We Celebrate Columbus Day With All Of Our Italian-American Friends and Neighbors

Columbus Day first became an official state holiday in Colorado in 1906, and became a federal holiday in 1937. However, people have celebrated Columbus's voyage since the colonial period. During the four hundredth anniversary, in 1892, teachers, preachers, poets and politicians used Columbus Day rituals to teach ideals of patriotism. The first official, regular Columbus Day holiday was proclaimed by Colorado governor Jesse F. McDonald in 1905 and made a statutory holiday in 1907. In April 1934, as a result of lobbying by the Knights of Columbus, Congress and President Franklin Delano Roosevelt made October 12 a federal holiday under the name Columbus Day.

Why should you protect your child with the Polish National Alliance?

1. Affordability
The premium amounts are low and will remain level throughout the 20-year paying period. The younger the child, the lower the payment will be.

2. Cash Value
Permanent life insurance builds cash value. The cash component allows you to borrow the money that have been built up.

3. Future Insurability
Permanent life insurance provides a lifetime of protection. If your child develops a disability or chronic illness later in life, it will become hard and more costly, if not impossible, to obtain life insurance.

4. PNA Membership
Purchasing a life insurance certificate with the PNA provides the opportunities to participate in Membership programs such as scholarships, sports programs, contests and subsidies. These benefits separate us from commercial life insurance carriers and they are without any cost to the Member.

5. Gift
If you purchase your certificate by the end of December 2019, your child will then receive a special gift from the Polish National Alliance.

Danish Duo Announces Opening Of Living Exhibit Composed Of 10,000 Cabbages At The Garfield Park Conservatory

The Cabbage Patch' Installation Is Part Of The Chicago Architecture Biennial, Which Runs From September 19 To January 5

The Chicago Park District, the Garfield Park Conservatory Alliance, the Danish Architecture Center, the Danish Arts Foundation and the Danish Arts in Chicago announce the installation of 'Cabbage Patch,' a one-of-a-kind, living architectural exhibit that pays homage to one of society's ancient forms of technology, agriculture, and one of its most sustainable crops.

The grand opening of the 'Cabbage Patch' was Saturday, September 21. This is also the 8th annual celebration of Harvest Day, a family-friendly event that invites visitors to embrace the fall season by meeting urban goats, chickens, and bees; playing veggie bingo, lawn games; tasting fresh local foods; and learning about worm bin composting. The artists will give tours of the exhibit and invite visitors to harvest cabbages, and chef demonstrations will feature Chef Bill Kim from Urban Belly.

"'Cabbage Patch' is a beautiful addition to Chicago and we are excited to host Danish architects Karen Gamborg Knudsen and Kasper Magnussen for the Chicago Architectural Biennial 2019," said Chicago Park District Superintendent and CEO, Michael P. Kelly. "Just like the Garfield Park Conservatory, architecture and public works like 'Cabbage Patch' have the power to transform public spaces and inspire a renewed sense of community and culture for all residents to enjoy."

This transformative display marks the first official Danish contribution to the Chicago Architecture Biennial. The Danish Arts Foundation selected Royal Danish Academy of Fine Arts educated architects Karen Gamborg Knudsen and Kasper Magnussen from among 42 applicants for the site-specific project, which runs through January 5, 2020; the last day of the Chicago Architectural Biennial. The cabbages will live out their stay until spring of 2020.

An agricultural field with about 10,000 cabbages and an outdoor kitchen will be installed in one of Garfield Park Conservatory's outdoor gardens, an appropriate site bearing in mind that the 111 year old greenhouse was originally designed by Danish landscape architect, Jens Jensen.

As architects from across the world showcase their creations in Chicago, the 'Cabbage Patch' spotlights Chicago's West Side, the historic greenhouse, and topics of accessibility to affordable, healthy and nutritious food sources and greenspaces. The cabbage is a staple crop grown in many cultures throughout history, and an ideal catalyst for conversations about culture, social equity and climate challenges.

"Denmark is thrilled to support this important engagement through the Danish Arts in Chicago initiative," added Consul General Riggelsen. "And we're equally excited that the Cabbage Patch can be hosted by an illustrious institution such as the Garfield Park Conservatory during this year's exceptional Chicago Architectural Biennial."

The Garfield Park Conservatory will work with community partners on the West Side and throughout the city to deliver culturally rich, educational and interactive programming inspired by the exhibit. Cooking demonstrations led by local chefs will provide Chicago residents and community partners the opportunity to harvest, prepare, and eat locally produced cabbage. Participating partners include the Garfield Park Garden Network, a thriving community garden network that transforms vacant lots into gardens that feed their neighbors; and Inspiration Kitchens, a restaurant training program that provides a pathway for under-employed participants to enter the workforce. Members of the Chicago Cultural Alliance will contribute recipes for the cabbage cookbook.

Garfield Park Conservatory is open Monday through Sunday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. with extended hours on Wednesday- until 8 p.m. Admission is free for all ages.

For more information about the 'Cabbage Patch' and affiliated series of programs and events, visit <https://garfieldconservatory.org> or dial (773) 638-1766.

Two Author Events Share Stories from Around the World

Introduce your child to the wonders of a wider world at these two October events at Evanston Public Library that feature authors who bring tales from Brazil and the Philippines.

On Thursday, Oct. 17, the Library features Brazilian artist Roger Mello who will visit the Library's monthly Jammie Time program. Roger will read from his books, show how he creates his unique art, and then lead a craft session. And on Saturday, Oct. 19, Nathalie Gallermo Lopez, an artist and children's book illustrator originally from the Philippines, will read from her book Rain Star Babies, and offer an engaging activity for children.

Roger Mello has won many awards, including the prestigious 2014 Hans Christian Andersen Illustrator Award and a 2018 Batchelder Honor. After reading from his books, Roger will show how he creates his unique art. Then he will lead the group through an engaging craft project. He will answer questions and sign copies of books, including his brand new Charcoal Boys which offers a unique perspective on the life of a young boy working in Brazil's charcoal mines. It will be on sale from Booked, Evanston's independent children's bookstore.

The author visit with Roger Mello takes place on Thursday, Oct. 17, from 6:30 to 7:30 pm, in the Children's Room at the Main Library. Children of all ages are invited; no registration is required. Children can wear their pajamas to the event; doing so is optional.

Nathalie Gallermo Lopez was born and raised in Bacolod City, Philippines. She spent her early childhood exploring the verdant hills and pristine white sand beaches of Hinoba-an before electricity was in place. For entertainment, she sang with her dad and stargazed at night while her mother told stories of how the "Bakunawa," a dragon serpent monster of Visayan folklore, attempted to swallow the moon. She used these childhood memories in writing and illustrating her book, Rain Star Babies. She now lives in Chicago, where she also is developing educational toys and other products based on the characters in her book.

Nathalie will be reading from Rain Star Babies along with leading a craft session on Saturday, October 19, at 2:30 pm in the Main Library's Children's Room. All are welcome, and no registration is required.

Attention: 60,000 Homeowners Should Update Their Mailing Address At: cookcountytreasurer.com

About 60,000 property owners in Cook County should use cookcountytreasurer.com to update the name or mailing address on their tax bills, another example of how the internet can make things easier for taxpayers, Treasurer Maria Pappas said today.

The online application replaces thousands of paper forms that the Treasurer's Office processes each year, Pappas said. "We've already eliminated the paper application for most refunds. Now we are changing the most routine request our office receives," she added.

To help homeowners who have mail-delivery problems, cookcountytreasurer.com shows when tax bills have been returned by the U.S. Postal Service. The Treasurer's Office has reduced the number of properties with incorrect mailing addresses by nearly a third, to 60,082.

To see if your bills have been returned or to change the name and address on your bill, visit cookcountytreasurer.com and:

- Select the purple box labeled "Your Property Tax Overview"
- Enter your address or Property Index Number (PIN)
- Look for a red warning box that appears if your bills have been returned
- Select "Update Your Information" to change the taxpayer name or mailing address

To avoid the hassle of the mail, select "eBilling" on the website to receive your tax bill by email. Paper name/address change applications will continue to be accepted

Bat Tests Positive for Rabies in Evanston

The Cook County Department of Animal and Rabies Control has confirmed that a bat has tested positive for rabies in Evanston.

On September 12, a bat was found in the 1400 block of Davis Street and was submitted for rabies examination. After testing, the bat was determined to be rabid by the Illinois State Public Health Laboratory.

An average of approximately 25 rabid bats are found in Cook County each year. This is the first bat to test positive for rabies in Evanston in 2019.

Any resident exposed to or bitten by a bat should contact their doctor immediately. Residents should seek veterinary assistance if their pet is bitten by a wild animal or exposed to a bat. In addition, community members are advised to supervise and leash their dogs, cats and ferrets when outside of their home. Animals without a current rabies vaccination should be inoculated immediately.

"The most significant measure people can take is to ensure that their pet's vaccinations are up to date," said Ike Ogbo, interim director of the City's Health and Human Services Department. "Not only does the vaccine protect the pet, it also serves as a barrier of protection for people."

Residents are reminded to not handle any bats, skunks or other wild animals. If a dead or down bat or skunk is found on their property or in the roadway, residents should call the Cook County Department of Animal Control at 708-974-6140.

Halloween is a time of celebration and superstition. It is thought to have originated with the ancient Celtic festival of Samhain, when people would light bonfires and wear costumes to ward off roaming ghosts. In the eighth century, Pope Gregory III designated November 1 as a time to honor all saints and martyrs; the holiday, All Saints' Day, incorporated some of the traditions of Samhain. The evening before was known as All Hallows' Eve and later Halloween. Over time, Halloween evolved into a secular, community-based event characterized by child-friendly activities such as trick-or-treating. In a number of countries around the world, as the days grow shorter and the nights get colder, people continue to usher in the winter season with gatherings, costumes and sweet treats.

Add Your Inspiration to a Travelling Collaborative Art Piece Community Art Inspired by Love for Evanston

In a time of disconnection and violence, we can respond by creating art about connection. Everyone is invited to contribute to an evolving art piece inspired and created by our community. The piece is now on display at the Chicago Ave./Main Street Branch (CAMS) of the Evanston Public Library, 900 Chicago Avenue. All are invited to add to this dynamic, evolving fiber-art sculpture.

This sculpture began at Gather, a community art studio and creativity focused playspace in downtown Evanston, traveled to the Evanston Art Center as part of the Evanston Made Kids programming this summer, and now is on display at CAMS. Everyone is invited from now through the end of September to express what you love or value in the community and add to this collaborative installation.

Also, on Saturday, September 7 from 11 am - 2 pm, at CAMS, Angela Lyonsmith will hold a Family Art Making Workshop to teach the simple process of wrapping used in this piece. It is accessible for makers of all ages. Lyonsmith, a fiber artist and art therapist, has helped bring this creation to life as a symbol of our diverse community and tangible image of our interconnection and responsibility to each other.

NATIONAL GERMAN-AMERICAN DAY

German-American Day (German: Deutsch-Amerikanischer Tag) is a holiday in the United States, observed annually on October 6. The holiday, which celebrates German American heritage, commemorates the date in 1683 when 13 German families from Krefeld, near the Rhine, landed in Philadelphia. These families subsequently founded Germantown, Pennsylvania, the first German settlement in the original thirteen American colonies, and organized the first petition in the English colonies to abolish slavery in 1688. Originally known under the rubric of "German Day", the holiday was celebrated for the first time in Philadelphia in 1883, on the occasion of the 200th anniversary of the arrival of the settlers from Krefeld; and similar celebrations developed later in other parts of the country. The custom died out during World War I as a result of the anti-German sentiment that prevailed at the time.[1] The holiday was revived in 1983.

In 1983, President Ronald Reagan proclaimed October 6 as German-American Day to celebrate and honor the 300th anniversary of German American immigration and culture to the United States. On August 6, 1987, Congress approved S.J. Resolution 108, designating October 6, 1987, as German-American Day. It became Public Law 100-104 when President Reagan signed it on August 18. A proclamation (#5719) to this effect was issued October 2, 1987, by President Reagan in a formal ceremony in the White House Rose Garden, at which time the President called on Americans to observe the Day with appropriate ceremonies and activities.

Bach Week's 'Bachanalia' Benefit October 13 to Pair Music and Wines

Evanston-based Bach Week Festival's third annual "Bachanalia," its fall fundraiser featuring pairings of live classical music with specially selected wines, will take place at 5:30 p.m. on Sunday, October 13, 2019, at Nichols Concert Hall, 1490 Chicago Ave., Evanston.

Proceeds from the Bachanalia, hosted by the festival board, will support the spring 2020 Bach Week Festival, the 47th annual edition, with concerts in Evanston and Chicago.

The event's title combines the last name of German Baroque composer J. S. Bach and "bacchanalia," the ancient Roman festival of entertainment and revelry named for Bacchus, Roman god of wine.

Performers at this year's Bachanalia will be the Chicago Harp Quartet's CHQ.2 duo, comprising harpists Marguerite Lynn Williams and Julie Spring.

The companion wines will be announced at the event.

Mike Baker, an Advanced Sommelier in the Court of Master Sommeliers and lead buyer for Vin Chicago, consults with the musicians and selects wines that echo the personalities of the musical works to be performed. Baker also listens to recordings and researches the music before making his wine choices.

Baker will discuss each wine as it's poured for guests, followed by a performance of the musical work the wine was selected to complement.

Hearty hors d'oeuvres will be available throughout the event.

A silent auction will feature items donated by local businesses and performing arts organizations, including books, graphic art, concert tickets, and more.

The Chicago Park District announced today the schedule for the 4th annual outdoor horror movie series 'Campfire Horrors,' that will return to Northerly Island, located at 1521 S. Linn White Dr., this fall. The film series kicks off on Friday, October 4 at 7 p.m. and will continue every Friday through the month of October.

In the spirit of Halloween, Northerly Island will showcase six scary classics, ranging from tame to terrifying. Each screening will be accompanied by campfires, marshmallow roasting, Mars Wrigley treats, free popcorn and hot beverages.

The film series will kick-off with a family-friendly classic, Hocus Pocus. This popular flick features the antics of three resurrected witches, played by actresses Bette Midler, Sarah Jessica Parker, Kathy Najim, in modern-day Salem, and serves up kid-friendly laughs and scares, and a heaping helping of 90s nostalgia. The double-feature evening will finish with one of horror's most famous faces, Boris Karloff, in 1931's Frankenstein.

On Friday, October 11, the series will continue a tradition of featuring film adaptations of horror writer Stephen King's work with Misery. The hard to forget once seen Misery features menacing and memorable performances from actors Kathy Bates and James Caan.

In week three, the cult-classic zombie comedy Shaun of the Dead will bring some laughs to the series as Londoners do their best to cope with an undead plague they're not at all prepared for. To finish the evening, I Know What You Did Last Summer will bring some 90s slasher vibes and ratchet up the scares.

To cap the series, another famous horror writer will take the spotlight with the screening of the film adaptation of Ann Rice's Interview with the Vampire, featuring an all-star cast and some must-see, before-they-were-big performances.

Campfires, with ample firewood, will be set-up throughout the park to create a cozy atmosphere and for roasting marshmallows provided by the Park District along with roasting forks. Hot coffee, tea and cocoa will be available for free to keep visitors warm on chilly nights.

Screenings are outdoors, weather permitting, and audiences are encouraged to bring their own chairs/blankets and layer up for the cooler weather. Campfires will be lit 30 minutes before the start of the film, and burn throughout the night.

All screenings are scheduled to take place outdoors at the Northerly Island Visitors Center, located at 1521 S. Linn White Dr. In the event of rain, or extreme cold, screenings will be relocated indoors, inside the Northerly Island Visitors Center.

For more information, please visit www.chicagoparkdistrict.com. In the event of inclement weather, screenings will be moved indoors to the Northerly Island Visitors Center.

Movies in the Park's 'Campfire Horrors' film series is presented as part of the Chicago Park District's Night Out in the Parks, a year-round event series features more than 1,200 citywide cultural and arts activities, including more than 200 movie screenings each year. The Campfire Horrors film series is supported by Mars Wrigley, Xfinity and WTTW.

D'Amico Effort to Increase Opportunity in Vocational Trades Signed into Law

State Rep. John D'Amico, D-Chicago, is continuing his efforts to increase access to career opportunities in the trades by working to expand vocational job training through his support of a law creating the Training in Building Trades Program, which awards grants to community organizations that offer jobs training classes.

"I have seen firsthand how a career in the trades can offer good-paying reliable jobs for families like mine and countless more in our area," D'Amico said. "Especially as the price of higher education has skyrocketed, going into the trades offers a rewarding career path for young people."

To create good-paying jobs for middle-class families, D'Amico passed House Bill 2304, which creates the Training in Building Trades Program in the Department of Commerce and Economic Opportunity (DCEO). The goal of this program is to provide opportunities for people between 18 and 35 to learn trade skills, especially in construction, electrical trades or plumbing. The bill received strong bipartisan support and was recently signed into law by the governor.

"Many companies, especially manufacturing firms, have positions that they need to fill, yet they don't have applicants with the proper training to fill these jobs," D'Amico said. "The skills gained in vocational training programs are highly in-demand and will open up job opportunities with good-pay and benefits for young people and individuals looking to transition into a new career."

Mayor Lightfoot Announces 165 New Scholarships For Early Childhood Educators

The City of Chicago today announced 165 new scholarships will be awarded this fall to support Chicagoans interested in pursuing coursework in early care and education to earn a credential, degree, or licensure needed to work with children birth through five in a Chicago Early Learning Program. In collaboration with City Colleges of Chicago, the Department of Family and Support Services and Chicago Public Schools, the City is furthering its commitment to developing high-quality staff members who care for and educate children through these scholarships.

These scholarships serve an important role in the City's efforts to expand access to early learning programs across Chicago and build a more robust workforce that can adequately support the high-quality early learning programs. After scholarship recipients complete their degree or coursework, they commit to working in a Chicago Early Learning program in either a community-based organization or Chicago Public School for three years.

The City is not only investing in growing the early learning workforce, but also supporting the current workforce who are interested in securing higher degrees and positions. Of the more than 425 active scholarship recipients, over 70% of them currently work in a Chicago Early Learning Program.

Those interested in applying for this scholarship may complete the interest form found at www.chicagoearlylearning.org/scholarships, and the Chicago Early Learning Workforce Team will follow up with applicants as opportunities become available. Both current Chicago Early Learning program staff pursuing additional education credentials and Chicago residents interested in launching a career in early childhood education are eligible for the scholarship.

Village Cooking Corner

With autumn's arrival, here's a delicious way to enjoy those fresh apples of any type.

Apple Streusel Cake

Submitted by Maria Bappert

This recipe comes from Helga, one of the customers of the First Lady Beauty Salon on the NE corner of Western and Sunnyside in Chicago. She brought it along recently on a Thursday when she had her hair done, and I had a chance to enjoy a piece of the cake on Friday, which is when I have my hair done. Helga was kind enough to share her recipe with us.

Ingredients for the dough: 1 cup unsalted butter (2 sticks), 2 eggs and 1/2 cup milk, all at room temperature; 1 cup sugar, 4 cups plus 2 tbsp. flour, 2 tsp. baking powder. Sift flour and baking powder and set aside. Cream the butter with the sugar, and add eggs, one at a time, and beat in the milk. Combine with the flour mixture and spread into a greased 9" x 12" pan and top with the apple sauce. Use one cup of apple sauce for the 9" x 12" pan and at least 1-1/2 cups if you use the 15" x 10-1/2" pan.

Ingredients for the streusel topping: 2 cups plus 2 tbsp. flour, 1-1/2 cups sugar, 1 tsp. vanilla and 1 cup (2 sticks) of unsalted butter at room temperature. In the same bowl which you used for the dough, cream the butter, sugar and vanilla. Add the flour until well combined into a crumbly mixture and sprinkle evenly on top of the applesauce. Bake for 30 to 40 minutes in a 350 degree oven until evenly browned. Allow to cool and sprinkle with some powdered sugar. Cut into desired bars and serve. What a treat!

Apple Storage Techniques

Apples produce a gas that cause other types of fruits and vegetables to soften or spoil more quickly. For this reason, they should always be stored separately. Using thick layers of newspaper, line the bottoms of flat crates or drawers from an old chest-of-drawers, lay out the apples in them, and store them in the basement or garden shed. Check them often. Remove fruit showing brown spots immediately and use them.

(Borrowed from "Grandma's German Cookbook" by Birgit Hamm and Linn Schmidt)

Halloween Safety Tips

Halloween can be a fun-filled event for humans and pets alike. However with the constant doorbell rings and surge of oddly-dressed strangers, it's important to consider some safety precautions to keep your pets calm and protected.

Use Caution with Costumes

Generally, most pets prefer to walk around au naturel. If your pet chooses to tolerate a costume, make sure that it is entirely pet-safe. Be certain the costume is made of non-toxic and non-flammable material and remove any chewable parts that may pose a choking hazard to your pet. Remember that pets can't talk, so it's important to keep an eye on their body language. If your pets look to be plotting their revenge when you put their costume on, they probably are.

Keep the Treats out of Reach

To avoid the possibility of a sneaky treat feat, keep the candy up and out of your pets' reach at all times. Many popular Halloween candies are toxic to pets. Chocolate, as most people know, is a definite pet no-no. Sugar-free treats should also be avoided as they contain Xylitol, an artificial sweetener that is poisonous to pets. Stick to your pets' own treats this Halloween; they'll be just as happy.

Harness the Halloween Hype

With trick-or-treaters ringing your doorbell by the minute, it's easy for your furry friends to become a little uneasy and anxious. Put yourself in their paws—small strangers coming to the door dressed in bizarre clothing, pretty weird right? To keep your pets from dashing for the door, place them in a quiet room with toys and a delicious stuffed Kong. If in any case your pet manages to slip out the door, make sure that they are microchipped and have an up-to-date ID tag so that they can be properly identified.

As responsible and loving pet-parents, we want to make our pets' experiences as paw-sitive as possible. Be sure to remain calm throughout the night and remember to give your devoted companion all the extra love and attention they undoubtedly deserve.
