no previews or advertisements will be shown before the movie. Additionally, audience members are welcome to get up and dance, walk, shout or sing - in other words, AMC's "Silence is Golden®" policy will not be enforced unless the safety of the audience is questioned. Tickets can be purchased on the day of the event.

Yogi Bear Saturday, January 8 10 a.m.

WHERE:

AMC Showplace Galewood 14, 5530 W Homer St, Chicago, IL, 60639

AMC Village Crossing 18, 7000 Carpenter Rd, Skokie, IL, 60077

AMC Showplace Niles 12, 301 Golf Mill Center, Niles, IL 60714

A list and map of participating theatres is available at www.autism-society.org/sensoryfilms. This nationwide event has 131 theatres in 62 markets across the U.S.

An estimated 30 million people in the world have an autism spectrum disorder, 1.5 million in America alone. In America, 1 in every 110 children has an autism spectrum disorder.

These families face challenges of care, support, education, financial hardship and medical and health care issues that make autism a national public health issue, costing the U.S. economy $60 billion a year. Though there is no cure, autism is treatable and individuals with autism have tremendous potential.

WORLD'S HIGHEST ICE RINK SET TO OPEN AT JOHN HANCOCK OBSERVATORY

Ice "Experts" from Shedd Aquarium and Chicago Blackhawks Showcase Rink 1,000 Feet Up

On January 1st the highly anticipated "Skating in the Sky" ice rink opened to the public in John Hancock Observatory, but today a handful of Chicago's resident ice "experts" showcased the synthetic surface to members of the media. Those "experts" included: penguins from the Shedd Aquarium and Tommy Hawk, mascot for the Stanley Cup World Champion, Chicago Blackhawks. Daniel Thomas, general manager of John Hancock Observatory, introduced the rink partners saying: "If you're going to open the highest skating rink on the globe, at one of the most recognizable landmarks in the world, you'd better be sure your ice holds up to such high standards! And something this big doesn't happen with a small team so there are many partners to thank in addition to the Blackhawks and Shedd Aquarium: Sports Surfaces LLC, XTRAICE, Glacier Ice Arena, Best Buy, 93 WXRT, and Chicago Trolley."

Photos from the event and a time lapse video of the rink's installation can be seen at www.HancockObservatory.com or at www.Facebook.com/HancockObservatory.

Since announcing plans for Skating in the Sky in September, John Hancock Observatory has received an unprecedented demand for tickets and reservations. In mid-November they launched an online ticketing system at www.HancockObservatory.com which has already taken hundreds of reservations. Additionally, the famed Chicago attraction has had scores of requests for private party rentals on the "ice."

"Everything about this concept is designed to make skating 1,000 feet up in the air fun, easy and unforgettable," said Thomas. "Guests can easily book ice time online. Groups can rent out the space for corporate or family entertainment. Our synthetic ice is not cold and doesn't need to be zamboni-ed. And of course, it's indoors, so it will never be closed because of weather. What more could you ask for when Skating in the Sky!"

Twenty -five minute skating sessions cost only $5 on top of general admission and are available daily from 9AM-11PM beginning January 1st thru March 31st. Guests are encouraged to make their reservations online to ensure ice time, but if space is available, reservations can be made on-site as well. Skates can be rented for just $1 or guests can bring their own. VIP non-dated and non-timed tickets are available through a few select hotel partners: Chicago's Essex Inn, Millennium Knickerbocker, the Peninsula and the Sutton Place.

In the wake of hosting the Stanley Cup on the roof of John Hancock Center, John Hancock Observatory and the world-champion Chicago Blackhawks have teamed-up again to offer free skating lessons every Monday afternoon, starting January 3. "We're very excited to have the Blackhawks as partners-they are such incredible ambassadors for the city, particularly through their youth hockey programs," said Thomas. Observatory admission and skating fees will still apply, but coaches and "special guests" will be on-ice to offer skating tips at no additional charge.

The Aisle Seat

by Richard Allen Eisenhardt

During the holiday season nothing new has opened until after the New Year. I wish that Light Opera Works could find backers to bring their production of "Hello Dolly" to the Mercury Theatre or the Royal George.

Rudy Hogenmiller has done a first-rate job with his direction and choreography.

Mary Robin Roth as Dolly Levi proved you don't need a Carol Channing or Barbara Streisand. Her performance gets a standing ovation every performance. We only hope other theatres open their eyes and cast her in more shows as she is a top-notch professional. Other standouts are Jessye Wright as Irene Molloy and Patrick Tierney as Barnaby.

My top shows for 2010 were "The Importance of Being Earnest" at the Remy Bumppo – The performance of Greg Matthew Anderson is astounding. TimeLine production of "Frost/Nixon," Raven's "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," Artistic Home's production of "Sweet Bird of Youth" also were 2010 favorites.

In the music field my favorites were "Ragtime," "Music Man," "She Loves Me," "Cats" at the Theo Ubique Cabaret Theatre which is a small black box theatre. The first three were at the larger equity theatres.

Drury Lane Oakbrook is the first theatre to get the regional rites to Marty Python's "Spamalot."

BoHo is opening the year with "The Elephant Man" at Theatre Wit on Belmont Avenue. Last year they staged "Big River" and it was a terrific production.

Provision Theatre is doing "Shadowlands" which will open in February.

In the fall Marc Robin will be directing "For the Boys" which is based on Martha Raye as she was a great supporter of servicemen. I had the privilege of meeting her when I took some wounded Viet Nam veterans to see her in a show through the Blackhawk Standby Hockey Club.

Well that is the news for now.

"A Theater Review"

"Cats"

Theo Ubique Cabaret Theatre

At the No Exit Café

6970 N. Glenwood Ave. Chicago, Illinois

Reviewed by Richard Allen Eisenhardt

The Theo Ubique Cabaret Theatre at the No Exit Café is one of the best black box theatres and it is in Rogers Park on Glenwood Ave. Parking is not only available but the Morse El stop is a block away and it is close to Clark Street and Broadway Avenue.

Andrew Lloyd Weber's production "Cats" is terrific and while it is not a traditional holiday show it is perfect for the holidays.

The show has a cast of thirteen exceptionally talented non-equity actors who can sing and dance in the small space area that makes for an intimate two hours and twenty minutes. The show is being directed and choreographed by Brenda Didier with an assist by Andrew Waters. The show has an orchestra of seven talented musicians.

While "Memories" is the big hit song from the show other standouts for me are "Jellicle Songs for Jellicle Cats," "Moments of Happiness" and "Macavity" to name a few.

Sydney Charles as Grizzabella and Matt McNabbas as Old Deuteronomy are strong singers and actors. Some of the performers Elliot Burton, Josh Huppert, Brian-Alwyn Newland, Hillary Patingre, Rebecca Pink, Maggie Portman play other "cats" in the show.

The show is different in that for this production they have one new character to the show who is a human character.

It's a show young and older children would enjoy besides adults. Those not familiar with the show I suggest you go to the library and read T. S. Eliot's "Old Possum's Book of Practical Cats." "Cats" is Broadway's second longest-running show in Broadway history.

You'll be hearing a lot from Hillary Patingre, Josh Huppert, Tommy Rivera-Vega as they are three very promising performers who have great futures in Chicago theatre.

The food is excellent as they have two entrées that include soup-entrée, and dessert for $20.00. You can at an additional cost get beverage of choice.

This theatre is very popular so make reservations early or you might miss out and this is a production to see.

Opening in March will be "Some Enchanted Evening" The Songs of "Rodgers and Hammerstein" directed by the theatre's artistic director Fred Anzevino and in May also under Fred's direction will be "The George M. Cohan Revue" that is being written by Chip Deffaa.

"Cats" has been extended to run through January 16th. For performance days – show times and reservations call 773-347-1109. Tickets are $30 - $35.

Also remember if you order dinner – the waitress or waiter are performers so tip them generously.

"A Family Portrait" to Open at Noyes Art Gallery Jan. 23

The City of Evanston Cultural Arts Division is pleased to announce an upcoming special exhibition in celebration of Black History Month, "A Family Portrait," at the Noyes Art Gallery. The exhibition will be on display from Jan. 23 through Feb. 28 and will feature artwork by the award-winning Turner family of Chicago.

The exhibition is presented jointly by the City of Evanston's Cultural Arts Division and Fleetwood-Jourdain Community Center to celebrate Black History Month. An artist's reception for the public will be held from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. on Sunday, January 30 at the Noyes Cultural Arts Center, 927 Noyes St., Evanston.

Turner family artistic tradition started half a century ago with Josephine Curtis Turner and Robert (Bobby) Lee Turner. Their children, Jan, Robert, Phillip, and Beatrice have all gone on to a life in the arts and music. The family started their own gallery on Chicago's south side in the 1940s when Josephine Curtis exhibited her artwork in her mother's living room when she was ten years old. Phillip Turner encouraged the gallery to expand in the late 1980s, and they exhibited local and international artists. The exhibit will mark the first time the entire family has mounted an exhibition, and it will celebrate their creativity, as well show the diversity of their individual and collective styles. "A Family Portrait" will also feature works by Phillip Parker-Turner and Teresa J. Parker, and portraits of family members, Mary Washington, Margaret Curtis, Laverne and Jon Gill, and Erika and Erin Turner, will be highlighted.

The Noyes Art Gallery is located within the Noyes Cultural Arts Center. Gallery hours are 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Saturday and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday. Admission is always free. For more information, call the Cultural Arts Division at 847-448-8260 or Philip J. Turner at 773-643-6526. Admission is free.

Chicago's After School Matters Seeks Program Providers to Develop, Deliver Teen After-School Programs

Interested independent professionals, community/teaching organizations invited to complete online Request for Proposals.

After School Matters today released a new Request for Proposals (RFP) seeking independent instructors and community/teaching organizations interested in sharing their expertise and mentoring teens in the areas of the arts, communications, science, sports and technology with Chicago Public Schools high school students.

Chaired by Chicago First Lady Maggie Daley, After School Matters is a nationally recognized nonprofit organization embarking on its 20th year of providing quality after-school programs to thousands of Chicago teens through a network of public and private partnerships that include Chicago Public Schools, the Chicago Park District and the Chicago Public Library, as well as a wide range of community/teaching organizations.

After School Matters offers programs through two delivery models:

Apprenticeships, in which teens work alongside talented professionals in safe, structured environments to develop hands-on skills in their areas of practice, as well job-readiness skills; and

Internships, which are specialized opportunities for skilled teens to work directly with nonprofit organizations.

In these programs, teens receive stipends as both a financial incentive and to provide reinforcement of the accountability that comes with having a job.

After School Matters has become the largest program of its kind in the nation and is a model for out-of-school-time programming that has been replicated in other U.S. cities.

"To provide nearly 20,000 meaningful out-of-school-time opportunities to teens each year, After School Matters utilizes a network of skilled professionals and community and teaching organizations who are paid to develop and deliver our quality programs," said David Sinski, executive director of After School Matters. "From mural artists and advertising executives to sports managers, engineers, scientists and journalists, we are seeking dynamic professionals to help teens find their future and gain valuable job readiness skills."

After School Matters offers professional development and training opportunities for these valued program providers to develop and enhance their ability to engage teens, as well as to support skills enrichment in relationship-building, conflict resolution and more.

While in years past, potential program providers have submitted separate RFPs for Summer and School Year programming cycles, this year, After School Matters has launched a new, streamlined process in which potential program providers will submit just one proposal that will cover three program cycles—Summer 2011, Fall 2011 and Spring 2012.

Both new and returning program providers interested in creating and leading programming for teens during these cycles must complete an online Application of Intent, available at www.afterschoolmatters.org/programproviders. Those invited to advance to Phase II of the process will be notified in late January. After School Matters will review and award contracts to both returning and new program providers in April and May. Some program providers may be placed on a waitlist.

Throughout this process, After School Matters will provide a number of tools to aid new and returning program providers during the RFP process. Workshop times and locations, as well as a list of frequently asked questions about the RFP, can be found at www.afterschoolmatters.org/programproviders. Additional questions can be directed to RFPquestions@afterschoolmatters.org or the After School Matters RFP hotline at 312-742-6205.

After School Matters' new, streamlined RFP process is part of the organization's implementation of a new strategic plan, developed in consultation with the Civic Consulting Alliance, Boston Consulting Group and Deloitte. This plan is designed to support the organization's ongoing continuous quality improvement efforts, as well as to guide its alignment of resources, enhance teen academic outcomes and more effectively reach those teens who will benefit most from its programs.

To maximize the impact of every program, After School Matters' strategic plan focuses on:

Ensuring all programming supports teen development of job-readiness skills;

Increasing teen retention in programs throughout four years of high school; and

Ensuring that programs are provided to those CPS students who need it most.

Throughout this process, After School Matters will continue to utilize an information management system that facilitates the organization's capability to track key data, such as number of teen applicants, enrollment, attendance and retention numbers, as well as key indicators of program quality as determined by research and best practices.

After School Matters is a nonprofit organization that offers Chicago teens innovative out-of-school activities through its science37, sports37, tech37, words37 and nationally recognized gallery37 programs. Programs are provided through a network of public and private partnerships that include Chicago Public Schools, the Chicago Park District, the Chicago Public Library and community organizations across the city. Hands-on, project-based programs introduce teens to rewarding careers and help them develop marketable job skills. After School Matters was founded by Chicago First Lady Maggie Daley and Chicago Cultural Affairs Commissioner Lois Weisberg in 1991. Mrs. Daley continues to serve as the organization's chair. Programs are funded through public, corporate, and individual private donations.

The MOSES 22nd Annual Organic Farming Conference

When: February 24 – 26, 2011

Where: La Crosse Center in La Crosse Wisconsin

Organized by the Midwest Organic and Sustainable Education Service (MOSES), the annual Organic Farming Conference (OFC) is the largest organic farming conference in the U.S. It will be held February 24 – 26, 2011 in La Crosse, WI. It's an extraordinary, farmer-centered event featuring more than 70 informative workshops, 150+ exhibitors, locally sourced organic food, live entertainment and nationally known keynote speakers.

The OFC is considered the foremost educational and networking event in the organic farming community. In 2010, the OFC attracted more than 2,700 farmers, advocates, educators, students and industry representatives. A 27-page flyer of all the 2011 conference offerings and registration form can be found at, <http://mosesor-organic.org/conference.html>.

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE OFC

MOSES Farmer of the Year award – Every year, MOSES recognizes an outstanding organic farmer or farm family who are innovators; who excel in managing their farm resources and are good stewards of the land; and who serve as educators and shining examples in their communities and to the next generation of organic farmers.

Organic University – The Organic University offers nine intensive courses on various organic agriculture topics for novice and experts alike through pre-conference, full-day courses.

Research Forum – Through integration of the Organic Research Forum with the Organic Farming Conference, researchers have a unique opportunity to share their cutting edge organic agricultural research with farmers, students and agriculture professionals.

Workshops – More than 70 workshops will be offered on a multitude of organic farming, marketing, production and management topics and timely agriculture issues.

Young Organic Stewards - Young people have always been at the heart of the MOSES Conference. The Young Organic Stewards program recognizes the need to honor and support the next generation of food producers through targeted workshops and social activities.

Organic, Locally Sourced Food – Two full days of meals for conference attendees featuring the best locally sourced, organic food prepared in delicious entrees, sides, salads and desserts.

Networking Opportunities – The OFC is an outstanding place for new organic farmers to connect with experienced ones to share and collect information. This year offers even more opportunity through Farmer Connection Roundtables.

Evening Entertainment – Live music, topical films, a children's show and a poetry slam will all be featured as "after hours" entertainment at the 2011 OFC.

Inspiring Keynote Speakers – MOSES will once again be host to two outstanding keynote speakers. Urvashi Rangan, Ph.D., is the Director of Technical Policy for Consumers Union. She developed the ratings system, database, and website for evaluating environmental labels. Rangan continues to decode the meaning of eco-labels for consumers, and advocates for credible labeling in the marketplace, including influencing government policy decisions at the state and federal level.

Tom Stearns, of High Mowing Organic Seeds, will speak about local food systems development in Hardwick, Vermont, and the fascinating, collaborative work among farmers, businesses, and the community as they face this challenge in a bold and ambitious way. Tom Stearns founded High Mowing Organic Seeds in 1996 when he began sharing seeds with others through a small seed flyer. Since that time, High Mowing Organic Seeds has expanded into one of the leading organic seed companies in the United States.

To request a conference flyer contact MOSES at 715-778-5775, info@mosesororganic.org or www.mosesorganic.org.

Celebrate the New Year With 10 Free Flowering Trees from the Arbor Day Foundation

Residents of Illinois can ring in the New Year by receiving 10 free flowering trees by joining the Arbor Day Foundation any time during January 2011.

By becoming a member of the nonprofit Arbor Day Foundation, you will receive two white flowering dogwoods, two flowering crabapples, two Washington hawthorns, two American redbuds and two goldenrain trees.

Village of Skokie Christmas Tree Pickup and Holiday Light Recycling Program

Weather permitting, Village of Skokie Public Works crews will pick up Christmas trees during the first two weeks in January. The trees are then chipped and prepared for mulch which is available to Village residents after the New Year's holiday.

After these initial collections, Village refuse crews will collect trees during normal garbage collections. The mulch pick-up area is located on the south side of Church St in the Commonwealth Edison right-of-way property which is just east of Terminal Ave.

To have your tree picked up for recycling, place it in the alley or at the curb where refuse is collected.

Do not put the tree in a bag or container, and please remove all decorations. Wreaths are not collected with the trees and should be disposed with the regular household garbage.

Additionally, the Solid Waste Agency of Northern Cook County (SWANCC) and the Village of Skokie are offering a free Holiday Light Recycling Program. All holiday string lighting and extension cords can be dropped off at the Skokie Public Works Department, 9050 Gross Point Road, December 6 through January 28 from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. Garland, live greens, wreaths or other materials are not accepted in this program. For more information please contact the Public Works Department at 847/933-8427.

Evanston Holiday Tree Pick-up

This holiday season, City of Evanston crews will pick up trees beginning Dec. 27, 2010, and continue for five consecutive weeks. All trees should be placed on the parkways, as trees will not be picked up from alleys or private property.

Trees will be picked up on the same day of the week as your normal refuse and recycling during the weeks of Dec. 27; Jan. 3, 10, 17 and 24. This gives residents the flexibility to take down a tree when it's convenient.

Please remove all lights and decorations, and do not place a tree in a plastic bag, as this material can damage the equipment used to convert the trees into mulch. Questions? Please call the Parks/Forestry Division at 847/866-2912.

Winter Activity Ideas in Evanston

With Winter already upon us, the City of Evanston has ideas to keep everyone busy.

Ice-Skating in the Parks

Ice-skating rinks are located at several city parks: Ackerman Park, Central St. at McDaniel; the Dawes Park Lagoon, Sheridan Rd. at Church St.; and Baker Park, Forest Ave. at Keeney St.

Please be aware that there are no attendants on duty to supervise rinks and shelter houses will not be open. Skating conditions vary throughout the season, based on air temperature, sunshine levels and snowfall. The Dawes Park Lagoon has good quality ice most frequently, as it is not created on turf.

What does it take to make ice that's ready for skating? It takes three consecutive days of temperatures 15 degrees or lower to have sufficient frost penetration of the ground. It then takes at least six days of applying water to have ice thick enough to skate upon, and a warm spell and significant snowfall will disrupt the ice-making process.

Traditionally, the latest dates skating takes place is in mid-February. For a recorded message regarding outdoor ice rink conditions, please call 847/859-7822, ext. 8.

Sledding

James Park is located at Dodge Ave. at Mulford St. James Park regulations are as follows:

Small and Intermediate Hill Regulations- Sledding is at the user's own risk. No tobogganing, skiing, or snowboarding is permitted. Users assume full responsibility for determining if conditions are safe for sledding. Adults are responsible for supervising children in their care.

Large Hill Regulations- No sledding, tobogganing, skiing or snowboarding are permitted. No trespassing when signs are posted. If you have questions, please call 847/866-2900.

A member of the Lyric Opera's award-winning Education Corps will entertain and educate with a lecture and musical highlights from The Girl of the Golden West on Friday, January 27th, at 11 a.m. Giacomo Puccini was fascinated by the American West, and California during the Gold Rush; he found it the perfect setting for the adventures of one of his most memorable leading ladies. In The Girl of the Golden West there is a handsome outlaw in disguise, a sheriff in hot pursuit, and a garter-snapping, pistol-packing, poker-playing heroine who knows when to hold 'em and when to fold 'em to save the man she loves.

Called to the Challenge: The Legacy of Harold Washington

Ongoing

Harold Washington Exhibit Hall, 9th Fl.

This exhibit highlights three themes from Washington's personal and political legacy – his life, his image and his work. Harold Washington, 42nd mayor of Chicago, was the city's first African American mayor. He was a reformer who changed Chicago politics and a person who never lost sight of the place from which he came and the influences that inspired him. This exhibition is drawn largely from the Harold Washington Archives & Collections of the Special Collections & Preservation Division of the Chicago Public Library.

The Chicago Public Library continues to encourage lifelong learning by welcoming all people and offering equal access to information, entertainment and knowledge through materials, programs and cutting-edge technology.

Chicago Public Library Services in High Demand in 2010

The increasing demand for library materials and services continued unabated in 2010. As more Chicagoans felt the effects of the economic downturn this year, they continued to turn to their neighborhood libraries for free access to computers, books, movies, music, programs, information and entertainment. Thanks to the continued support of Mayor Daley and the City Council, the Chicago Public Library was able to maintain its services at the levels Chicagoans depend upon. "Chicago has been fortunate to avoid the situation faced by most cities in recent years – that of library budget cuts and reduced services," said Library Commissioner Mary Dempsey. "We are grateful that in Chicago we are able to fulfill our mission to preserve and enhance the freedom of all Chicagoans to read, to learn and to discover."

All 76 CPL locations continue to be stocked with the latest books, magazines, on-line databases, free WiFi and speedy Internet access through new and upgraded computers. And Chicagoans clearly know this: more than 1 million patrons visit a Chicago Public Library location each month to use computers; seek reference assistance; check out a book, audio book, DVD or video; attend a technology class; read in a quiet setting; participate in programs; and view exhibits. During the first 11 months of 2010, CPL circulated more than 8.8 million items - books, CDs, DVDs and downloadable media - and provided more than 2.8 million free computer sessions to the public.

Help for Job Searchers As layoffs touched the lives of more Chicagoans in 2010, CPL librarians and CyberNavigators reported that more than 60% of the time they spent with patrons was devoted to searching and applying for jobs on the Library's free computers. To aid in those searches, CPL staff developed an "Especially for Job Searchers" section of the Library's website (www.chipublib.org), a virtual self-guided career counselor with advice on finding job openings, writing a resume, developing interviewing skills, and such. In 2010, thousands of Chicagoans attended free financial literacy programs to learn how to better manage their finances, save for college, avoid foreclosure or prepare for retirement.

New Branches Working in cooperation with the Department of General Services, the Library opened the new West Town Branch at 1625 W. Chicago Ave. in September. In its first month of operation, this branch circulated 10,000 items. Thanks to a partnership with the Chicago Board of Education and the Chicago Housing Authority, the new Altgeld Branch opened in November, replacing the former branch which was forced to relocate due to building deterioration. Working in cooperation with the Public Building Commission, construction is nearing completion on new branch libraries in the Dunning, West Humboldt Park, Greater Grand Crossing and Little Village neighborhoods. All projects are scheduled to open in 2011. These new state-of-the-art, fully equipped branch libraries will replace inadequate storefront facilities, or bring library services to neighborhoods which previously had none.

CPL 2010: The Library's Strategic Plan This year, the Library completed its current five year plan, CPL 2010 and prepared to begin its next strategic planning process in January 2011. This planning process challenges CPL to create and maintain a library system that enhances the lives of the people of Chicago while also providing state-of-the-art and visionary library services that will ensure Chicago a primary place in the global economy.

Technology Working with the City's Department of Innovation and Technology, in 2010 the Chicago Public Library successfully applied for the competitive federal technology grant awarded through the Broadband Technology Opportunities Program (BTOP). The components of the 2 BTOP grants enable the Library to expand online information access to patrons with balanced and reduced waiting times by adding additional computers and learning opportunities at all library locations.

All CPL locations will receive at least 2 ADA accessible computers, additional desktop computers and any location which does not currently have laptop computers for public use will receive 4 laptops;

A Computer Commons area, comprised of more than 140 computers each, will be created at both the Woodson and Sulzer Regional Libraries to meet the needs of patrons. This addition will nearly triple the number of computers presently at each regional library.

YOUmedia, the Library's innovative digital learning space for teens, will be expanded to the Thurgood Marshall (Englewood), Rudy Lozano (Pilsen) and the new Richard M. Daley (West Humboldt Park) branch libraries. YOUmedia in the neighborhood locations will serve both middle school and high school youth.

This new technology enhances the approximately 3800 public access computers systemwide, and free WiFi currently in operation at all library locations. Trained CyberNavigators or technology tutors work 20 hours each week in branch libraries.

For many years the Chicago Public Library has promoted digital excellence and access for all Chicagoans. Thanks to the Library's free computers, tens of thousands of Chicagoans are able to conduct research via online databases or the Internet, and seek essential human services that are increasingly only available to those with access to technology. From January through November this year, all locations of the Library provided 2.8 million (an average of more than 254,000 per month) free Internet sessions to the public. An average of 41,000 patrons per month access the Library's free WiFi system with their personal laptops or with laptops checked out for in-library use, a 20% increase over the same period last year.

Downloadable ebooks, audiobooks, music and video continued to be increasingly popular in 2010. 115,077 items were checked out, via downloads from the Library's website, www.chipublib.org, an increase of 38% from 2009.

Everyone Needs a Periodic Checkup

Chester M. Przybylo

Even the healthiest person needs a periodic medical checkup. Similarly, even the best estate plan needs periodic review. Even if you are in peak health today, a few years later some things may have changed that require a revisiting of your treatment plan. Maybe your blood pressure needs medication. Maybe you have high cholesterol, which is capable of being controlled with adjustments to diet or medication.

Like your health, your estate plan needs a periodic checkup. Here are some factors which might lead to a change in your estate plan.

Changes in the Law

In health, the laws of physics and chemistry do not change. However, changes in the law, both small and large, may have a large impact on your estate plan. For example, tax laws change frequently and your plan may need to be revised to minimize your tax liability. Non-tax laws also change periodically, opening the doors to new opportunities that were not available when your estate plan was drafted.

Changes in Your Life

Just as with your health, circumstances change. Maybe you had changes in your family circumstances, like marriage, divorce, or the birth of children or grandchildren. Perhaps someone in your family has had health or financial changes that should be reflected in your plan.

Changes in Desires

Even if there are no changes in the law or your life, sometimes we simply change our minds. As we age, hopefully we gain wisdom and experience. Sometimes that leads us to change our estate plan. For example, if a close friend of yours goes through a messy divorce, you may be more inclined to leave assets for your children in a trust that provides protection in the (hopefully unlikely) event of their divorce.

If you already have an estate plan in place, be sure to schedule an appointment with your estate planning attorney for a periodic review. There may be new factors and laws to consider of which you are unaware. And, just as with your health, if you notice important changes in circumstances, you should be sure to schedule that review sooner, rather than later.

If you are just starting out and do not have an estate plan, or you have moved to a new state, be sure to find a qualified estate planning attorney, who focuses his or her practice in estate planning.

Chester M. Przybylo has been elected to the Board of Governors of the prestigious American Academy of Estate Planning Attorneys and has been engaged in the practice of law for the last 40 years. MEDICARE: GENERAL ENROLLMENT AND GENERAL INFORMATION

By Andrew Salata, Social Security Public Affairs

Need Medicare Part B? If you're eligible, now is the time to sign up. The general enrollment period for Medicare Part B runs from January 1 through March 31. Before you make a decision about general enrollment, let us fill you in on some general information.

Medicare is a medical insurance program for retired and disabled people. Some people are covered only by one type of Medicare; others opt to pay extra for more coverage. Understanding Medicare can save you money; here are the facts.

There are four parts to Medicare: Parts A, B, C and D. Part A helps pay for inpatient hospital care, skilled nursing care, hospice care, and other services. Part B helps pay for doctors' fees, outpatient hospital visits, and other medical services and supplies not covered by Part A. Part C allows you to choose to receive all of your health care services through a provider organization. These plans, known as Medicare Advantage Plans, may help lower your costs of receiving medical services, or you may get extra benefits for an additional monthly fee. You must have both Parts A and B to enroll in Part C. And Part D is the Medicare Prescription Drug Program.

Most people first become eligible for Medicare at age 65, and there is a monthly premium for Medicare Part B. In 2011, the standard premium is $115.40. Some high-income individuals pay more than the standard premium. Your Part B premium also can be higher if you do not enroll during your initial enrollment period, or when you first become eligible.

There are exceptions to this rule. For example, you can delay your Medicare Part B enrollment without having to pay higher premiums if you are covered under a group health plan based on your own current employment or the current employment of any family member. If this situation applies to you, you can sign up for Medicare Part B without paying higher premiums:

- Any month you are under a group health plan based on your own current employment or the current employment of any family member; or
- Within eight months after your employment or group health plan coverage ends, whichever comes first.

If you are disabled and working (or you have coverage from a working family member), the same rules apply.

Remember: Most people are automatically enrolled in Medicare Part B when they become eligible. If you don't enroll in Medicare Part B when you first become eligible to apply and you don't fit into one of the above categories, you'll have to wait until the general enrollment period, which is January 1 through March 31 of each year. At that time, you may have to pay a higher Medicare Part B premium.

For more information about Medicare Parts A, B, C, and D, visit the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) website at www.medicare.gov. Or read our publication on Medicare at www.socialsecurity.gov/pubs/10043.html.

Bosley Bad Bones

Happy New Year My furry friends! I hope that everyone has recovered from the craziness of the Howlidays! Was Santa Paws good to everyone? If not, maybe you should work on begin a better pooch this year; just a friendly suggestion!

Barking about being better, I have a bone to pick with my Human. Last year my pack and I were on our best behavior, we truly put up with a lot from he!. With her new business venture she put us last. Being the understanding pooch that I am, I know why; she tells us how she is making a better life for us; but enough already!

I was participating in agility classes and love it. I miss the class and my furry friends! I have been good and pawtient so we should go back, right? So, I have a plan in mind! Since being good isn't working, here comes Bosley Bad Bones! I am going to show her; so I have devised a plan! What drives my human mad is stealing food from the counters. She has worked hard teaching us that the counters are off limits. So, this will show her! I will wait and steal something good!

Wait a minute! She is packing the agility bag! What is going on I wonder? Then she tells, "Well, guys next week we are finally going back to class!" Woof! Woof! I am so excited and now I don't have to be bad! However, I will keep that idea just in case because you never know when your Human needs a lesson!

Bosley Bad Bones (my alter ego)

Submitted by Bosley's mom, Nicole Carfora, CMG, owner of Canine Corral.

Skokie Pet Owner's Etiquette

The Village of Skokie would like to remind all pet owners to clean up after their animals and deposit any animal waste in an appropriate refuse receptacle. If a person is caught not properly cleaning up after their dog, the Village can issue a citation in the amount of $50 for the first offense. Repeated offenses could result in fines ranging from $100 for the second offense and upwards of $750 for multiple offenses. Proper disposal of animal waste will not only assist the Village in keeping alleyways and sewer inlets clean, but also will reduce rodent infestation.

Please use the following pet etiquette:

Always clean up after your dog.

Do not allow a dog's barking to disturb neighbors.

Observe leash laws and do not allow dogs to run loose and/or cats to roam off your property.

Spay or neuter your cat or dog.

Do not allow the dog to fight at the fence with neighbor's dogs.

Always make sure your dog's vaccinations are up to date.

Good pet-owner etiquette not only helps neighborly relations, it also can benefit the pets. For more information on pet owner's etiquette and being a good pet owner, please contact the Skokie Health Department's Animal Control Division at 847/933-8484.

Jackson is quite a character! This 1-year old Rat Terrier mix loves people and is loaded with personality. He's a cute little guy having wonderful markings and great big cute ears that make him look absolutely adorable! Jackson came to the shelter when someone in his family became allergic and he had to give given up. He is a little overweight for his size, but with a lite diet and plenty of long walks and exercise, Jackson will be fit and trim in no time! He has some mild tartar, but nothing that a dental cleaning won't take care of. We have been told that Jackson is already housetrained so bringing him home should be a smooth transition for this sweet boy. A great addition to almost any family, Jackson would love the chance to meet you! Small enough for a condo or apartment, Jackson would be great company and an even better friend! Hurry on over to The Anti-Cruelty Society and ask to meet Jackson, #12050264. Jackson is ready to go home with you today!

Once you meet Camila, you'll wonder where she's been all your life! This beautiful girl is 9 years old and is as lovely as they come. Camila is a very pretty black and white kitty who has the cutest little nose that almost appears to have a little heart at the tip! Most times you visit, you'll find Camila lounging in her favorite cat bed as if she's just waiting for all her admirers to arrive!! Camila came to the shelter when her owner was moving and couldn't take her along. It's so very sad that Camila lost her home after so many years, but we are so very glad she's made her way to us! Camila is curious and fun, and loved batting around a fun kitty toy during our photo shoot. She loves soft pets and chin scratches, and will be a great new feline addition to almost any family. Our vets checked Camila out and the only thing noted was that she'll need a dental cleaning down the road -- but that's it, she's otherwise in tip-top shape! Camila deserves to have a forever home where she can spend her days taking long cat naps in the sun and her nights cuddling with you. Stop on by The Anti-Cruelty Society and ask to meet Camila, #11576745. She's patiently awaiting your arrival and she's ready to go to her new home today!

The Chicago Transit Authority (CTA) is proposing to make improvements, subject to the availability of funding, to the North Red and Purple Lines. The improvements are proposed in order to bring the existing transit stations, track systems and structures into a state of good repair from the track structure immediately north of Belmont station to the Linden terminal (9.5 miles). This project is one part of CTA's effort to extend and enhance the entire Red Line.

We want to hear from you!

Attend one of the public scoping meetings to learn more about the project and provide feedback on the proposed alternatives, the purpose and need for the project and the environmental and community impacts to be evaluated. The input will help define the environmental studies to be considered in the Tier 1 Draft Environmental Impact Statement (EIS).
