A Happy Ending

With Summer being just a distant memory as the snow flies and the "polar vortex" descends upon us from the North, here is something that will "warm your heart", if not your bones!!!

This Holiday Season, and over Thanksgiving, let's not forget to give a great big "thank you" to our law enforcement and first responders for their tireless efforts on our behalf. Even as we are all enjoying celebrations and time off with our Families and Friends, they are "never off-duty"!!

Shelter Dogs & Cats Pair Up With Local Firefighters in 'FURst Responders' Calendar

C.A.R.E.'s debut 'FURst Responders Calendar' is now available for online pre-orders.

Hold onto your fire helmets! C.A.R.E. pups and kits have finished their road trip to area fire stations, where they posed with firefighting friends. Now they want to let ALL their friends know that the FURst Responders Calendar 2020 to benefit Community Animal Rescue Effort is available for pre-order at the C.A.R.E. website.

C.A.R.E. pets (and their volunteers) traveled to Morton Grove, Skokie and Wilmette fire stations. There, next to or in the arms of participating personnel, the animals posed with the rigs and other signature features of each station. More than a few hearts were stolen by our furry stars, and at least one C.A.R.E. pup found his forever home with a firefighter as a result.

The FURst Responders Calendar 2020 is available as a limited edition. Pre-ordered calendars can be picked up -- and signed by an actual firefighter -- at the Holiday C.A.R.E. Faire, taking place Saturday, Nov. 30, 11 am to 4 pm, at the Unitarian Church of Evanston, 1330 Ridge, Evanston.

The cost per calendar is $20. All proceeds will go toward C.A.R.E. cats and dogs. Order soon, as supplies are limited. To order, click here: carenorthshore.org/2020calendar

Vintage Holidays Campaign Starts this Week in Long Grove

Historic downtown Long Grove invites shoppers to take a break from online or big box buying this year and rediscover the magic of the holiday season. The annual Vintage Holidays campaign is what the classic holiday experience is all about -- quaint shops, old-world charms, and family memories. Officially beginning on Thursday, November 14th with a special Holiday Open House kickoff from 5 pm to 8 pm, Vintage Holidays will take place every Saturday and Sunday starting this weekend until December 22nd (including Black Friday, November 29th). The one-of-a-kind campaign in downtown Long Grove features a Christmas tree parade, strolling costumed carolers and musicians, appearances by Santa and Mrs. Claus, and a new horse-drawn sleigh ride in addition to some of the "best" shopping in the suburbs.

The scene is out of a picture book, with cobblestone walkways lined with luminaries, Victorian buildings trimmed with lights, and traditional small-town hospitality mixed with the downtown's newly renovated modern comforts (brand new sidewalks, streets, lighting, etc). Organized by the Historic Downtown Long Grove Business Association, Vintage Holidays presents opportunities to: shop small for unique holiday gifts, capture family photos with Santa and Mrs. Claus, listen to strolling holiday carolers and musicians, enjoy complimentary horse-drawn sleigh rides, and marvel at the Christmas tree parade (where stores display fresh pines out front decorated to the tune of their own distinctive theme).

Pappas asks: Military members and veterans, are you getting the property tax relief you deserve?

Members of the military can defer Cook County property taxes interest-free while on active duty, one way to ease the financial sacrifice of service to our country, Treasurer Maria Pappas said today.

"We owe more than we can ever repay to the men and women of the armed services and their families," Pappas said. "The property tax deferment at least helps them make ends meet while they protect us."

To obtain the deferment, members of the military must apply at cookcountytreasurer.com.

Service members pay no interest on property tax payments that come due from the start of active duty until 180 days after release from duty, Pappas said. After that, the interest rate is just 6 percent per year, well below the 1.5 percent per month (or 18 percent per year) mandated by state law for unpaid taxes.

Illinois law also offers property tax benefits to veterans, including:

- Returning Veterans Exemption
- Disabled Veterans Exemption

To verify your exemptions (going back four years) and to see if you are entitled to a refund (going back 20 years), go to cookcountytreasurer.com:

- Select "Your Property Tax Overview"
- Search by address or by Property Index Number (PIN)

About the Christkindlmarkets

FREE ADMISSION

Make Wundervolle Memories at the Christkindlmarket

Sparkling ornaments, the smell of roasted nuts, and the sound of lovely holiday carols – visitors can experience all this at the Christkindlmarket. The outdoor German-style holiday markets in Chicago, Wrigleyville and Milwaukee - that are always admission free - are some of the most authentic outside Europe. The markets boast high quality gifts, authentic German and international food and Glühwein (hot spiced wine), the signature drink. The Christkindlmarket has become the ideal place for families to make unique holiday memories in an intercultural environment.

Participate in Family-Friendly Activities

Folkloric German alpine brass music and regular visits from the Christkind make the Christkindlmarket a fun and educational experience for the entire family. The Christkind, a fairy-like being dressed in gold and white robes with a crown upon her golden locks, is the namesake of the Christkindlmarket Chicago. Christkind folklore dates back to the 1500s and stems from traditional customs: parades during the holiday season were guided by one “grand” angel, the Christkind. Since then, and still today, she is the bearer of gifts to most children in German-speaking countries, much like Santa Claus is in the United States. Traditionally, gifts are exchanged December 24th and delivered by the Christkind, who leaves gifts under the Christmas tree and disappears before the children can catch a glimpse of her.

One of the highlights of the Christkindlmarket is the Children’s Lantern Parade, an annual German tradition to celebrate St. Martin’s Day. The Christkind strolls around the market with the kids and their lanterns while singing German and English holiday carols. ## Celebrate German-American Friendship with the Annual Souvenir Mugs

The annual Christkindlmarket souvenir mugs have become an iconic part of the market experience and collectors' items that are widely known and loved for their unique styles. In 2019, with a focus on celebrating German-American friendship, the inside of each market location's mug features a different color, representing parts of the German flag (Chicago=black, Wrigleyville=red, Milwaukee=yellow). The outsides of the mugs display distinct market scenes from all three locations.

Visitors can purchase the limited-edition three-pack for $20 at the information booths at all market locations. Individual mugs are only available at each of their respective locations as long as supplies last. They are sold at the information window as well as several vendor booths offering beverages such as hot chocolate and Glühwein (hot spiced wine).

In keeping with tradition, there will also be a special surprise for the kids this year: The Kinder Club family is growing and adding a new member, Peppermint the Penguin. This very limited-edition mug is available with the purchase of non-alcoholic beverages or without a drink at the information booth.

Christkindlmarket Chicago

at Daley Plaza

November 15th - December 24th

A Holiday Village in the Heart of Chicago

The Christkindlmarket Chicago was first conceptualized in 1995 when the German American Chamber of Commerce of the Midwest was seeking alternative ways to promote bilateral trade between the United States and Germany. The inaugural event took place on Pioneer Court in 1996. The market was an instant success and continues to flourish through the work of GACC Midwest's subsidiary, German American Events, LLC.

By special invitation of former Mayor Richard M. Daley, the Christkindlmarket Chicago moved to Daley Plaza in 1997 and has become a staple event on the plaza ever since. Inspired by the 16th century Christkindlesmarket in Nuremberg, Germany, the Christkindlmarket is well-known for its traditional candy-cane striped wooden huts and Christkind visits.

The downtown Chicago market generated $88 in direct output and an estimated $170 million in terms of total economic activity at the country level in 2017*, which shows what high economic impact the Christkindlmarket has on its host city. According to a 2018 visitor survey, a total of 1.9 million visitors visited all three market locations, with visitors hailing from 32 countries. The majority (66%) named the Christkindlmarket their primary reason for visiting downtown Chicago.

The 24-year old Christkindlmarket is recognized as the most beloved Chicago holiday tradition and has grown so popular it led to the opening of additional markets in Illinois and Wisconsin.

Forest Preserves of Cook County Dedicates Milestone 25th Illinois Nature Preserve

Harms Woods Nature Preserve raises Forest Preserves total to 7,248 acres, the most of any local agency in the state

The Forest Preserves of Cook County will dedicate 169 acres of Harms Woods Forest Preserve as Harms Woods Nature Preserve—a milestone 25th Illinois Nature Preserve—during the October Board of Commissioners meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 22. The site brings the Forest Preserves' total Illinois Nature Preserves-designated protected land to 7,248 acres, with habitats that range from a rare peat bog to a remnant black soil prairie. The celebration includes five guided walks at FPCC Illinois Nature Preserves across Cook County.

Harms Woods Nature Preserve offers an incredibly varied spring woodland wildflower display, including wild geranium, trout lilies, blue cohosh and white trillium. These abundant wildflowers feed butterflies and birds from spring to fall. Visitors can hear frogs call from small ponds and see birds like great crested flycatchers, chestnut-sided warblers, and Cooper's hawks—and maybe even glimpse a mink as it splashes into the North Branch of the Chicago River.

Located in unincorporated Cook County near Glenview, Harms Woods Nature Preserve is part of an extensive network of Forest Preserves that lie along the North Branch Trail System. Natural communities within the site include mesic woodland, mesic upland forest and floodplain forest. Nearly 400 different plant species have been recorded at Harms Woods Nature Preserve, including several that are endangered or threatened in the state.

"Protecting and restoring our natural lands is vital to ensuring these spaces are available for the public to enjoy for many generations to come," says Forest Preserves Board President Toni Preckwinkle. "Without the Illinois Nature Preserves System and the Forest Preserves of Cook County, many of Illinois' plants, animals and ecosystems would be lost forever."

Dedication of a site as an Illinois Nature Preserve provides the highest level of protection for land in Illinois, and is granted by the Illinois Nature Preserves Commission to natural areas of exceptional ecological quality. These important natural areas represent the few remnants of the landscapes that evolved after the last ice age 13,000 years ago.

"The Illinois Nature Preserves in our system provide critical habitat for native plants, animals and migrating birds, and these are wonderful places to visit. Harms Woods Nature Preserve and the adjacent Harms Flatwoods Nature Preserve are examples of how these sites have benefited from years of dedicated volunteer stewardship, as well as concerted land management and restoration efforts by Forest Preserves staff, partners and contractors," says Forest Preserves General Superintendent Arnold Randall.

Within the Forest Preserves are also four designated Land and Water Reserves, another state designation which provides special protections to a natural area, though at a lower level than a nature preserve. Between Illinois Nature Preserves and Land and Water Reserves, the Forest Preserves of Cook County manages nearly 10,000 acres of protected land. The Forest Preserves' Next Century Conservation Plan seeks to designate and register 20,000 acres with the Illinois Nature Preserve Commission.

St. Thecla Church and School Closing

The merger will be effective July 1, 2020. The new parish and school will be given a new name, but will be located at St. Tarcissus Church.

There was overwhelming emotion Friday night from the parishioners and graduates of St. Thecla.

"I love this place. I have four kids that go here," said one parishioner.

"I live, breathe and die and for this place," stated another St. Thecla parent. "It was the hardest thing to explain to my son that his school is closing."

St. Thecla, which began in 1925, is part of renew my church, an effort to consolidate certain schools to better position catholic schools operationally and financially.

One hundred and eighty students attend St. Thecla and there are about 3,000 parishioners.

The Curtain Is Going Up On The Chicago Bar Association's Annual Bar Show Musical Extravaganza "For Lying Out Loud!"

Tired of everybody lying to you about everything all the time? Well, so are the talented singing and dancing lawyers of the Chicago Bar Association, and they're going to do something about it!

More than 50 CBA attorneys will be hitting the stage to perform the annual rousing musical comedy revue that parodies local and national political figures in the Chicago Bar Association's Bar Show, opening December 5 in downtown Chicago.

No one is off limits in this irreverent production that features skits and musical numbers lampooning politicians, show biz, and public figures who made news and headlines over the past year. The show is written and performed by a cast and crew of lawyers who also have backgrounds in music or theater, including Chicago and community theatre performers, classical musicians and opera singers.

Tickets are on sale now for this year's show, "For Lying Out Loud!" which runs from Dec. 5 - 7 at DePaul University's Merle Reskin Theatre, 60 E. Balbo, Chicago.

Local and national politics always figure prominently in the show, with lawyers portraying the Governor, Mayor, indicted aldermen, Cook County politicians and other local figures. Ongoing federal investigations, the Presidency of Donald Trump, whistleblowers, and impeachment will be themes of the show as well.

"There was no shortage of material to draw upon for this year's show and we rewrite as news develops, so the show will be up to the minute when it comes to political breaking news," said Bar Show Producer Jeffrey Marks. "We are going to bring some hysterical performances and lyrics with a unique Chicago spin."

Now in its 96th year, the Chicago Bar Association Bar Show is the longest running original musical revue in Chicago.

Tickets are $45 for the main floor and $35 for mezzanine. Group rates are available. All performances begin at 7:30 p.m. Go to www.barshow.org for tickets or further information.

Last Year's Show "Big Little Laws" was a BIG success. Thank you to all of our performers, participants and attendees who made it possible. We hope to see you again for this year's extravaganza, "For Lying Out Loud".

Gobble up 9 Alternatives to Traditional Thanksgiving Turkey

You can find this and many more recipes at: www.allrecipes.com

While roast turkey definitely rules on Thanksgiving, there are loads of people who crave something besides the typical big bird. From pork roasts and roast duck to prime rib and stuffed squash, these hearty main dishes are a twist on traditional Thanksgiving fare.

1. SPECIAL OCCASION STUFFED CROWN ROAST PORK

This five-star rated recipe, featuring a tart cranberry stuffing, looks stunning on your holiday table. And you're not going to believe how good it tastes. DLSRZBB says, "This recipe was perfect in every way. Easy to do, tasted absolutely wonderful and was as tender and moist as you could possibly want."

2. HERB ROASTED CORNISH GAME HENS

Good things do come in small packages. These small birds are great when your flock's just a few. "What a hit," says Mario M. "Roasted my hens with sweet potatoes, carrots, garlic cloves, onions, and cherry tomatoes. Such a beautiful, rustic dish."

3. BAKED DIJON SALMON

Fancy fish, worthy of a celebration, this recipe has been made more than 2,000 times, so you know it's a winner. "VERY TASTY!" raves DebP. "A definite company meal. This is a wonderful recipe for salmon."

4. ROAST DUCK

Far richer than its poultry cousin, this bird is a big hit among lovers of dark meat. Just remember, one duck feeds 2 to 3 people, max. "This was the best roasted duck we have ever had," says GoneToTheDogs. "The rub was tasty, the duck moist, the skin golden brown."

5. TOFU TURKEY

Not really a "turkey", this faux bird flies high alongside a mess of roast veggies. "I'll be making this for Thanksgiving from now on!" says natalie. "Even meat eaters liked this one. I left the tofu in the colander overnight (at least 12 hours). Left-overs made nice sandwiches as well."

6. CHEF JOHN'S PERFECT PRIME RIB

Please pass the horseradish sauce! This big ol' hunk of beef makes for a dramatic centerpiece to this feast celebrating family and friends stuffing themselves silly. Watch this video demo below for a deep dive on making this regal roast. "Prime rib was perfect, juicy and perfectly pink," says karenkooks. "Loved it! Love the video to really get a good sense of how to apply the butter and herbs."

7. ROAST PERUVIAN TURKEY

With a bold spice rub made with cumin, smoked paprika, garlic, and oregano, this 5-star turkey brings the flavor in a big way. Reviewers urge you to be sure to make the creamy, spicy gravy that goes with it.

8. ROASTED ACORN SQUASH WITH FARRO STUFFING

Delight the vegetarians and vegans at your Thanksgiving table with this gorgeous stuffed squash main dish. Recipe creator Nicholio says, "Maitake mushrooms make the squash stuffing extra special. They're meaty, crisp, and rich, but not overpowering." If you can't find maitake mushrooms, go right ahead and use any other fresh mushroom you like.

9. MAPLE-BRINED PORK LOIN

"This recipe for maple-brined pork roast is a delicious way for you to experience just how easy a simple brine really is," says recipe creator Chef John. "I love the way the meat gets infused with that subtly-sweet maple flavor."
