ARMED FORCES DAY

Armed Forces Day honors all branches of the armed forces of the United States. It is celebrated on the third Saturday of May with military exercises on land, at sea, and in the air. Military installations are usually open to the public on Armed Forces Day.

President Harry S. Truman proclaimed Armed Forces Day, and it was first celebrated in May, 1950. It replaced three separate celebrations for the Air Force, Army, and Navy. James V. Forrestal, the first secretary of defense, helped unite the armed services under the Department of Defense after World War II ended in 1945. (Taken from World Book, 1999 Edition)

We honor all of our men and women of the military everyday of the year for their selfless patriotism and service to all of us.

They keep us safe and watch over us not only at home but in the far corners of the earth where they are assigned. We can never express deeply enough our unwavering support and pride in these exceptional people, past, present and future.

The American's Creed

I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed, a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many sovereign states; a perfect union, one and inseparable; established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes. I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it, to support its constitution, to obey its laws, to respect its flag, and to defend it against all enemies. (Authorized Version)

Happy Mother's Day

See Page 4 For Thoughts

In America, the second Sunday in May is the day we set aside to honor Mother. One of the most intricate and important duties one can accept is to steer, protect and nurture another's life.

Mothers hardly ever get the credit they deserve in their day-in-day-out dedication to the generations of young people now and forever. They, our Mothers, influence the future of the entire earth; they have for years past and will continue, far into the future.

Thank you to all of the Mothers everywhere for a life's tireless commitment, not always recognized for its true worth.

Chicago Hearing Services and the American Academy of Audiology Recommend a Hearing Check During May’s National Better Hearing Month

May is National Better Hearing Month and Chicago Hearing Services is encouraging the public to make an appointment with an audiologist if they suspect hearing loss for themselves or any of their loved ones.

According to the National Institutes of Health NIDCD, approximately 20 percent (48 million) of American adults aged 20 to 69, have some trouble with hearing and approximately 28.8 million could benefit from the use of hearing aids. Among adults aged 70 and older with hearing loss who could benefit from hearing aids, fewer than one in three (30 percent) has ever used them.

As the baby boomer population ages, more Americans are forced to face hearing health challenges. Growing numbers of younger Americans (including millennials and GenX’ers) are also reporting hearing problems. The NIH NIDCD also states that five in 10 young people listen to music or other audio too loudly and that four in 10 young people are around “dangerously loud noise during events like concerts and sports games.” Occupational noise is another factor impacting hearing in people of all ages who work outdoors, in factories, fulfillment centers, etc.

“Technology has progressed extensively and hearing aids are no longer the bulky contraptions of years past,” stated Marie Vetter, AuD, owner and audiologist of Chicago Hearing Services and member of the American Academy of Audiology. Dr. Vetter explained that hearing aid companies have stepped up to the plate to make “very cool” hearing aids for kids and young adults. “You can opt to buy hearing aids that are virtually undetectable or you can buy them in a wide range of cool colors and styles. Many work with smart phones.”

“Audiologists are the experts in hearing health,” Dr. Vetter added. “Hearing aids are not always the only or recommended solution, which is why it’s important to see an audiologist to further determine the appropriate treatment.” Sometimes the cause is temporary or a symptom of another illness or disease. An audiologist will run various tests to determine the cause and will be able to recommend treatment.

Some signs of hearing loss may include:

- Suddenly having to turn up the volume of the television, radio, or stereo and having other family members complain that the volume is too loud.
- Difficulty understanding people speaking to you and asking people to repeat themselves.
- Difficulty with phone conversations and understanding the other person.
- Sudden inability to hear the door bell, the dog barking, and other household sounds.
- People telling you that you speak too loudly.
- Ringing in the ears.

“Hearing loss is a problem with people of all ages,” said Dr. Vetter. “If you or any of your family members experience difficulty in hearing, please call our office (773) 685-9202”.

Marie Vetter-Toalson, AuD is the owner and audiologist of Chicago Hearing Services. She received her undergraduate degree from the University of North Dakota and her Doctorate of Audiology from The Ohio State University. Dr. Vetter-Toalson is involved in the American Academy of Audiology, the Illinois Academy of Audiology, and Big Shoulders Fund Chairman’s Advisory Council. Chicago Hearing Services has served northwest Chicago since 1990.

Chicago Park District's Summer 2019 Registration Opens April 23 At 9am

Chicago Park District's online registration for its popular summer day camp and park programs opens April 22 at 9 a.m. This year, the summer day camp curriculum will celebrate the Chicago Park District's 85th Anniversary and its commitment to enhance the quality of life in Chicago by becoming the leading provider of recreation and leisure opportunities for children and families of all abilities and interests. The Chicago Park District's new camp theme 'PLAY: Every Day, Every Way' will enhance the summer day camp experience by engaging campers in inclusive activities and education programs as well as weekly physical fitness routines that encourage campers to interact with one another.

Day camp will provide participants with the opportunity to participate in energetic team building and cooperative games, visual arts and writing activities, outdoor and environmental education, performing arts and imaginative play, and active games and fitness activities.

Online registration begins Monday, April 22, at 9 a.m. for parks located WEST of California Ave., and on Tuesday, April 23, at 9 a.m. for parks located EAST of California Ave.

In-person registration for summer programs will begin either Saturday, April 27 or Monday, April 29, depending upon the park.

Standard day camps, for ages 6 to 12 years old, run six weeks, from June 24-August 2, typically from 9 a.m. - 3 p.m. or 10 a.m. - 4 p.m., Monday through Friday. Play Camp offers options for children ages 3 to 5 years old, and Teen Camp for participants ages 13 to 15 year olds. Numerous specialty camps are also available, including Sports Camps. Late Summer Camps offer extended opportunities to engage in park activities from August 5 to 9 or 16; date varies by park. Early bird and extended options offer convenient hours to cover the full day (eight to ten hours, varies by park).

Gymnastics centers, one of the Park District's most popular programs, will open online registration for the summer season on Tuesday, April 23, at 12 p.m. Summer program registration for McFetridge Sports Center & Morgan Park Sports Center opens Tuesday, May 28.

Fees vary depending on location, offerings and hours. No child will be turned away for inability to pay.

Given the popularity of programs, patrons are encouraged to browse through the list of programs for 2019 and create wish lists in advance.

Financial Assistance

The Chicago Park District has limited funds available to provide financial assistance for families who wish to enroll in the 2018 summer day camp program. Financial assistance and family discounts are available. Financial assistance is only available to City of Chicago residents. Eligibility for financial assistance does not guarantee a slot for day camp and cannot be used in conjunction with any other reduced/voucher programs. Applicants that do not qualify for financial assistance may inquire about the payment plan option at their local park.

The Chicago Park District aims to provide summer camp financial assistance to thousands of children each year, requiring more than $2 million. Tax-deductible gifts of any size may be made to the Summer Day Camp Assistance Fund to help support children and families across the city through this financial assistance program.

NEW FOR 2019:

In order to facilitate patrons being able to receive the financial assistance discount (50%) at the time of summer online registration, financial assistance documentation is being accepted in-person at parks now. Once completed and approved, the related registration (ActiveNet) account will be updated to include this financial assistance pre-requisite. When registering for summer camp, an account holder with the pre-requisite will automatically be charged 50% of the camp cost.

If this step isn't completed prior to summer online registration, patrons still have the option to register for summer camp online by paying 100% at the time of registration and then presenting the documentation at the park to receive the 50% refund.

Family Discount

When patrons register for two or more programs for family members less than 18 years of age in one transaction, the order qualifies for a 10% discount on the less expensive program(s).

Discount is available for online and in-person orders, but cannot be combined with the CHA or DCFS discount programs. All family members should be entered into one account on the Chicago Park District's registration system.

Summer Food Service Program

In accordance with the Illinois State Board of Education's Summer Food Service Program and the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) federal regulations, the Chicago Park District will participate in the Summer Food Service Program in conjunction with summer day camp. Lunches and/or snacks will be provided for enrolled children at most camps.

Meals are made available to all eligible participants without regard to race color, national origin, disability, sex or age. Any person who believes that he or she has been discriminated against in any USDA-related activity should write immediately to: USDA, Director, Office of Civil Rights, Room 326-W, Whitten Building, 1400 Independence Avenue SW, Washington, DC 20250-9410 or call 202/720-5964 (voice and TTD).

Night Out in the Parks

Mayor Rahm Emanuel and Chicago Park District Superintendent and CEO Michael P. Kelly, along with local arts organizations, performers and community members, today announced the seventh summer season of Night Out in the Parks at Ellis Park. The 2019 Night Out in the Parks series will bring more than 1,200 world-class events to each of Chicago's 77 neighborhoods over the summer.

This year, more than 140 artists and neighborhood arts organizations will enliven city parks and communities through the family-friendly park event series. Nearly all Night Out in the Parks events are offered admission free.

"After seven years, Night Out in the Parks is back again to welcome Chicagoans and visitors alike to save a trip downtown and visit their local park to enjoy the world-class culture, art, and entertainment this city has to offer," said Mayor Emanuel. "Whether it's a music festival, Theater on the Lake or Movies in the Parks, there will be hundreds of free quality events and performances for families to enjoy every night and in every neighborhood throughout this summer."

Launched in 2013, Night Out in the Parks is a key component of the Chicago Cultural Plan and part of Mayor Emanuel's citywide vision for art and culture. With the continued support from the City of Chicago and our sister agencies, especially the Department of Cultural Affairs and Special Events (DCASE), Night Out in the Parks has become a signature park program.

This year, Night Out in the Parks welcomes 60 new artists and cultural organizations, including: Eighth Blackbird, a Chicago-based four-time GRAMMY award-winning new music sextet.

The Chicago Fringe Opera with a contemporary adaptation of Rossini's opera "The Barber of Seville."

Chicago Ideas, a citywide initiative to create platforms at 10 city parks for spontaneous performances, town hall meetings and more.

Neighborhood audiences will be treated to outdoor movies, concerts, performances and festivals that reflect and celebrate Chicago's rich tapestry of culture, with a particular focus on the city's theater community. These events are presented as part of the City of Chicago's Year of Creative Youth (YOCY).

Mayor Rahm Emanuel, the Department of Cultural Affairs and Special Events and the League of Chicago Theaters has named 2019 the Year of Chicago Theater, (YOCT), a citywide celebration of Chicago's vibrant theater scene. With 40 new theater partners, this year's Mayor's Night Out in the Parks series will reflect Chicago's rich and burgeoning theatrical community.

The full list of programming is on The Night Out mobile application My Chi Parks™, available to download on Apple and Android devices, makes planning exciting and affordable summer outings an ease. ## We Pay Tribute to All of Our Wonderful Mothers on their Special Day and Every Day of the Year Since 1872, the second Sunday in May is the day set aside to honor our Mothers in America. Julia Ward Howe of Boston is credited with the origination of this date.

A day for honoring Mothers, called Mothering Sunday, was observed many years prior in England and fell in mid-Lent. People in many other Nations have observed similar days through history, beginning in ancient Greece in honor of Rhea, the Mother of the Gods.

Although Mothers' Day is celebrated every year on one specific day, our Mothers should be recognized each day for the devotion and sacrifices they give to us throughout their entire lives.

We may not always agree with them, but their decisions are always made with their best intentions to do what is best for us. A Mother's love is unconditional and, in most cases, our Mother is our best friend and confidant.

Happy Mothers' Day to all of our Mothers.

— The Editor and Staff of Village Publications

HAPPY MOTHER'S DAY!

We dedicate this recipe to all our Moms. It's from QUEEN'S CUISINE, a cook book published by The Queen of Angels Parish in Chicago, and was submitted by Rose Franke.

Fill a measure full of sunshine,
Some crumbs of comfort too.
Then mix them well with loving thoughts,
And words both kind and true.

Yes, you'll have a life worth living
And a cure for every ache,
If only you and your family
Will feast on sunshine cake.

Let them quickly rise with action
To deeds of golden hue,
And you'll have a cake worth eating
When baking time is through.

This recipe is old and tried,
And never hard to make.
So use it, friends from far and near,
For sunshine takes the cake!

Come Strut For Strays

Community Animal Rescue Effort
Matching Pets With People Since 1987

A parade of animal-lovers and canine friends will be wending their way through Skokie's Northshore Sculpture Park on Saturday, May 11, 2019—all to raise funds to support Community Animal Rescue Effort, an all-volunteer, nonprofit organization that has been matching pets with people since 1987.

It will be the 24th year that two- and four-legged friends come out for C.A.R.E.'s annual Strut For Strays. Many are veterans. But each year, newcomers join in the fun—getting fresh air, a little exercise on the 2.5-mile trail and up-close-and-personal views of dogs of just about every size, shape and color.

Actor Christian Stolte, from the popular NBC drama "Chicago Fire," will once again serve as Strut's Grand Marshal. His role will be to get everyone started from our launching point, Evanston Subaru in Skokie, 3340 Oakton Street, Skokie. New this year, every registered Strutter will receive a T-shirt designed by nationally known artist Jay Ryan of The Bird Machine. (Jay, by the way, is the man behind the beautiful mural in our Adoption Center).

If you want to meet some wonderful pups, stop in at the registration/launching pad between 8:45 am and 9:30 am. After you've checked in, you can enjoy refreshments, vendors, a chance to win great prizes in our 50-50 raffle, and a photo booth manned by Mark Wilder of WilderPix Photography.

The fun continues after the Strut ends. We'll be gathering for an after-party at Village Inn Pizzeria, 8050 Lincoln Ave, Skokie, for eats, drinks and more good times (doggies, too, if you dine on the patio). Details to come.

Since the summer '18 opening of our Adoption Center at 4927 Main St., Skokie, C.A.R.E. offers a combined adoption center-and-foster based model to better serve the needs of homeless dogs and cats, as well as potential adopters and the community.

Please help us spread the word about this unique event. The more Strutters, the merrier—and the more funds we can raise for C.A.R.E. to continue to care for dogs and cats and find them forever homes. ## Norwegian Parade Sunday May 19th

The Vikings are coming! The Vikings are coming!

That was the cry of the Irish, Britons and French in the 10 century as the Normans came down from Scandinavia to settle parts of Ireland, England and France and the low countries.

This time the Vikings are coming to Park Ridge to celebrate a more peaceful event. The Norwegian Constitution of May 17, 1814.

Granted, Norway was ceded from Denmark to Sweden as a result of the end of the war of 1812 when the Napoleonic wars ended and it wasn't until 1905 that they finally got their independence.

To celebrate Syttende Mai, the Norwegian National League will once again host a parade in Park Ridge stepping off at 1pm from Talcott and Cumberland and ending up in Hodges Park in front of City Hall about 1:45 or 2pm.

Pre-parade festivities in Hodges Park begin at 12 pm and include activities for children, vendors and refreshments. Post parade festivities include speeches and entertainment, including traditional folk dances by Leikarringen Heimhug. Skjold Lodge from Palatine will assist in the festivities.

Celebration Activities include a Friday concert on May 17 in the Norwegian Lutheran Memorial Church in Logan Square, Chicago at 7:30. Minnekirken is 1 of only 2 churches in the U.S. that still has services in Norwegian.

The Constitution Day Banquet this year will follow the parade and festivities at 5pm, May 19 at the Park Ridge Country Club.

For more information contact Barbora Kronborg-Mogil at 847-823-7596 or go to <http://www.nnleague.org> or Facebook/minnekirken.

Roadside History of Illinois

This is the twenty-eighth column in a series of monthly short articles about places in Chicago, nearby suburbs and elsewhere in the state that can be visited by those who seek to learn more about local history. The articles are partial excerpts from the book, Roadside History of Illinois (Mountain Press, 2013), by Chicago author and Illinois native Stan Banash.

Forest Home Cemetery and Haymarket Martyrs' Monument

Forest Home's largest cemetery is the nondenominational Forest Home, established in 1876 on the site of an Indian burial ground. In addition to the Indian burials are the graves of several prominent Illinoisans, including Charles Chamberlin, who wrote the lyrics to the Illinois state song; evangelist Billy Sunday and his wife, Helen; anarchist activist Emma Goldman; and Chicago radio personality Paul Harvey. Adjacent German Waldheim Cemetery became part of Forest Home in 1968.

The memorial that attracts the most interest at Forest Home is the Haymarket Martyrs' Monument, designed by sculptor Albert Weinert and unveiled on June 25, 1893. Although the Haymarket Square Riot took place miles away in Chicago, Forest Home was chosen as the burial site for the Haymarket martyrs, the four labor activists who were hanged for their alleged role in the riot, and for the monument to them. The monument was designated a National Historic Landmark in 1997.

During the 1880s, Chicago was a hotbed for anarchists, and social reformers. Among other things, these organizers lobbied for better conditions for factory workers, seeking an eight-hour work day, increased workplace safety, and other improvements. After an ongoing strike at the McCormick Harvesting Machine Company factory in Chicago erupted into a violent clash between strikebreakers and demonstrators on May 3, 1886, in which two protesters were killed, one of the organizers, August Spies, called for an outdoor rally in Haymarket Square the following evening.

Of the anticipated 20,000 attendees, fewer than 3,000 actually turned out, while more than 150 armed police officers stood ready to quell any disturbance. The rally was nearly over and the crowd was already dispersing when the police advanced on the crowd. An unknown person threw an explosive device into the line of police, killing seven officers and injuring many more. In the ensuing gunfire, four protesters were killed and at least 50 were wounded. Afterward nearly all press reports sided with the police. A monument to the seven slain policemen was erected in Haymarket Square in 1889. It now stands at the Chicago Police Headquarters, 3501 S. State Street.

Although the bomb thrower was never identified, police later arrested about a dozen anarchist activists, most of whom were not even at the rally when the bomb was thrown. One man, Albert Parsons, turned himself in, in solidarity with the accused. Some of those arrested were released, but eight of them—Parsons, George Engel, Samuel Fielden, Adolph Fischer, Louis Lingg, Oscar Neebe, Michael Schwab, and August Spies—were indicted as accessories to murder. At the trial, all eight defendants were found guilty. Seven were sentenced to hang, while one, Neebe, received a 15-year prison term. Appeals were heard by the Illinois Supreme Court and later by the U.S. Supreme Court, but the verdicts were upheld in all cases.

The day before the hanging, Gov. Richard Oglesby granted clemency to Fielden and Schwab, whose sentences were commuted to life imprisonment. That night, one of the condemned prisoners, Louis Lingg, committed suicide in his cell. The next morning, November 11, 1887, Engel, Fischer, Parsons, and Spies were hanged. They were buried at German Waldheim (now Forest Home) Cemetery. Seven years after the incident, Gov. John P. Altgeld denounced the judge for conducting an unfair trial and pardoned Neebe, Fielden and Schwab.

In 1893, the Haymarket Martyrs' Monument was erected near the graves of the four executed men. It is engraved with part of the final statement of Albert Parsons, who spoke these prophetic words as the noose was placed around his neck: "The day will come when our silence will be more powerful than the voices you are throttling today."

Forest Home Cemetery is located in the suburban community of Forest Park, about 12 miles directly west of downtown Chicago.

Cook County Assessor's Office Announces New May And June Dates For Its Countywide Listening Tour

Assessor Fritz Kaegi Continues To Partner With Cook County Commissioners To Hear Taxpayer Concerns

The Cook County Assessor's Office, in partnership with members of the Cook County Board of Commissioners, announced the remaining dates for its countywide Listening Tour today.

The tour is part of the office's commitment to increase transparency. In addition to hearing directly from the Assessor about his work, attendees are able to ask questions. The tour began in April with the north triennial district due to their 2019 reassessment this year.

"The listening tours held so far have proven very positive, allowing us to share our plans to improve and reform the property tax system, while also providing an open dialogue with taxpayers to address their questions and concerns," Assessor Kaegi explained.

The Listening Tour fulfills a key part of Assessor Kaegi's 100 Day Plan. The Assessor will visit each district in the county at least once, present an update on the office's plans for increased fairness, ethics and transparency, and engage in a moderated "fireside chat" with a community leader chosen by the Commissioner of that district. Audience Q&A will follow.

Each stop on the listening tour is co-sponsored by a commissioner of the Cook County Board.

"We pledged to work directly with the Commissioners on reforms for our office and have gathered great feedback with them during our first six tours," Assessor Kaegi said. "We look forward to visiting other areas of the county and meeting with many more residents as our tour continues."

To ensure information about the Assessor's Office is as accessible as possible, language translation and sign language services will be available at select stops on the tour. ## Private Elm Tree Insurance Program

The City of Evanston is once again offering community members the opportunity to enroll in its Private Elm Tree Insurance Program, which covers the removal of elm trees on private property lost due to Dutch elm disease (DED). The deadline to enroll in the 2019 program is Friday, May 31.

Participants re-enrolling in the program may do so online; first-time participants must complete a paper application. Both the online re-enrollment form and paper application are available at cityofevanston.org/elminsurance. Application and payment must be received no later than May 31 in order for trees to qualify for insurance.

When DED infects a tree on private property, the homeowner bears the costs for removal, which can range from approximately $1,000 to $6,000. The City’s Private Elm Tree Insurance Program covers the cost of removing infected elm trees, and also provides free testing of insured elms if DED symptoms appear. The insurance is for a one-year period, June 1, 2019 through May 31, 2020, and must be renewed annually prior to the Dutch elm disease season.

For more information about the program, visit cityofevanston.org/elminsurance or call/text 847-448-4311. For convenience, residents may simply dial 3-1-1 in Evanston.

FITTING THE FLEA MARKET TREND

Part 1

Have you driven down 190 on a sunny Sunday and wondered what was happening in the Allstate Arena parking lot? Maybe you saw the sign and know it’s Wolff’s Flea Market, but why not find out for yourself? Exit Lee Street if you are driving west, or Mannheim North if you are driving east. Join the tens of thousands of Chicagoland and beyond customers who make Wolff’s Flea Market their weekly Sunday destination.

Since 1991, each Sunday from April through October, Wolff’s Flea Market pops up in the parking lot of the Allstate Arena. Owned and operated by the Wolff family, this flea market is home to 700+ small businesses, garage sales, crafters, liquidators, resellers, food vendors and more. Records, plants, dollar store items, off-brand budget products and a mixture of all can even be found at one seller booth!

Says Sharon Wolff, “It is one gigantic family-friendly outdoor shopping experience.”

But what if you have never been to a flea market? What would you find? With as many “shopper personalities” as number of people in your group, one of many categories of merchandise and hundreds of thousands of items at the market will likely appeal to everyone on some level.

The concept of an open air market has been around for centuries but Wolff’s Flea Market vendors keep up with the latest trends and hope to deliver the goods and services their customers desire.

Basically a flea market is a collection of new and used items. While classic collections, antiques, and secondhand items are historically part of flea market fare, the offerings are seemingly endless as the cycle of purchasing and selling up and down the economic chain continues to evolve. It’s the basic nature of people - get rid of what one doesn’t want and buy what one desires.

As they say, “One man’s trash is another’s treasure.”

GARDEN FOR WILDLIFE

Plant 3 Native Plants for 3 Seasons

As the ground starts to thaw for most of the country, it’s time to think about spring planting. The best way to create a wildlife-friendly garden is by planting native plants. Planting a variety of native plants in your yard will provide wildlife with food, cover and a place to raise young throughout the year. Just add a water source and practice sustainable gardening and you are ready to certify at NWF.org.

Plant different kinds of native plants so that at least one kind is blooming in each season to provide pollen and nectar to nourish pollinators. Native plants and bloom times vary by geographic region, so check out your local native nursery or native plant sales to find natives in your area.

By providing food, water, cover and places for wildlife to raise their young you are eligible to have your yard recognized as a Certified Wildlife Habitat. You’ll join over 225,000 gardeners across America who provide safe places for wildlife like birds to thrive. Creating a wildlife habitat garden not only helps wildlife, it gives you a beautiful place to experience nature every day.

Thank you for all you do for wildlife.

Sincerely,
David Mizejewski

GREEN PAPAYA SALAD

In Cambodia, this is called Bok Lahong (“pounded papaya” in Khmer); in Vietnam, Goi Du Du (pronounced “guy dodo”); and in Thailand, it is known as Som Tam. However you say it, this delicate combination of contrasting flavors is refreshing and delicious. If you use all the chilies, this dish can be spicy, so feel free to adjust to your taste.

Dressing

- 4 Thai chili peppers
- 1 clove garlic
- 1-1/2 tsp (9 g) shrimp paste
- 3 T (11 g) salted crab
- 1-1/2 T (22 ml) Thai fish sauce
- Juice from 1 lime
- 1/4 C (57 g) tamarind concentrate
- 3 T (41 g) palm sugar
- 1/3 C (78 ml) water
- 1-1/2 C (224 g) cherry tomatoes, cut in half

Salad

- 2 C (290 g) green papaya, peeled, seeded and cut into thin strips
- 1 C (165 g) very firm mango, peeled, pitted and cut into thin strips
- 1/2 C (63 g) apple, cored and cut into thin strips
- 1 C (133 g) cucumber, shredded
- 2 T (18 g) peanuts, crushed

Directions

Dressing In a mortar and pestle, crush chili peppers. Add garlic, shrimp and crab pastes, salted crab, fish sauce, lime juice and tamarind. Mix together sugar and water and add to chili mixture; blend well. Add tomatoes and lightly muddle.

Assembly Place all salad ingredients except peanuts in a bowl; add peanuts and dressing; gently toss to combine. Serve immediately or chill for up to 1 hour.

*Try a well-stocked supermarket or Asian market for the regional ingredients, or you may substitute jalapeños for Thai chili; brown sugar for palm sugar; and soy or Worcestershire sauce for the fish sauce, crab and shrimp paste.

Prep time: 18 minutes. Makes 6 servings.
