New Electricity Supplier Sends Conflicting Letters Regarding Changeover

Verde Energy USA ("Verde"), the City of Evanston's new electricity supplier, mailed letters to residents and small businesses on Thursday, May 30 with instructions for opting in or out of the program. Despite what any letter may have said, Evanston residents and small businesses who are current Constellation customers will be switched to Verde automatically and do not need to opt into or sign up for the service.

Unfortunately, some of those customers received two letters. The first letter explained that they would be switched to Verde unless they decided to opt out by June 20. The second letter was supposed to be mailed only to customers not currently enrolled in the city's aggregation program and provided instructions about opting into the service.

Verde has told the City of Evanston that it will follow up with those customers who received duplicate mailings by sending a letter of explanation and apology. Evanston residents and small business owners currently enrolled in the city's aggregation program do not need to take any action to continue in the program.

If they have further questions, people may call the City of Evanston's 311 service (847-448-4311). Customers who are currently part of the city's aggregation program may opt out by June 20, 2013; new customers can opt-in at any time.

NATIONAL VETERANS ART MUSEUM TO PARTICIPATE IN BLUE STAR MUSEUMS

National Veterans Art Museum is one of more than 1,800 museums across America to offer free admission to military personnel and their families this summer in collaboration with the National Endowment for the Arts, Blue Star Families, and the Department of Defense

Today the National Veterans Art Museum (NVAM) announced the launch of Blue Star Museums, a collaboration among the National Endowment for the Arts, Blue Star Families, the Department of Defense, and more than 1,800 museums across America to offer free admission to all active duty military personnel and their families from Memorial Day through Labor Day 2013. Leadership support has been provided by MetLife Foundation through Blue Star Families. The complete list of participating museums is available at www.arts.gov/bluestarmuseums.

In honor of Memorial Day, the NVAM will also open its newest exhibition, Tenacity and Truth, a curated exhibition from the permanent collection. Tenacity and Truth features work that was created by artists both trained and untrained who share in the overwhelming need to express their experiences through a visual language and explores the creative process behind veteran art. Tenacity and Truth opens on Saturday, May 25 with a reception that is free and open to the public from 1 p.m. - 5 p.m.

Levi Moore, Executive Director of the NVAM, praised Blue Star Museums, adding, "We are pleased to join this wonderful group of art institutions in acknowledging the service of nearly 1.5 million servicemen and women and of an additional 100,000 reserve members of the military. Although we offer free admission year-round to active military and their families, this event is another opportunity to show our support and gratitude for their service and sacrifice."

Congressman Mike Quigley, of the 5th District, commended both organizations, stating, "The Blue Star Museums partnership is a wonderful opportunity to say thank you to the brave men and women who serve our country and to the military families who sacrifice so much. The National Veterans Art Museum is an outstanding resource in our district, and I'm very proud of their continued efforts to give back to the community through programs like the Blue Star Museums."

Alderman John Arena, of the 45th Ward, celebrated their involvement. "Since relocating to Portage Park NVAM has developed a solid partnership with a community where so many veterans live and work. Once again, they are showing their commitment to honoring those who have served our nation by becoming a Blue Star Museum."

"Blue Star Museums is a collaboration between the arts and military communities," said NEA Acting Chairman Joan Shigekawa. "Our work with Blue Star Families and with more than 1,800 museums ensures that we can reach out to military families and thank them for their service and sacrifice."

"Blue Star Museums is something that service members and their families look forward to every year and we are thrilled with the continued growth of the program," said Blue Star Families CEO Kathy Roth-Douquet. "Through this distinctive collaboration between Blue Star Families, the National Endowment for the Arts and more than 1,800 museums across the United States, service members and their families can connect with our national treasures with this unparalleled opportunity to visit some of the country's finest museums for free."

This year, more than 1,800 (and counting) museums in all 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, and American Samoa are taking part in the initiative, including more than 450 new museums this year. Museums are welcome to join Blue Star Museums throughout the summer. The effort to recruit museums has involved partnerships with the American Association of Museums, the Association of Art Museum Directors, the Association of Children's Museums, the American Association of State and Local History, and the Association of Science-Technology Centers. This year's Blue Star Museums represent not just fine arts museums, but also science museums, history museums, nature centers, and 75 children's museums. Among this year's new participants are the J. Paul Getty Museum in Los Angeles, California, Grand Traverse Lighthouse Museum in Northport, Michigan, the Totem Heritage Center in Ketchikan, Alaska, and the World Museum of Mining in Butte, Montana.

Tenth Batch of Library Baby Falcons Banded by Scientists

On May 30 at the Evanston Public Library, scientists from Chicago's Field Museum of Natural History, the Shedd Aquarium and the Brookfield Zoo banded four baby peregrine falcons; three boys and one girl. They are the tenth batch of baby falcons, which are raptors (birds of prey), to be born at the library. More than a 100 residents, bird watchers and elementary school students were in the audience to view this spectacular event. The scientists also took blood samples for DNA tracking purposes along with feather samples. When they were finished, the fledglings were successfully returned to their nest. When the scrape (falcon's nest) was cleaned out, it was learned that the babies had been dining on pigeons, redwing blackbirds and blue jays.

How to Fly the United States Flag

(From literature by the VFW National Veterans and Military Services)

1. The flag should be hoisted briskly and lowered ceremoniously.
2. The flag is never allowed to touch the ground or the floor.
3. When hung over a sidewalk on a rope extending from a building to a pole, the union stars are always away from the building.
4. When vertically hung over the center of the street, the flag always has the union stars to the north in an east/west street, and to the east in a north/south street.
5. The flag of the United States of America should be at the center and at the highest point of the group when a number of flags of states or localities or pennants of societies are grouped and displayed from staffs.
6. The flag should never be festooned, drawn back, nor up, in folds but always allowed to fall free.
7. The flag should be displayed at half-staff until noon on Memorial Day then raised to the top of the staff.
8. Never fly the flag upside down except as a signal of distress in instances of extreme danger to life or property.
9. The flag is never flown in inclement weather except when using an all-weather flag.
10. The flag can be flown every day from sunrise to sunset and at night if illuminated properly.

"A Theater Review"

"South Pacific"

Marriott Theatre, 10 Marriott Drive
Lincolnshire, Illinois

Reviewed by Richard Allen Eisenhardt

Oftentimes when I'm asked what hooked me on the theatre, my reply is "South Pacific." It was the first musical I saw and I was fifteen years old. The Chicago company featured Janet Blair.

It is a classic musical that is now on display at The Marriott and is based on the Pulitzer Prize novel "Tales of the South Pacific" by James A. Michener.

David H. Bell has assembled an amazing cast that will have you wanting more.

Stephen R. Buntrock plays the Ezio Pinza role of the French plantation owner Emile deBecque. The story features two love interests and Elizabeth Lanza has the Mary Martin role. The other involvement is Ben Jacoby as Cable and Emily Morales as Liat.

The songs are a major part of the book especially "You're God to be Carefully Taught." But "Some Enchanted Evening," "A Wonderful Guy," and "There is Nothing Like a Dame" are performed to perfection.

A new star is born in Bethany Thomas as Bloody Mary. It is a World War II story but has plenty of humor by Steff Tovar. Along with the drama these Seabees go through. One question: Can mixed marriages work? I would go back to see it again the show is so great. "South Pacific" runs through June. For show days, times, and reservations call 847-634-0200. Tickets are $40 - $48. And there is loads of free parking. -Four Stars-

Cultural Grants Program Update

As part of the 2012 Chicago Cultural Plan process, DCASE heard from thousands of people who provided input about arts and culture in the city of Chicago. Some key feedback centered around the need for easier grant application processes, as well as increased funding for artists and unrestricted operating funds for arts and culture non-profit organizations. In response, this past March, DCASE launched a streamlined, entirely electronic application process and a re-structured Cultural Grants Program including the Individual Artists Program and the CityArts Program for non-profit organizations. With nearly 700 applications submitted before the April deadline, the response was hugely successful. Through an optional post-application survey, applicants provided overwhelmingly positive feedback about the changes. Seventy-five percent of applicants rated the new electronic application process favorably with a score of 8 or higher (10 being the highest score).

We thank everyone for their input and look forward to streamlining the process even further. It is our goal to continue to improve the program in 2014 and beyond to ensure our programs best align with the needs of Chicago's arts and culture sector.

Recreation Huddle to Imagine Future of Recreation and Leisure

What should Evanston's recreation scene look like in five or ten years? What new programs could be added and where will people play and spend their leisure time? In order to determine long-range recreation goals and plans, Alderman Jane Grover (7th Ward) is convening a Recreation Huddle from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. on Saturday, June 15, 2013. It will be held at Evanston Township High School, 1600 Dodge Avenue, Evanston.

Evanston residents are invited to "huddle" (or gather) with representatives from a wide variety of local recreation, athletic and arts organizations to brainstorm about the future of Evanston's recreation and leisure options. Residents of all ages are encouraged to attend and do not need to be associated with a particular sport or leisure activity.

MAYOR EMANUEL AND DCASE ANNOUNCE FREE SUMMER FILM SERIES WITH STATE OF THE ART SCREEN

Millennium Park Adds Summer Film Series to its Free Offerings;

New State-of-the-Art Screen Added to the Jay Pritzker Pavilion Stage

Mayor Rahm Emanuel and the Chicago Department of Cultural Affairs and Special Events (DCASE) announce that a brand new film series will be added to the free offerings this summer at the Jay Pritzker Pavilion in Millennium Park, officially kicking off on Tuesday, June 18 with a brief tribute to Roger Ebert, honoring Chicago's Pulitzer Prize winning film critic, and screening the musical "Chicago".

"Millennium Park is one of Chicago's premier attractions for cultural tourism, drawing residents from all over the City to visitors from the world over," said Mayor Rahm Emanuel. "The new and innovative video screen adds another exciting feature to deliver even more free entertainment at the Jay Pritzker Pavilion and kicking off the film series with a tribute to Roger Ebert will remind us of how he championed Chicago as a center for filmmaking and critiques."

The series continues every Tuesday evening through August 20 and will highlight musicals including "Dream Girls" and "Moulin Rouge". The series' films will be presented on the latest and most sophisticated outdoor screen with sound projected from the Pavilion's state-of-the-art sound system.

Earlier in June, there will be two pre-screenings: a Chicago Blues Festival related film, "Muddy Waters & The Rolling Stones: Live at the Checkerboard Lounge, 1981" on June 4 and a Chicago Bike Week related film, "The Triplets of Belleville" on June 11.

The screen was acquired by Millennium Park, Inc. to serve as a permanent enhancement to the Pritzker Pavilion. It measure 40 feet long and 22.5 feet high with an LED system and technology that is similar to that of a giant-screen television. The images are bright, clear and visible from the front row to the back of the lawn seating area. Both live and recorded presentations can be seen either day or night. All film screenings will begin at 6:30 p.m. (The June 11 presentation of "The Triplets of Belleville" is shown in association with Chicago Bike Week and will begin at dusk.)

"The Board of Millennium Park, Inc. was very impressed with last June's free live simulcast of the Paris Opera Ballet at the Jay Pritzker Pavilion seen by 14,000 people on a state-of-the-art LED screen," said Donna La Pietra, Chairman of Millennium Park, Inc. "We decided to purchase an even larger screen to not only start a film series but to have the potential of enhancing many of the live performances at the Pavilion and to provide the option of more live simulcasts." The Millennium Park Film Series is free admission. Seating at the pavilion is first-come, first-served. (Lawn seating may reach capacity.)

The 2013 Millennium Park Film Series:

Skokie Public Library Receives Recognition Award

At the May 20, 2013 Village Board meeting, the Skokie Public Library received second place for the inaugural LibraryAware Community Award from the Library Journal. Mayor George Van Dusen was joined by Nancy Dowd, LibraryAware Product Manager and Duncan Smith, Vice President NoveList in presenting the award to Carolyn Anthony, Director, Skokie Public Library.

“The Skokie Public Library is a premier community asset,” said Mayor Van Dusen. “The Library’s excellent services enhance the quality of life for all Skokie residents. My colleagues on the Village Board share my pride in the Skokie Public Library receiving the LibraryAware Community Award.”

With almost 100 entries received, the LibraryAware Community Award highlights the value that communities throughout the United States and Canada derive from their libraries and focuses on the outcomes of work by libraries—through the development of effective programs, services, partnerships, and communications—that result in better communities and an increased understanding of how libraries contribute to a community’s well-being. Criteria for the award included any and all components that create a LibraryAware community: strategic planning, marketing, outreach, partnerships, and programs, product, or service development.

The Skokie Public Library will also be featured in an article in Library Journal. The LibraryAware Community Award is given annually to a community during National Library Week.

For more information please contact the Skokie Public Library at 847/673-7774 or visit www.skokie.lib.il.us.

RESURRECTION HONOR SOCIETY INDUCTIONS FOCUS ON THE THEME OF “SERVICE”

Resurrection College Prep High School encourages service. Students are presented with opportunities to volunteer on a regular basis. Service opportunities are posted on the school’s website, announced regularly during school announcements, e-mailed to students, and posted in the halls of the school. While service requirements are common at many schools, Resurrection students provide countless hours of service without such a requirement. Resurrection staff encourages students to be involved in service projects in their community, churches, and within the school.

During the 2012-13 school year the Diakonia Honor Society, which recognizes students for exemplary service, was re-established at Resurrection College Prep High School. Fifty-seven Resurrection students were inducted into the Diakonia Honor Society as a result of fulfilling and documenting a minimum of 75 hours of service during the past year. These newly inducted students provided a total of 5,105 hours of service during the year, which averages to 89.5 hours for each person.

Resurrection College Prep High School’s annual honor society inductions were held in the Resurrection Little Theatre on Thursday, May 2, 2013. Students were inducted into ten honor societies and current honor society members were acknowledged, including members of the National Honor Society (103 students), Diakonia (Service) Honor Society (57 students), International Thespian Society (15 students), Modern Music Masters (Tri-M) Honor Society (12 students), Mu Alpha Theta/Math Honor Society (11 students), National Art Honor Society (17 students), Italian Honor Society (11 students), French Honor Society (5 students), Sociedad Honoraria Hispanica/Spanish Honor Society (9 students) and Quill & Scroll International Honor Society (9 students).

The guest speaker at the Honor Society Inductions was Sister Mary Ann Meyer, Resurrection Religious Studies teacher and member of the Campus Ministry Team. Sister Mary Ann told the Resurrection Honor Society inductees that “being inducted into an honor society is a call. It is a call for you to know your passion and to use your gifts and talents, rooted in that passion in the service of others.” She told the students “you are scholars, leaders, women of character who are called to manifest the glory of God within you, to be the best version of you that is possible, to use your gifts and intelligence and creativity and leadership for others.”

At the honor society induction, after the traditional candle-lighting ceremony, the young women of Resurrection were recognized for their academic achievements and pledged to maintain and encourage high standards of scholarship, service, leadership and character and to uphold the high purposes of the honor society to which they were inducted.

Mitchell Museum Announces Native American Crafts for Kids During Summer Break

The Mitchell Museum of the American Indian in Evanston will offer special activities for youngsters June 11-14 during the first week of summer break for students in Evanston/Skokie School District 65.

During the museum’s “School’s Out Family Fun Week,” kids can engage in do-it-yourself craft projects making simple versions of traditional Native American items including Southwest woven rugs, Northwest Coast masks, Plains shields, and Lakota star quilts. The crafts are recommended for children ages 5 and older. Participants must be accompanied by an adult.

Native American stories will be read each afternoon at 2 p.m. in the museum’s teaching lodge.

The “school’s out” activities are included with the price of museum admission. Regular museum hours will be in effect.

Kids Craft Morning Programs

The museum will also offer its “Kids Craft Morning” programs on Saturdays and Sundays in June, July, and August.

Mitchell staffers and volunteers lead the informal, one-hour sessions where children learn to construct simple versions of traditional Native American objects using everyday craft materials.

Kids will make corn husk dolls out of corn husks and twine; porcupine quill boxes out of colored toothpicks and cardboard; woven baskets of yarn applied to drinking cups; Northwest Coast button blankets of plastic buttons glued to felt; Northwest Coast rattles of dry corn kernels sandwiched between paper plates; bolo ties of nylon cord, cardboard, and colored mosaic tiles; beaded key chains of hemp cord, beads, and metal key rings; beaded bracelets and headbands of cord and beads made on a cardboard loom; Plains ledger drawings sketched on columnar accounting paper; Seminole patchwork of fabric pieces glued onto cloth; God’s eyes of colored yarn and craft sticks; and a Cherokee syllabary, a booklet using written symbols to represent syllables of the Cherokee language.

Upcoming Workshop dates, times, and themes are as follows:

- June 15, 11 a.m.–noon, Plains ledger drawings
- June 16, 12:30–1:30 p.m., Plains ledger drawings
- June 22, 11 a.m.–noon, God’s eyes
- June 23, 12:30–1:30 p.m., God’s eyes
- June 29, 11 a.m.–noon, bolo ties
- June 30, 12:30–1:30 p.m., bolo ties

The museum also makes available coloring projects and other simple craft activities on request at the workshops.

Offered year-round, the museum’s Kids Craft workshops are designed to introduce children to Native cultures of the U.S. and Canada, which are the focus of the Mitchell Museum’s collections and exhibits.

Workshop participants have the opportunity to view authentic examples of Native crafts from the Mitchell’s collection and illustrations of Native designs as models for their projects.

Kids Craft Morning activities are recommended for children ages 5 and up, but there is no minimum age requirement. Participants must be accompanied by an adult. No pre-registration is necessary.

Admission to Kids Craft Morning workshops is included with museum admission, which is $5 for adults, $3 for children (ages 1- 17), students (with ID), teachers (with ID), and seniors (age 65+). Admission is free for Mitchell Museum members and tribal members. Museum admission is also free for active-duty military personnel and their families through September 1 in conjunction with the national Blue Star Museums program.

NINETY DONORS AT RESURRECTION DONATE HAIR FOR RESPUNZEL PROJECT

Stylists from the Ivana DiPiero Hair Studio in Harwood Heights cut 8 or more inches from ninety Resurrection students who donated hair for the ResPunzel Project. Right: Stylist Maria Spilotro prepares to cut while friends provide moral support for a Resurrection student who is about to donate. Left: Stylist Ivana DiPiero cuts the hair of freshman Izabela Giglione (60656).

On Monday, May 20, 2013 the Resurrection Science Club continued the annual ResPunzel Project, which began in 2009. The goal is to collect enough hair donations from Resurrection and the community to equal the length of two braids which could wrap around the entire academic area at Resurrection. On May 20th a total of ninety students and staff members donated a minimum of 8 inches of hair which will be used by the Pantene Great Lengths Program to make wigs for cancer patients. Hair stylists Ivana DiPiero, Tracy Crivlare and Maria Spilotro from the Ivana DiPiero Hair Studio in Harwood Heights donated their services to the ResPunzel Project.

Students, alumnae or friends who would like to support this project may contact the Ivana DiPiero Hair Studio at 708.867.9500 to donate a minimum of 8 inches of hair (not chemically treated) before May 31, 2013 to help the Resurrection community meet the goal of 100 donors. Another event is planned for next year.

STORYTELLING AND PUBLIC HISTORY PANEL DISCUSSION SPOTLIGHTED AT CHICAGO PUBLIC LIBRARY IN JUNE

Chicagoans understand their history as much through each other’s stories as through history books. Join artist Samantha Hill, Albany Park Theatre Project director David Feiner, author Miles Harvey, historian Jennifer Brier and moderator Dawn Turner Trice of the Chicago Tribune for a discussion of how storytelling informs our understanding of history and shapes our culture. The free program takes place on Thursday, June 6 at 6 p.m. in the Cindy Pritzker Auditorium at the Harold Washington Library Center, 400 S. State Street. Presented in partnership with Chicago Tribune, Printer’s Row Lit Fest.

The Chicago Public Library celebrates the storytelling tradition and the way our stories celebrate the many cultures of our city with the current One Book, One Chicago celebration of Isabel Wilkerson’s The Warmth of Other Suns and the broader theme of how migration has shaped Chicago. The book is just the beginning. Now through spring 2014, the Library and its many community partners will offer multiple ways for Chicagoans to explore how the drive to move, to migrate and to create a better life has made Chicago into the most American of American cities. One Book, One Chicago is presented by the Chicago Public Library, the Chicago Public Library Foundation, Allstate and BMO Harris.

Samantha Hill’s artwork places emphasis on archives, oral story collecting, social projects & art facilitations. Her work includes a variety of media including installation, sculpture, performance and media technologies. She is the recipient of several honors including International Sculpture Center Award in 2006 & 2008, the School of the Art Institute of Chicago Trustee Merit Scholarship in Sculpture, and Philadelphia Sculptors Award.

David Feiner co-founded Albany Park Theater Project (APTP) in 1997 with my late wife, Laura Wiley, and served as APTP’s co-director until 2007. With Laura, Feiner guided APTP from an idea to a nationally recognized, award-winning theater company and directed or co-directed more than 25 original performance works at APTP. In 2004, APTP received the Coming Up Taller Award from the President’s Committee on the Arts and Humanities.

Miles Harvey is a Chicago author, playwright and journalist, best known for his bestselling book, The Island of Lost Maps, which recounted the story of Gilbert Bland, who stole many old and precious maps from various libraries across America; as well as Painter in a Savage Land: The Strange Saga of the First European Artist in North America. His play, How Long Will I Cry?, the harrowing account of a Chicago neighborhood, was recently performed throughout Chicago by actors from the Steppenwolf Theatre for Young Adults, as part of the Now Is The Time Anti-violence Campaign. Harvey has also written a number of short stories for The Michigan Quarterly Review, The Sun, Nimrod, and other publications.

Jennifer Brier, Ph.D., holds joint appointments in the Program in Gender and Women’s Studies and the History Department at the University of Illinois at Chicago. Her research and teaching largely focuses on exploring the historical intersections of gender, race, and sexuality. In Dr. Brier’s book, Infectious Ideas: U.S. Political Response to the AIDS Crisis, she argues that AIDS provided the perfect lens through which to see the complex social and political history of the 1980s and 1990s; detailing how activists, service providers, philanthropists and the federal government responded to AIDS in the first two decades of the AIDS epidemic.

Dawn Turner Trice is a columnist for the Chicago Tribune. She is the author of two novels, Only Twice I’ve Wished for Heaven, which is being made into a movie, and An Eighth of August. She is the moderator of the Tribune’s online project, “Exploring Race,” a regular commentator for WTTW’s “Chicago Tonight” show, and Trice has written commentary for National Public Radio’s “Morning Edition” program. She is the recipient of the 2008 Studs Terkel Media award, two Illinois Arts Council awards, an American Library Association Alex Award and a 2006 National Endowment for the Arts fellowship.

The Chicago Public Library continues to encourage lifelong learning by welcoming all people and offering equal access to information, entertainment and knowledge through materials, programs and cutting-edge technology. Through its 79 locations, the Library provides free access to a rich collection of materials, both physical and digital, and presents the highest quality author discussions, exhibits and programs for children, teens and adults. ## What Are The Odds?

Chester M. Przybylo

What are the Odds your family will need estate planning? Well, anyone who will die someday needs to plan for that eventuality—that is everyone! In addition, anyone who will ever be disabled or incapacitated needs to plan for that eventuality, as well. Even for those in their 20s and 30s, the odds of at least a 3-month disability prior to age 65 are over forty percent.

Of course, none of us think that this will actually happen to us. We think we will have a warning and can prepare then. Of course, if we knew when, where, and how we might meet our fate, we could put our affairs in order at the last minute. We could even modify our behaviors to avoid what we knew to be our fate. Even if we could wait to the last minute, doing so would add immeasurable pressure, stress, and difficulty during an already difficult time in our lives.

None of us know how we will meet our end. But, here are some statistics as to the odds:

Cause of Death	Lifetime Odds
Heart Disease	1-in-5
Cancer	1-in-7
Stroke	1-in-23
Accidental Injury	1-in-36
Motor Vehicle Accident	1-in-100
Intentional Self-harm (suicide)	1-in-121
Falling Down	1-in-246
Assault by Firearm	1-in-325
Fire or Smoke	1-in-1,116
Natural Forces (combined)	1-in-3,357
Electrocution	1-in-5,000
Drowning	1-in-8,942
Air Travel Accident	1-in-20,000
Flood	1-in-30,000
Legal Execution	1-in-58,618
Tornado	1-in-60,000
Lightning Strike	1-in-83,930
Snake, Bee or other Venomous Bite or Sting	1-in-100,000
Earthquake	1-in-131,890
Dog Attack	1-in-147,717
Asteroid Impact	1-in-500,000
Tsunami	1-in-500,000
Fireworks Discharge	1-in-615,488

But, whether you are destined to die from a common cause, like cancer or heart disease, or a rarity, like a tsunami or asteroid impact, planning is essential. Without planning, you have no voice or control over what happens to your family and your property once you are gone. Your property would go where your state says it should go. The court would also appoint a guardian to care for your minor children without any indication from you regarding who would be good in that capacity.

Let your voice be heard and have things set up now to accomplish your ultimate goals. You will rest easier. Your family will have less difficulty dealing with any problems down the road. When health issues arise, a well laid-out estate plan is priceless. A qualified estate planning attorney can help you identify and achieve your ultimate goals.

WHAT MAKES A DAD

*God took the strength of a mountain,
The majesty of a tree,
The warmth of a summer sun,
The calm of a quiet sea,
The generous soul of nature,
The comforting arm of night,
The wisdom of the ages,
The power of the eagle's flight,
The joy of a morning in spring,
The faith of a mustard seed,
The patience of eternity,
The depth of a family need,
Then God combined these qualities,
When there was nothing more to add,
He knew His masterpiece was complete,
And so, He called it ... Dad*

Each Tuesday in this coming August participating businesses agree to donate 5% of their sales to the three non-profits. The funds generated will support free financial literacy, job-readiness, and job training programs at all three organizations. In return for participation, the three non-profits run full-page advertising in local media to drive customers to participating businesses on the Tuesdays in August, and provide a range of other public relations efforts around the campaign to generate customer engagement.

"This is an unprecedented collaboration between for-profit and non-profit stakeholders and the City of Evanston to address issues that affect us all," says Paul Selden, Executive Director of Connections for the Homeless. "Last year's campaign brought together over 30 Evanston businesses and the full support of Mayor Tisdahl to generate support for our community, and we are excited to grow participation in this year's campaign."

"The Youth Job Center is pleased to participate in this collaborative effort! It should be a win-win for all involved! The campaign will drive traffic to Evanston businesses and that means increased sales. And greater sales means more money going back to our three organizations and ultimately to the clients we serve," says Sacella Smith, Executive Director, Youth Job Center.

Karen Singer, President and CEO of YWCA Evanston/North Shore adds, "we're proud to participate in this effort for the second year. We want to empower women throughout our community with financial literacy training and job soft skills development so they can be more self-sufficient. It's great that so many businesses are willing to support this effort through their connection to the community as well."

Representatives from the three Evanston non-profits will be hitting the streets from May through July signing up retailers and restaurants to participate in this year's campaign. Stores can also sign up now through the end of July online by going to Connections for the Homeless' website at <http://www.cfthinc.org>

People in need from throughout Evanston are referred to Connections for the Homeless and the YWCA Evanston/North Shore for assistance with homelessness, domestic violence and unemployment. Free programs at both organizations help end the cycle of generational homelessness and empower women and men to become stable and self-sufficient providers for their households.
