COMMON SENSE

A House Divided

A house divided will fall - a prediction by a great American. We as a Country are close to reaching this point.

There are, of course, right ways and wrong ways to approach this looming event. There are some people who will always, and only, back their political party. These people should be ashamed to enter the voting booth.

Politicians have a poor reputation for the most part. If our elected officials, at all levels, cut some of their salaries, perks, benefits and expenses by a small percentage, it would send a message to the voters that they care about them and are aware of the dire circumstances in which we all find ourselves.

President Obama said at his latest news conference that the politicians have spent monies they did not have to spend, while at the same time proposing raising the debt ceiling to cover their hubris. As he put it, it's like going on vacation without the money you need to afford it with the promise of paying it back later.

I will edit this statement slightly to say it's like having our "Uncle Jim" go on vacation and then sending us the bill. The least our politicians can do is to try holding "Uncle Jim" accountable for his own expenditures. Then maybe all of us will be able to afford a vacation again sometime in the future.

City Vehicle Sticker Deadline Is Here: Stickers Expire June 30, Enforcement Begins July 16

The deadline for purchasing and displaying the 2011 - 2012 city vehicle stickers is quickly approaching. Current stickers expire on June 30, with a two week grace period to purchase and display the new sticker extending to July 15. Failure to purchase and display the new vehicle city sticker by July 16 could result in a $120 ticket and a purchasing late fee.

"I want residents to avoid late fees and the possibility of getting a ticket for not purchasing a city sticker. We have hundreds of locations where stickers can be purchased," said Clerk Mendoza. "The fastest, easiest way to buy a city sticker is online. Orders placed before July 4 will be processed and mailed in time to receive and display the sticker before the July 15 deadline."

Vehicle sticker and residential parking permit prices remain unchanged from last year. The cost of a passenger vehicle sticker is $75 and larger passenger vehicle stickers are $120. Senior citizens, age 65 and older, are eligible to receive one vehicle sticker for $30. Annual residential zone parking is $25 and residential zone daily guest passes are $8 for 15 passes.

EPL Baby Falcons Receive Their New Names

Recently at the Evanston Public Library, scientists from Chicago's Field Museum of Natural History, the Shedd Aquarium and the Brookfield Zoo banded four baby peregrine falcons, three boys and one girl. They are the eighth batch of baby falcons to be born at the library. About 150 residents, bird watchers and elementary students were in the audience to view this spectacular event.

The library had a ballot (both on-line and paper) with seven male and seven female names asking folks to pick their top four. Squawker and Nona's (the parent peregrine falcons) latest hatchlings are named:

Wilbur – named after Wilbur, the runt pig in E.B. White's Charlotte's Web. The runt of the litter, Wilbur is saved from a terrible fate by his friend Charlotte the spider.

Lincoln – named after Abraham Lincoln, born in Illinois and our 16th president. He led the nation through Civil War and brought an end to slavery in the United States.

Dewey – named after Melvil Dewey, American librarian and reformer. Dewey established the Dewey decimal system of classifying books and played a prominent role in developing professional institutions for librarians.

Rosalind – the central character of Shakespeare's As You Like It. Some critics call Rosalind one of the most complex, fully realized Shakespearean characters. As an added bonus, there is a falcon reference in As You Like It (Act 3, Scene 3 - Touchstone: "As the ox hath his bow, sir, the horse his curb and the falcon her bells, so man hath his desires; and as pigeons bill, so wedlock would be nibbling").

The scientists also took blood samples for DNA tracking purposes along with feather samples. When they were finished, the fledglings were successfully returned to their nest.

"For the past several years, a pair of peregrine falcons has nested on one of the columns along the south side of the library and at least one baby falcon has successfully fledged each year," explained Evanston Public Library Director Mary Johns. "While the nest cannot be viewed directly from either inside or outside the building, the library has set up a webcam which transmits a streaming live image for all to enjoy."

The peregrine falcon is a raptor, or bird of prey. Adults have blue-gray wings, dark brown backs, a buff colored underside with brown spots, and white faces with a black tear stripe on their cheeks. They have a hooked beaks and strong talons. Peregrine falcons are the fastest flying birds in the world – they are able to dive at 200 miles per hour and catch their prey in mid-air. There are an estimated 1,650 breeding pairs in the United States and Canada.

Peregrine Falcons have adapted to living in many cities and make use of tall buildings that provide suitable ledges for nesting and depend on the large populations of pigeons and starlings in cities for food. Peregrine falcons mate for life and breed in the same territory each year.

Evanston Reminds Dog Owners to Keep Their Pets on a Leash & Clean Up After Them

With the warmer weather now here, dog owners are more likely to take their pets out into the public. Residents are reminded that not only must their dogs be leashed (Ord 9-4-7 of the City Code), but they also are required under the law to pick-up after them (Ord 9-4-12). Nobody likes to step in dog waste!

City Code 9-4-7 requires that dogs must be leashed in public and they are not allowed to run loose in public parks or on the majority of the city's beaches. If you wish to allow your dog to run off leash, you may purchase an annual membership to Pooch Park or the Evanston Dog Beach.

City Code 9-4-12 requires dog owners to pick-up their dog's waste from public or private property and should have with them something with which to properly dispose of the waste. Dog waste can spread disease and it's bad for the environment. Dog feces may contain various organisms and parasites such as E. coli, tapeworm, and roundworm. They can all make people really sick. Small children are especially vulnerable so it's really important to clean it up! Get the rest of the scoop at <http://www.cityofevanston.org/news/2011/06/city-reminds-dog-owners-to-keep-their-pets-on-a-leash-clean-up-after-them/>

How To Protect Your Pet During Record Heat Wave

As temperatures reach towards 100 degrees today, pets are particularly at risk of a heat stroke. Pet owners need to know how to protect their pets and the warning signs their animals may be in danger.

Pedro Boria, DVM, MS, DACVIM, an internal medicine specialist with BluePearl Veterinary Partners in the North Shore area, advises pet owners, "Don't go outside in the heat of the day, keep your pets in an air-conditioned environment, and limit strenuous activities such as running and playing ball in the park. Always bring water with you when outside, take breaks during your walks and find shade wherever possible." Dr. Boria also shared that, "If your pet does get overheated, spray the animal down with room temperature water, not cold – and never ice water. The cold water or ice causes a decrease in blood flow to the skin and heat can't escape the body – which makes the heat exhaustion symptoms worse. We have seen this in patients coming into our emergency facility recently."

The emergency care team at BluePearl Veterinary Partners warns if your pet is overly lethargic, vomits several times, has severe diarrhea or brick red gums, these are signs of heat related distress. Cool the animal with room temperature water and consult your veterinarian right away. Dr. Boria adds, "If your pet is panting uncontrollably, becomes severely agitated or collapses, take the animal to your veterinarian or a veterinary emergency hospital immediately."

Pet owners are advised to carry water with them whenever they take their animal outside, stay in the shade, venture outdoors for short periods of time and limit strenuous exercise such as running. And a word of caution: never leave your pet in a locked car with the windows closed. If you have questions or think your pet may be suffering from symptoms of heat exhaustion, contact your veterinarian.

BluePearl Veterinary Partners is a referral-based hospital with 24-hour emergency care services dedicated to providing a superior level of patient and client care through close cooperation with the family veterinarian. BluePearl Veterinary Partners is open 24 hours a day, 365 days a year, and is located at 1810 Skokie Blvd., Northbrook, in the North Shore area.

Urban Wildlife Coalition:

Bird/Window Collisions – How You Can Help

More than five million birds representing upwards of 250 species are expected to pass through the Chicago area this spring, and May is a particularly busy month. A great time for bird-watching, but unfortunately, a bad time for bird collisions with windows.

Sometimes these stunned animals may appear to be dead, but are not. In fact, with timely treatment, more than 80% of these injured birds can be saved and released back to the wild! Urban Wildlife Coalition works closely with Flint Creek Wildlife Rehabilitation, a state- and federally-licensed facility dedicated to rehabilitating injured and orphaned wildlife.

Volunteers are needed to help transport injured animals to the rehabilitation center(s). A few hours one morning a week can save hundreds of birds. Training is provided. For more information, please visit www.flintcreekwildlife.org/volunteer.htm or phone 847-842-8000.

If you find an injured or orphaned bird:

First off, it is a myth that if you handle baby birds, the mother will reject them. Place the bird in a paper bag with a folded paper towel at the bottom. Secure the bag with a clip.

Place the bag in a dark, quiet location and phone the number above (enter this number into your cellular phone for quick emergency access)

Do not give the bird food, water, or try to provide medical care which may cause further injury. Sometimes our best intentions actually cause further injury to the bird.

Injured birds can be dropped off at Flint Creek's Northerly Island site (1400 S. Lynn White Drive, Chicago, IL 60605) between 8:30 and 10:30 a.m. daily. Directions are available on the website at www.flintcreekwildlife.org. Please call the number above first, so the rehabilitation team can prepare. Orphaned birds also are accepted between 8:30 and 10:30 a.m. daily, but it is necessary to call first so they are certain the bird requires treatment. Oftentimes, birds that appear to be orphaned may not necessarily be, and taking them from their parents can be detrimental.

*Urban Wildlife Coalition is a community-based organization founded to help preserve our treasured urban wildlife. For more information about urban animals and tips for living in harmony with them, visit www.urbanwildlifecoalition.org. Questions? # GREAT OUTDOORS

Snowballs in July?

By: Nick Urhausen, Urhausen Greenhouses

He popular perennial flowering shrub, known as the Hydrangea, begins blooming at the start of July. The blooms are either shaped like a large snowball, technically known as a mophead, or like a cone. White is the most popular color. This is why hydrangea flowers are sometimes called "snowballs"... they are white in color and shaped like a ball. However, there are some blue, pink, and red varieties available now which will survive our cold Chicagoland winters.

There are a few reasons why white is the most popular color. First, most of the old fashion varieties that are hardy in Chicago only came in white. Second, the new colorful hydrangeas often require an acidic soil, something we don't have in Chicago because our soil is quite alkaline. In some of the newer varieties like "Endless Summer" and "all Summer Beauty" acid in the soil changes the color of the flower from pink to blue. In the Chicagoland area, one must add sulfur to the soil to make it more acidic to produce more vibrant colors. These varieties seem to do best in the south-eastern part of America where the soil is naturally more acidic.

Hydrangeas can be divided into three size categories. First there are the 3' tall varieties. This size is the most popular. Second, there are the tall varieties that can easily grow to 6'. Third, there are the climbing hydrangeas which they say will grow to 85' tall. Personally, the climbing hydrangeas make a nice climbing plant, but I have never seen one anywhere near to 75' tall.

Hydrangeas prefer growing conditions which range from full sun to part shade. If the plant is in too much shade, then it will not bloom. In my experience, hydrangeas need at least half a day of sun to really bloom well. People might argue with me, but that has been my experience. Some even promote hydrangeas as shade plants and I just do not agree.

The flowers of hydrangeas can be picked in bloom and put in a vase with water. The flower heads can also be picked and allowed to dry out, and then used in dried flower arrangements. When fall approaches, some people leave the dried flower heads on the plant for interest in the garden during winter.

If you want to grow a hydrangea your best chance for success will be to grow one of the old fashion white varieties. I recommend the variety "Annabelle." This is a white, mophead or snowball type flowering variety which grows about 3' tall and 4' wide. "Annabelle" is very hardy during cold Chicagoland winters, and is very easy to grow. Unless you really want to exert a lot of time and effort growing a hydrangea, I do not recommend any of the newer blue and pink varieties. From talking to many gardeners, I have not heard many success stories. So, give yourself the best chance for success by growing an "Annabelle" hydrangea.

TAKE A WALK THROUGH THE WOODIES

22nd Annual Evanston Garden Walk, Sunday, July 10, 2011, 12 noon – 5 pm

After 22 years of sponsoring the Evanston Garden Walk, Keep Evanston Beautiful, Inc. (KEB), is still amazed to find so many new and wonderful gardens to feature. This year, there are seven glorious private gardens and two very different public gardens in locations all around Evanston, so transportation is required. (Bikes and carpooling are recommended.)

Of particular interest this year are some incredible collections of woody plants, including unique evergreens, many types, sizes and colors of deciduous trees, and wonderful flowering shrubs which make up the "bones" of an outstanding garden. One garden is the personal pallet of a retired horticultural writer for the Chicago Botanic Gardens; two surround historic houses near the lake, offering peaceful respite from the hubbub of downtown Evanston, with fantastic container gardens, raised organic vegetable beds, and a wealth of perennials suited to the charming architecture.

Another landscape is the passion of a gardener who "gardens in my head when I go to bed." She has created a designated wildlife preserve as well as a beautiful garden retreat. For those seeking something to soothe their psyche, we offer a Zen garden dotted with treasures from the owners' travels and fun finds at the flea market. There's also a garden created by two artists with a passion for plants, and a perennial garden with layers and levels of beauty in front, and a deep back garden full of surprises. Unusual annuals and perennials, water features and garden art abound on this year's walk.

The two public gardens include an interactive garden behind a senior living facility in downtown Evanston, where residents can get their hands dirty, and a recently renovated public park where local residents united with the local fire department to raise funds and get it done. At the park during the walk, members of the Herb Society of America (Northern Illinois Unit) will answer questions about growing and using culinary herbs, and will serve lavender lemonade and other refreshments.

Most of the private gardens are either designed or planted by the homeowners themselves, though professionals help with hardscape, maintenance and some of the design. This is a wonderful opportunity to see some amazing gardens, and talk to the gardeners/homeowners. Visitors are encouraged to bring your notebook and camera, because you will be inspired!

Tickets for the walk are available on-line at www.evanstonkeb.org, where you can also find a list of local retailers who are selling the tickets through July 9th. Or you can stop by the KEB office in the Evanston Ecology Center, 2024 McCormick Blvd. Tickets will also be available on July 9th at the Evanston Farmer's market in the Friends Tent. Advance purchase tickets for KEB members are $10, non-member tickets are $20.

NEW THIS YEAR: Group Rates, $15 for orders of 6 or more tickets paid for by one person. On the day of the walk, tickets are available at the Evanston Ecology Center only, 11 am to 4 pm, $15 for KEB members, $25 for non-members. Attendees will receive a map of garden locations and a booklet describing the gardens.

All proceeds from the event fund environmental education projects in Evanston and Evanston/Skokie schools, as well as promoting community cooperation in a variety of anti-litter and recycling-related programs.

For more information, contact the KEB office at 847-448-8256 x105 or via email at evanstonkeb@sbcglobal.net.

CHICAGO PUBLIC LIBRARY FEATURES EXHIBITION OF CIVIL WAR ARTIFACTS

The most devastating war fought on American soil was the Civil War. The divisive, bloody armed conflict involved 11 Southern slave states or "the Confederacy," against 20 Northern free states known as "the Union."

As a tribute to the 150th anniversary of the Civil War, as well as the soldiers who fought as part of the Union, the Chicago Public Library Special Collections & Preservation Division presents In Service to the Union: Civil War Artifacts, an exhibition of vintage Civil War artifacts that can be viewed in person and online. The exhibit is currently on display through July 27, 2011, in the 9th floor Special Collections Hall at the Harold Washington Library Center, 400 S. State St.

Some of the highlighted items in the In Service to the Union: Civil War Artifacts exhibit include:

- Swords carried by Union field and cavalry officers
- George Armstrong Custer's non-regulation hat
- The saddle Lt. Gen. Ulysses S. Grant's used at the Battle of Wilderness and the Appomattox Campaign
- An artillery jacket worn by Pvt. John Stagg, who served in the Chicago Board of Trade Battery
- A bugle and pennant from the Chicago Board of Trade Battery
- A drum from the 65th Illinois Volunteer Regiment
- A Colt .56 caliber single shot musket
- Hardtack biscuits—a staple in the Union soldiers diet
- A spoon-knife-fork set, pocket chess board, rollaway sewing kit, and a collection of dated posters, medals and other Civil War items

Many of these exhibit items, taken from the Library's Grand Army of the Republic and Civil War Collections, have been in the collection for nearly 100 years. The Grand Army of the Republic was a Union veteran's organization.

To make these Civil War artifacts available to a world-wide audience, the Library has mounted detailed photographs of the artifacts on its website. The online images are part of the Wayne Whalen Digital Archive of the Grand Army of the Republic and Civil War Collections. These dramatic photographs include details not visible in the exhibit hall, such as close-ups of maker's marks and fish skin grips on the swords. The digital archive is made possible by generous gifts to the Chicago Public Library Foundation by the partners of Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom LLP in honor of Wayne Whalen.

Evanston Library Director Johns Resigns

Evanston Library Director Mary Johns has submitted her resignation effective July 15, 2011. Ms. Johns has been appointed Library Director of the Siouxland Libraries in Sioux Falls, South Dakota, a joint library system of the City of Sioux Falls and Minnehaha County, South Dakota. City Manager Wally Bobkiewicz has appointed Lesley Williams to serve as Acting Library Director beginning July 16 until an Interim Library Director is selected. Williams is currently the Adult Services Manager of the Evanston Public Library.

"Mary Johns has served as Library Director during a complex period in the history of the Evanston Public Library. The Library has been through difficult budget and governance challenges while seeing a rebirth of active community support for its services. Through all of these demanding times, Mary has remained focused on providing the best possible service to library patrons and supporting the talented staff of the library. Mary's dedication to serving the residents of Evanston will be missed," said Bobkiewicz. Ms. Johns has served as Evanston Library Director since February, 2008. Prior to her arrival in Evanston, Johns was Assistant Library Director in Lincoln, Nebraska and served in similar capacities in Maricopa County and Chandler, Arizona.

Bobkiewicz expects that an Interim Library Director will be appointed by September 1, 2011.

EDGEBROOK BRANCH
5331 W. Devon Avenue (312) 744-8313

The Devon Street Beggars, formerly known as the Edgebrook Sherlockians, discuss a different Sir Arthur Conan Doyle story every other month at Chicago Public Library's Edgebrook Branch at 5331 W. Devon Avenue. Led by Edgebrook resident Nicholas J. De Leonardis, an avid collector of Sherlockian memorabilia, the group investigates, in entertaining detail, the wonderful world of Sherlock Holmes and Doctor Watson. On Wednesday, July 6 at 6:30 p.m., they discuss 'The Musgrave Ritual' which appears in The Memoirs of Sherlock Holmes. Unlike the majority of Holmes stories, the main narrator is not Doctor Watson, but Sherlock Holmes himself. Watson provides an introduction and then the story-within-a story proceeds – one of the earliest recorded cases investigated by Holmes, and it establishes his problem solving skills. For more information please telephone the library at 312-744-8313.

Evanston Library Set to Kick-off Two Summer Reading Programs for Kids

Expanded Summer Reading Game Registration Has Begun

Every summer for almost 40 years, the Evanston Public Library's Summer Reading Game keeps kids reading through the summer months. Children who stop reading often fall behind while those who are encouraged to read more have a head start when they return to school in September.

Registration has begun for this year's Game - Take Flight, inspired by the peregrine falcons that are nesting in the window boxes of the third floor of the Main Library in downtown Evanston. Children can begin recording their reading as soon as they register. Prizes will be awarded for reading nine total hours and for weekly visits. The game will run from June 13-July 30.

The 2011 Summer Reading Game can be played at all six sites in English and Spanish. This year, every child's reading record is available to librarians at every site, so s/he can play at any or all of the sites listed below.

The theme of the teen summer reading program is A Midsummer Loft's Dream. Middle schoolers and teens can visit www.epl.org/teens to find a variety of activities throughout the summer and a suggested reading list. Evanston teens will be facilitating book discussions in the Loft and at other locations in Evanston, as well.

EPL's ultimate goal is to make the Summer Reading Game an exciting part of every child's summer throughout the city. In recent years, the Library has increased its registrations to the program by over 200 children per year by partnering with Evanston's schools. Neighborhood Services Librarians are currently visiting all District 65 schools as well as most Evanston private schools for Summer Reading Game assemblies to get the word out about the program.

For more information about EPL's Summer Reading Game, call the Children's Department at 847/448-8610. Information on volunteering at Summer Reading

Game sites is available at www.cityofevanston.org/resident/volunteer.

To find out more about supporting the Summer Reading Game, contact Library Administration at 847/448-8650 or go to www.epl.org/comment. A gift of $10 will sponsor one child's reading game for a full summer.

Fireworks Safety Reminds

The Skokie Police Department reminds the public that most fireworks are illegal and individuals who use them risk being cited or arrested and of course injured.

The only fireworks considered legal to possess by an individual not licensed to handle them include smoke or glow-worm pellets, smoke devices, sparklers, noise-makers known as 'party poppers,' 'snappers' or paper caps.

Even though sparklers are legal, they are dangerous, especially in the hands of young children.

Sparklers can heat up to a core temperature of 1800 degrees Fahrenheit. This temperature is hot enough to melt some precious metals and third-degree burns can result at 220 degrees Fahrenheit. The Skokie Police Department strongly recommends against purchasing these items and suggests leaving all fireworks to professionals.

The Skokie Police will be on the lookout for illegal use of fireworks and will take the appropriate enforcement action.

Each year numerous calls are received about illegal fireworks being set off, and sometimes, the Fire Department must be called out to extinguish a fire started by fireworks.

On Monday, July 4, 2011, shortly after dusk, the Village of Skokie will co-host a 3-D fireworks display at Niles West High School, 5701 Oakton, Skokie.

For more information please contact the Skokie Police Department at 847/982-5919.

Drive Now. Text Later - Raise Awareness of the Dangers of Texting While Driving

The Illinois Tollway, Illinois Department of Transportation, Illinois State Police, Illinois Secretary of State and AAA Chicago has issued a new campaign entitled "Drive Now. Text Later."

The Village of Skokie would like to remind residents that it is illegal to text while driving. The State law prohibits sending or reading text messages while driving in Illinois.

Nationally, nearly 5,500 people died in 2009 in distracted driving-related crashes and another nearly half a million people were injured. Distraction-related fatalities represented 16 percent of overall traffic fatalities in 2009 – the same percentage as in 2008.

Tips to avoid distracted driving:

- Put your cell phone out of sight and out of reach when you get in the car.
- Display a "Drive Now. Text Later." window decal and remind yourself and others to stop texting while driving. Which can be ordered from the Illinois Tollway website www.illinoistollway.com
- Pull over to a safe location to use a cell phone.
- If you must answer the phone, use a hands-free device.
- Do not send or read text messages while driving.
- Blackberry users: When in the car, set up a "driving" profile on your smart phone, to silence alerts and the phone.

To listen to the radio, use the volume and station buttons on the steering wheel, instead of reaching for the center console.

For more information about this campaign and how to avoid distracted driving, please visit www.illinoistollway.com.

Bike Pilot Program Kicks-off in Evanston Business Areas

The City of Evanston has kicked-off a pilot program designed to increase public safety and reduce conflicts between pedestrians and bicyclists and between motorists and bicyclists. The project is called Walk Bikes on Sidewalk, Ride Bikes on Street Pilot Project. The Chicago Avenue business district corridor between Clark Street and Davis Street in downtown Evanston has been chosen as the pilot area. The program includes sidewalk stencils at curb ramps, posters for shops and police education efforts.

"The City's Walk Bikes on Sidewalk, Ride Bikes on Street Pilot Project is a positive, economical way to promote bike safety in downtown Evanston," said First Ward Alderman Judy Fiske. "Cyclists are reminded to be good neighbors by recognizing the hazards they create for business patrons and pedestrians when they ride on the sidewalk. We want to keep everyone using our downtown safe, and this plan is designed be a win for both."

“A Theater Review”

“Broadway Bound”
Drury Lane Oakbrook Terrace Theatre
100 Drury Lane Road
Oakbrook Terrace, Illinois

Reviewed by Richard Allen Eisenhardt

The Drury Lane Theatre normally does five musicals every season. The last few years due to the high cost of musicals it has cut back to four and has added one non-musical to its season.

If you are a subscriber or selecting a play to see I encourage you to see their production of “Broadway Bound” by the comedy genius of playwright Neil Simon.

David New is the director of the show and can be proud of what you will see on stage. He has assembled a strong cast that includes three strong veteran stage actors.

Carmen Roman plays Kate the mother and Paula Scrofano is Blanche, the aunt who is wealthy while the family is middle class. Mike Nussbaum is Ben, father of Kate. Mr. Nussbaum is a Chicago actor who is ageless at 87 years old. He gives a memorable performance and has performed not only all over the world, but on Broadway, film and television. He is a remarkable actor.

New has discovered two fresh young talents for the roles of Eugene the Alter Ego of Mr. Simon and is played by Max Polski. I promise you’ll be hearing a lot from him as well as his older brother Stanley played by Jason Karasev.

The other actor in this production is Richard McWilliams as Jack who is the boys’ father who we find to be troubled and a very unhappy person. He has been married to Kate for thirty-three years and we see him walk out on his family.

The scenic design by Collette Pollard will amaze you. She and her assistant Sally A. Weiss give audiences an amazing set.

Simon has written two other shows in his trilogy that includes “Brighton Street Memoirs” and “Biloxi Blues.” This is the final as the brothers start out writing for radio and television with sketch comedies before Broadway and Hollywood discover their talent.

Simon has a knack for writing comedy and believes even that God has a sense of humor.

The show is loaded with one-line zingers and you’ll come out with a good feeling.

“Broadway Bound” runs through July 31st. The show runs two and a half hours. For show days, times and reservations call 630-530-0111. Tickets are $35 - $46. Ample free parking.

Fleetwood-Jourdain Theatre Announces Summer 2011 Season

Five Guys Named Moe and From The Mississippi Delta will be Fleetwood-Jourdain Theatre’s mainstage productions in June and July, followed by three dramatic readings in August. All shows will be performed at the Theatre at Noyes Cultural Arts Center, 927 Noyes St., Evanston.

The 2011 season kicks off with Five Guys Named Moe. This Tony-nominated musical features the whimsical hit songs of Louis Jordan, one of the most beloved songwriting talents of the Twentieth Century. Jordan, a great composer and saxophonist, had more than 50 top-ten singles on the rhythm and blues charts. He brought a popular new slant to jazz that paved the way for the rock ‘n’ roll of the ‘50s. This show inspires the audience to laugh and shout; they may even dance in the aisles! Five Guys Named Moe will be presented at 7:00 p.m. on Saturdays and at 3:00 p.m. on Sundays, June 11 through June 26.

The musical director for Five Guys Named Moe is Tim Lenihan; the choreographer is Sean Blake. It will be directed by Tim Rhoze, Fleetwood-Jourdain Theatre’s Artistic Director; Rhoze also will serve as set designer and costume designer. Allie Miller is stage manager. The cast is Alexander Brown (Little Moe); Andrew White Jr. (Big Moe); George Hull (Eat Moe); Kappuchino (Four-Eyed Moe); James Perrin (No Moe) and Gerald Wilson (No Max).

In July, Fleetwood-Jourdain Theatre presents From the Mississippi Delta, an autobiographical work by Dr. Endesha Ida Mae Holland. The play traces her journey through poverty and abuse in the Jim Crow South, her role as an activist in the civil rights movement, academic achievement and triumph as a Pulitzer Prize-nominated playwright. This story of courage will be portrayed by three dynamic actresses playing all the characters – black and white, young and old, men and women – who will make her world come alive in an eloquently potent and impassioned journey filled with story and song.

From the Mississippi Delta will be directed by Tim Rhoze and presented at 7:00 p.m. on Saturdays and 3:00 p.m. on Sundays, July 9 through July 24. Tickets for both mainstage productions are $10 in advance or at the door.

The late-summer Dramatic Reading Series returns this year with one play featured per weekend at 7:00 p.m. on Saturday and 3:00 p.m. on Sunday at The Theatre at the Noyes Cultural Arts Center.

Merc’y Rising by Gloria Bond Clunie will be read on August 6 and 7; Selecting Memories by Tania Richard will be read on August 13 and 14; and Heat by Marsha Estell will be read on August 20 and 21. Admission is $5.00 in advance or at the door.

Fleetwood-Jourdain Theatre is a City of Evanston-supported program. Its mission is to present powerful, thought provoking, community-centered theater arts programming with a commitment to diversity and creative excellence. For more information, call (847) 448-8254 or (847) 448-8260.

DANK HAUS ANNOUNCES COMPLETE RENOVATION OF FAÇADE

First Floor Remodeling with Help of City SBIF Grant to Begin Soon

The DANK Haus German American Cultural Center was fortunate to be one of the Lincoln Square businesses to win the late 2010 lottery for a SBIF Grant from the City of Chicago.

This large-scale endeavor will begin as soon as June and will continue through fall, with the aim of revitalizing the appearance of the DANK Haus and the organization itself, along with several Lincoln Square businesses, including the Athenian Shoe Store and Becker Pharmacy, which are part of the building.

The remodeling might cost up to $250,000, 50% of which will be reimbursed through the SBIF Grant upon completion. Executive Director Nicholle Domrowski hopes that this project will ensure that the DANK Haus "goes from being a 'hidden gem' to the 'jewel of Western' for generations to come."

The balance will depend on fundraising efforts. Fundraising plans are underway and donations are accepted at any time and are tax deductible.

The SBIF Grant specifically uses local Tax Increment Financing (TIF) revenue to help businesses remodel their facades and is processed by SomerCor 504, Inc., a federally certified Small Business Administration lender. Eligible renovations include new windows, floors or roof, sign removal and replacement, and tuck pointing, among others.

The DANK Haus is a registered 501(c)3 with the mission of preserving and promoting German and German American culture, heritage, language, and the fine arts.

CHICAGO'S GREEK FEST....

"A TIME TO REMEMBER"

SCHEDULED FOR AUGUST 19, 20, 21

By Anastasia E. Weaver

Chicago has some of the best meteorologists around and even they sometimes miss the mark when there is a shift in the winds or the weather changes quickly, as it does in Chicago. While we cannot promise 90 degree weather blue skies and brilliant sunshine like in Greece or soft breezes coming off the Mediterranean, nor a view of the Acropolis to thrill the soul, we can promise an authentic Greek Festival with the wonderful smells of Greece, freshly marinated chickens and souvlakia on the grill and the perfect leg of lamb marinated with the best ingredients and wine. We can promise you the best home made Greek pastries created right here in our church building ovens with the freshest ingredients like Baklava, Galatobouriko, Diples dipped in honey and sprinkled with finely ground walnuts and of course our now famous Loukoumades made from scratch in front of your eyes and served with God's nectar - honey.

We can also promise you incomparable Greek and American music with a return visit by the John Linardakis Band, a delightful performance by our own youth preparing to dance to your delight in Greek costume. We can also promise you a memorable evening on the return of the Northside Band, who was planted right here at St. Demetrios where they got their start, bringing you the tunes of Rock n Roll Friday night all under the stars. Most of all, we can promise you the same warm Greek hospitality that you find on any trip to Greece and the sunny Mediterranean. We can promise your visit with us will help us continue building fond memories of the many years we have been doing this for our families and friends. We promise you some wonderful memories to take with you through the fast approaching fall and winter months. We continue to carry on the Festival idea brought to us by our parents and grandparents from their villages in every corner of Greece where every summer a Festival takes place. We still gather from every suburb and every part of the city of Chicago to eat, drink, dance and enjoy the fellowship of our families, friends, relatives and guests. Most of all we promise you this, whether it rains or shines, whatever comes our way, we are prepared to please you and add to the many memories we have gathered over these many years.

Mark your calendars and planners and join us Friday, Saturday and Sunday, August 19, 20, 21 at our annual Chicago's Greek Fest. We can be found just one block south of Foster and two blocks west of Lincoln in a quiet residential area and we will be easy to find with the sound of music and the wonderful smells some of our extraordinary cuisine cooking on the grills.

Our doors will be open from 5:00 to 11:00 p.m. Friday and Saturday and Sunday from Noon to Midnight, for your enjoyment. Admission is $2.00 for adults and children less than twelve are free. There will be plenty of activities for the entire family including a Kiddie Corner Classroom with fun things to make and do from 5:00 to 9:00 p.m. Saturday and Sunday nights, and rides, games and clown performances.

For further information contact the church office at 773-561-5992.

Edgewater Arts Festival Features Local and Nationally-Recognized Artists in Growing Arts Community Festival

Chicago's Edgewater community will come alive with artistic talent across a variety of mediums at the first-ever Edgewater Arts Festival on Saturday, July 16. The festival highlights the north side neighborhood as a growing and noteworthy artistic destination and one focused on cultivating Chicago's artistic talent.

More than 50 artists will be exhibiting and selling their work at the festival. Twenty five were chosen by a panel of local esteemed artists to participate in the juried show which will include original artwork in various media including photography, oil and acrylic paintings, sculpture, jewelry and watercolors.

"Our neighborhood is known for its antique malls, boutiques and historic homes, but Chicago's Edgewater neighborhood also has a distinct artistic community that is often under-recognized," said Jay Delaney, President & CEO of the Edgewater Chamber of Commerce. "The Edgewater Arts Festival helps showcase our vibrant arts culture and also the great atmosphere of this neighborhood right next to the lake. Last summer, several arts events took place in the neighborhood, and we have combined them this year into a single, larger event to guarantee that every artistic taste will find something to discover."

This year's festival, held rain or shine on July 16, is from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. The festival is just steps from Thorndale Beach and the glimmering Lake Michigan. The main entrance is at Broadway and Thorndale, right off the Thorndale Red Line El stop. An admission donation of $5 is requested for adults. Children age 10 and under are free.

The Edgewater Arts Festival features a juried selection of artists whose works include 2D and 3D mixed media, drawings, paintings, photography, printmaking and jewelry; a Showcase Exhibit where select artists will display exclusive fine art pieces; and a non-juried section for local artists displaying and selling their arts and crafts. Nearly 80 percent of the festival artists are local to Edgewater.

Part of this year's artistic lineup is live music and dance performances throughout the day. Highlights include singer/songwriter Lisa Lewis at 11:30 a.m., Cerqua Rivera Dance Theatre at 12:15 p.m., Chicago Spirit Brigade at 12:45 p.m., Piel Morena Contemporary Dance at 1:30 p.m., GI Alliance Dance Company at 2:15 p.m., Li'l Buds Theatre Youth Performance at 3:40 p.m., Tango Che at 4:05 p.m., and the Who Needs Dave Jazz Ensemble at 4:30 p.m. A complete entertainment schedule and list of artists participating in the festival can be found at www.edgewater.org/artsfest or on Facebook at www.facebook.com/edgewaterartsfestival.

The Edgewater Arts Festival is presented in partnership by the Edgewater Chamber of Commerce and the Edgewater Artists in Motion, a growing group of neighborhood artists dedicated to improving the community through artistic displays. Support for the festival is provided by Special Service Area #26.

CHICAGO ARTISTS' ARCHIVE ADDS ARTLETTER AND SIXTY INCHES FROM CENTER DOCUMENTS

Chicago Public Library announces the addition of two formidable visual art archives to its Chicago Artists' Archive: the complete and current chronicle of ArtLetter, created by art commentator and longtime Chicago art insider Paul Klein; and a comprehensive collection of interviews and commentary from the ongoing Sixty Inches from Center archive.

To spotlight the addition of these two critical contemporary records of the rich art worlds in Chicago, the Library's Visual & Performing Arts Division and Art Information Center presents a free program titled, Vanish? No! A Chicago Artists' Archive Recruitment Event that includes an open house of CPL's art archive, as well as an open invitation to Chicago area artists to donate materials to the Chicago Artists' Archive. The free event takes place on Thursday, June 30, from 5:30 to 7:00 p.m., in the 8th floor Art Reference Room at the Harold Washington Library Center, 400 S. State St.

Both ArtLetter and Sixty Inches from Center document the work of artists, galleries and curators in Chicago. ArtLetter began in 2004, and continues through the present day, while SIFC is a new venture that seeks to archive work as it happens in Chicago. At the Vanish? No! event, a wide range of gems from the Chicago Artists' Archive will be on view for discussion and perusal. In addition, documents from these archives will be on view in support of The Chicago Artists' Archive: Hidden Pages Brought to Light exhibition by artist Anne Hayden Stevens, currently on display through July 8 on the eighth floor of the Harold Washington Library Center.

Since the 1940s, the Art Information Center has kept records of visual artists living or working in the Chicago area. The Chicago Artists' Archive maintain records in the form of biographical information, artists' applications, artist statements, reproductions of artwork, exhibition catalogs, gallery announcements, reviews, and articles, among other things. All materials are accessible to the public at Chicago Public Library's Harold Washington Library Center. Chicago Public Library fields hundreds of inquiries a year about artists in the archive and the names of more than 10,000 artists names are listed, at <http://chicagoartistarchives.blogspot.com>.

Would you like to see your gallery, alternative space, critical writing or exhibitions archived for posterity? Contribute your documentation to the Chicago Artists' Archive! Please bring a piece of your history (show announcements, press releases, and artist statements) to the event for inclusion in the Chicago Artists' Archive.

The Chicago Public Library continues to encourage lifelong learning by welcoming all people and offering equal access to information, entertainment and knowledge through materials, programs and cutting-edge technology.

What's in a Word?

Chester M. Przybylo

We use words every day without much thought. Words can have different meaning in different contexts. Sometimes this “play on words” can give rise to humor. In fact, comedian George Carlin based his career on the subtleties in the usage of language. Carlin became famous for the “Seven Dirty Words” skit detailing the words that were prohibited in broadcast media. In fact, Carlin’s skit was the subject of a U.S. Supreme Court Case which clarified the boundary between free speech and obscenity. Carlin often pointed out apparent oxymorons like “jumbo shrimp” or “military intelligence.” George Carlin died recently, at age 71.

Like George Carlin, an attorney who focuses his or her practice in estate planning understands that subtleties in the language used can make a big difference. An example of the reason for the complexity of language in estate planning matters is the “Rule Against Perpetuities” which can invalidate a gift or other transfer in a Will or Trust if not done the right way. Relax, you do not need to try to figure out what “the Rule” is and how it applies. In fact, the rules involved in estate planning are so complex that a court found “. . . few, if any, areas of the law have been fraught with more confusion or concealed more traps for the unwary draftsman . . .”

If your daughter needed her appendix removed, would you read up online to perform the procedure yourself? Would you get out your knife and wet-stone and start sharpening? Would you take her to the dentist? Well, of course not. In fact, while the possibility is laughable; the reality would be tragic.

The same holds true in estate planning. Just as your daughter is relying on you to bring her to a good surgeon to remove her appendix, your children are also counting on you to plan your estate properly. Just as your daughter’s life could be at stake in the appendectomy, your children’s livelihood and well being could be at stake with the estate plan. A poorly drafted estate plan can wreak havoc on relationships, as well as assets. If you don’t plan your estate properly, it would be almost as obscene as George Carlin’s famous “Seven Dirty Words.”

A qualified estate planning attorney who focuses his or her practice in estate planning can ensure your wishes are carried out smoothly and effectively.

*Chester M. Przybylo has been elected to the Board of Governors of the prestigious American Academy of Estate Planning Attorneys and has been engaged in the practice of law for the last 40 years. ## SPEND SOME QUALITY TIME ON SOCIAL SECURITY’S WEBSITE

By Andrew Salata, Social Security Public Affairs Specialist

Summertime is here, and for many people that means vacation. Some of the best vacations are the ones that allow you to spend time with family who live far away.

If you’re planning to visit your kids and grandkids this summer, why not make the most of your time with them? You may know your way around a computer. But youngsters today who grew up on a computer can teach most of us some new tricks. And they’d probably be thrilled to share some online time with their grandparents. Ask them to pull out their tablet, iPad, or laptop and show you how to find your way around Social Security’s website, www.socialsecurity.gov.

Ask them to show you how to use www.socialsecurity.gov to avoid unneeded trips to a Social Security office. Have them show you our library of online publications containing all the information you might want to know on an array of Social Security, retirement, and Medicare subjects. The publications can be found at www.socialsecurity.gov/pubs/index.html. If you’re thinking about retirement, for example, you may want to check out When To Start Receiving Retirement Benefits at www.socialsecurity.gov/pubs/10147.html. (Unlike some libraries, there’s no due date to remember.)

That was easy! With the young ones helping you, you might as well go ahead and spend another 15 minutes to get the job done. No need to put on your shoes and sunglasses — you can apply online without having to leave your home. Visit www.socialsecurity.gov/applyonline where you can apply for retirement benefits in as little as 15 minutes. Once you click the “submit” button, you’re done; in most cases there are no forms to sign or documents to mail in.

Here’s a way to get the attention of the young ones: ask them about Facebook and Twitter. Once they’ve got you on Facebook, you’ll have a new way of connecting with them. Did you know Social Security is on Facebook and Twitter too? Just go to www.socialsecurity.gov and click the Facebook and Twitter icons on the main page.

Visiting your kids and grandchildren can be a lot of fun. Make it productive as well by asking the young whiz kid in your family about www.socialsecurity.gov.

Heat Emergency Information

Summer is here, and with this season comes the heat. The Skokie Health Department recommends the following during forecasted heat advisories:

- Use a buddy system to check in on family, neighbors and friends;
- Plan activities for the coolest times of the day (early morning and late afternoon);
- Reduce exertion and exercise in an effort to stay cool;
- Drink plenty of fluids;
- Wear light colored, loose fitting clothing outdoors;
- NEVER leave children or pets in a parked car;
- Protect your pets. Make sure your pet always has cool, clean water and a shaded area to rest if left outside;

Stay indoors and, if at all possible, stay in an air-conditioned place. If your home does not have air conditioning, go to the shopping mall or public library – even a few hours spent in air conditioning can help your body stay cooler when you go back into the heat; and

Electric fans may provide comfort, but when the temperature is in the high 90s, fans will not prevent heat-related illness. Taking a cool shower or bath, or moving to an air-conditioned place is a much better way to cool off.

The effects of extreme heat conditions on the human body are cumulative and can lead to variety of health complications, including heat exhaustion and heat stroke.

Those without air conditioning may visit the following public cooling centers in Skokie:

Illinois Department of Human Services, 8020 St. Louis Avenue, Skokie, Illinois 60077, 847/745-3200, Monday to Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Help America's National Forests: Join the Arbor Day Foundation in July And Have 10 Trees Planted in U.S. Forests

Nebraska City, Neb. – Forest land is one of America's most prized resources, and everyone can help plant needed trees in these vital areas simply by joining the Arbor Day Foundation.

Through its Replanting Our National Forests campaign, the Arbor Day Foundation will honor each new member who joins the Foundation in July by planting 10 trees in forests that have been devastated by wildfires, insects and disease. The cost to join the Arbor Day Foundation is a $10 donation.

The need to replant forests in the U.S. is great. Recent years of unprecedented wildfires has left a backlog of nearly 1 million acres that need replanting in National Forests. The Arbor Day Foundation has worked with the U.S. Forest Service for more than 20 years to plant trees in forests that have the greatest need.

It is essential to preserve forests because they produce oxygen, clean the air and are a source of abundant, clean and healthy drinking water for more than 180 million Americans.

"Keeping our forests vibrant is vital to the overall health of the Earth, and we can help simply by planting trees," said John Rosenow, chief executive and founder of the Arbor Day Foundation. "By planting trees in our forests, we can preserve these national treasures so they will continue to benefit Americans for generations to come."

To join the Arbor Day Foundation and help plant trees in our National Forests, send a $10 membership contribution to Replanting Our National Forests, Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Ave., Nebraska City, NE 68410, or go to arborday.org/july.

KOTA KAPAMA (CHICKEN IN TOMATO SAUCE)

This is a dish served in many parts of Greece, especially in Arcadia in the Peloponnese - to guests and a special menu on Sundays.

1 whole chicken cut into parts    ½ cup of Canola or Olive Oil
½ tsp. salt    ½ tsp. pepper
1-1/2 tsp of cinnamon

Sauce:

1 tbsp of drippings
1 tbsp of all-purpose flour
2-3 cups of water
1 cup of canned diced tomatoes (no salt added)
1 cup of tomato sauce (no salt added)
½ cup of dry white wine (optional)
1 whole cinnamon stick 6 whole cloves
½ tsp oregano    Juice of one lemon
2 tbsp of grated Kefalotyri cheese (found in Greek markets*) or Parmesan or Romano)

Cut the chicken in parts, wash and dry and then place in a bowl. Sprinkle with lemon juice, salt and pepper and 1-1/2 tsp. of cinnamon. Marinate for about 15 minutes. Heat oil in a Dutch Oven or large pot and saute the chicken until golden. Add the wine, cover and simmer for about 15 minutes. In the meantime prepare the sauce in another pan by mixing the flour with a little of the water to a paste consistency. Combine the rest of the ingredients but not the cheese. Cook the sauce on a low/ medium fire on top of the range for about 10 minutes stirring to combine. Add the sauce to the chicken and continue to cook another 20 to 25 minutes or until the chicken is well done.

Prepare the pasta Macaroni* or Spaghetti as directed by the pasta maker. Drain and place on a platter sprinkling the pasta with the grated Kefalotyri, Parmesan or Romano as desired. Place the Chicken and the Sauce into an appropriate serving dish along with the platter of pasta and present to your family and/or guests. Bon Appetite (Kali Orexi)

* Kefalotyri and Macaroni is sold at Northeastern Fruit Market, 6000 N. Lincoln, Chicago and at Market Place at 4817 North Oakton, Skokie, IL
